BROOKS BLASTS SALE OF U. S. AIR BASES ABROAD

Demands Right to Use of Strips.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.] sternly rebuked the Roosevelt administration today for selling Canada the American air bases there without first obtaining American rights to use of the bases after the war.

Sen. Brooks.

He demanded that the administration act at once to insure American rights to the use of the bases being built all over the world with American lend-lease funds.

The bases constructed in Canada with American funds cost $90,683,571. The war department sold them to the Canadian government at a loss of $13,872,020.

Giving Away America.

Protesting the administration's failure to arrange for American access to all bases built with American money, Brooks told the senate:

"This is another flagrant example of giving away the substance and rights of the American people while millions of American sons and daughters are fighting, suffering, and dying all over the world to defend and preserve their beloved country.

"When this war is over," Brooks said, "we will face the problems of peace as well as prosperity in the light of lessons learned in the war. Taking the city of Chicago as a hub, the shortest route to London, Paris, Berlin, Moscow, or Tokyo will be directly over Canada, where great airports have been built by the forces and finances of the United States.

No Rights Retained.

"Yet the war department has already disposed of them by sale without first having our country enter into a treaty which will establish our right to future use of these strategic bases."

Brooks told of the excellent location of the bases built in Canada, along the recognized future world routes, and went on:

"In the light of the unprecedented experience and advances made in air power during this war, it is doubtful if there is a single area or country on earth where future air rights will be as necessary and beneficial to the defense of the United States as those in Canada.

Asks Common Sense.

"We have several treaties, leases, and agreements with Canada pertaining to water, railroad, and limited air rights. Having spent more than 90 million dollars to build these strategic bases and facilities in Canada, creating the latest strategic air routes to the principal areas of the world to save humanity, it would only be common sense to demand future rights in them to protect ourselves in the future."

Brooks warned that the British are not permitting the war to interfere with their program of winning world domination of air transportation.

"After we purchased the output of Canada's factories with American money to help save her economy,"

Tell How Fly Aided Friends in Radio Field

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—Chairman James L. Fly of the federal communications commission was charged before a house investigating committee today with putting pressure on an elderly Florida radio station owner to sell his property at a bargain price to a golf and bridge playing crony of Fly.

James Fly.

With Fly hotly denying the accusation, a wealth of evidence in the form of hotel records, telephone slips, affidavits, and testimony was put into the record to support the assertion of Committee Counsel John J. Sirica that:

"The evidence will develop, beyond the shadow of a doubt, the existence of a civil conspiracy to which Fly was a party."

Charge Political Favors.

The committee, headed by Rep. Lea [D., Cal.], is inquiring into reports, long current in the radio industry, that the FCC has been transformed under the New Deal into a dispenser of political and personal favors in the radio license field.

The radio station involved in today's testimony is WFTL of Miami, Fla., which was owned by Ralph A. Horton, 66 years old. Horton entered into a contract in 1942 whereby he was to share ownership with Carl T. Hoffman, a prominent Miami attorney, with the management in the hands of Stephen A. Vetter, a Miami broadcaster.

Fort Industry, headed by George B. Storer, close friend of Fly's and now a lieutenant commander in the navy, became interested in the station, according to the evidence, but the contract with Hoffman stood in the way. Fly admitted Storer was his frequent companion on the golf links and at the bridge table.

Attorney on Both Sides.

Andrew A. Bennett, general counsel for Fort Industry, which owns and operates seven radio stations in Florida, Ohio, West Virginia, and Georgia, entered the deal as Horton's attorney, thus representing both sides in the transaction and standing to collect a total of $15,000 in fees. Committee members said this action was a matter for the Miami Bar association.

Bennett is also a friend of Fly and he arranged with Horton to meet Fly in Storer's room at the Atlanta-Biltmore hotel, the evidence disclosed. Vetter testified that Horton told him that the FCC chairman there termed the contract with Hoffman illegal because it attempted to eliminate FCC approval of a license transfer.

"If this contract were presented to the commission there would be only one thing to do—delete the station from the air," Fly was quoted as telling Horton.

In apparent fright Horton then sold the station to Storer, Fly's friend, for $275,000. Vetter said the station could have been sold for $350,000 at that time; was now worth more than $500,000, with an annual gross revenue in excess of $250,000.

A $17.30 hotel bill was unearthed during the hearing on the Miami station to haunt the red faced FCC chairman. It was run up at the Atlanta-Biltmore, Atlanta, Ga., in April, 1942, by Fly and paid for by his friend, Storer.

THE MAD RACE TO THE BRIDGE

Civilian Goods Output to Soar at Nazi Defeat

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5 (AP).—A program for virtually unlimited civilian production after Germany's defeat was announced tonight by the war production board.

J. A. Krug, acting chairman of the WPB, said the army, navy, and major war agencies had unanimously agreed on the program, designed to provide the utmost stimulus to reconversion after Germany's defeat, but at the same time protecting production necessary for the Japanese war.

The board estimated there would be a reduction of about 40 per cent in war production within three months after the defeat of Germany and that this will free more than 4,000,000 workers.

Program Outlined.

It decided on the following program:

1. Removal of almost all controls over materials immediately on Germany's defeat except those absolutely necessary to assure the necessary war production to defeat Japan. This means that any manufacturer can use any plants and any materials that are not needed for military production.

2. The war production board and other government agencies will use their full powers to assist and encourage industry in resuming civilian production and maintaining employment thru the "know how" of its industry divisions and industry-labor advisory committees.

3. The board will maintain its organization and powers so as not to relinquish authority until it is certain that the war production program is adequate for victory over Japan.

Full Board Meets.

Krug outlined the program after a meeting of the full board. He said the decision was made after a resurvey of the military and production situation.

In brief, he said the purpose is twofold:

First to assure full military production until Japan is defeated and second, to free civilian enterprise to the utmost.

Industry will be allowed, according to the availability of markets, men, materials and plants "to do the swiftest and most effective job possible of restoring production, making whatever people want and affording maximum employment, just as quickly as possible," Krug said.

Under the plan, there will be only one preference rating, in addition to the present emergency triple-A rating, and this will be reserved exclusively for military programs during the war against Japan.

All other production will be unrated. Manufacturers, however, will be required to fill rated military orders ahead of other business. There will be no "programming" of civilian production.

Krug said maximum civilian output could be achieved without detailed priorities regulation from Washington.

The WPB, however, will retain its industry divisions and its industry division requirements committees whose job will be "to make certain that no one is permitted to procure an unreasonable amount of any material or product," and to "see that needed materials are made available to such essential civilian activities as transportation, utilities, and fuel, and that small business is given an opportunity to obtain materials and supplies," Krug said.

A few allocation orders will be continued for "tight" materials such as lumber, textiles, and certain chemicals.

The controled materials plan for allocating steel and copper will be continued only for the quarter in which hostilities in Europe cease.

SUCCESS OUT OF NAZIS' REACH, BROADCASTER GEN. DITTMAR ADMITS

LONDON, Sept. 5 (AP).—Lt. Gen. Kurt Dittmar, propaganda spokesman for the German high command, told Germany tonight that a "deficiency of means has placed success out of our reach" at present, but that a new total mobilization soon would stabilize the western front.

Dittmar compared the allies' breakthru with the Germans' own smash thru the Maginot line in 1940 and said the "basic reason underlying all our difficulties is known—the insufficient number of the forces employed." But, he added, this will be different from now on.

"Now we are fighting on considerably reduced fronts," he asserted. "When our national strength, whose total mobilization has been the aim of all our efforts in the last few weeks, is concentrated on the shortened prepared lines then it will be possible for us to restore the strategic balance which we have now lost in the west."

Dittmar conceded the job of stopping the allies would not be easy. "We shall have to make tremendous efforts and prove exceptional steadfastness until the front in the west will again be stabilized," he said. Making use of an ancient Roman term, meaning soldiers of the third line, the last reserve, Dittmar said Germany's fate "is indeed in the hands of the Triarii."

Charges OPA Shut Market to 'Get Even'

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5 [Special].—Members of a ration board were accused before a house committee today of having used the power of the office of price administration to pay off a personal grudge against a meat market owner by driving him out of business. A matter of only 87 cents was involved.

The charge was made by the business man, Benjamin Getzoff, former owner of a hotel and meat market at Bernardsville, N. J., in testimony before a subcommittee of the house committee to investigate executive agencies.

Getzoff declared that even when he sold his business, after it had been paralyzed by a three months OPA suspension order, the agency declared the suspension may stand against the new owners.

Disagreed with Rotary Club.

His trouble with his local OPA board, Getzoff said, stemmed from the fact that three of its members were also members of his home town Rotary club, with which he had a disagreement. The head of the Rotary club, Thomas Eccles, is also chairman of the Bernardsville ration board.

His difficulty with the club arose in July, 1943, Getzoff related, when a member of the club, which used his hotel adjoining his meat market as a meeting place, spoke harshly to a waitress and the innkeeper remonstrated with him.

"The member became angry and said the Rotary club would not use my place for future meetings," Getzoff testified. "This eventually proved to be the case. Later, the club wished to resume their luncheons and I refused. One of the members then threatened to 'get me.'"

Visited by OPA Sleuths.

Shortly thereafter, Getzoff said, his meat market was visited by OPA investigators. He was accused of overcharging 87 cents on three meat sales and, following a hearing before an OPA commissioner, he was notified on Sept. 16, 1943 that his right to handle rationed meats was to be suspended for three months.

While awaiting the results of an appeal, he decided to sell his business to a group of his employes for $25,000. But the OPA declared the new owners may inherit the suspension. They are now operating the shop pending an investigation.

Another witness, Thomas L. Darby, Flemington, N. J., told the committee that he went to Ralph Hackett, Trenton district OPA director, in an effort to find "some way" for Getzoff to settle his difference with the agency, and that Hackett asserted:

"OPA's going to get this bird if it's the last thing we do."

RUSSIA AT WAR WITH BULGARIA; ORDERS ATTACK

Sofia Asserts State Asks Armistice.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Sept. 6 (Wednesday) (AP).—The Sofia, Bulgaria, radio said today that the Bulgarian government had asked Moscow for an armistice. The broadcast, recorded by Reuter, said the request was made thru the soviet legation in Sofia only a few hours after Russia had declared war on Bulgaria.

MOSCOW, Sept. 5 (AP).—Soviet Russia declared war on Bulgaria tonight in the climax to a campaign to drive the Germans from southeastern Europe.

Red army divisions concentrated at the frontier gateways from the Black sea to the Danubian oil port of Giurgiu received an order to march into the Balkan kingdom whose statesmen have ignored Moscow's demand for a common war against Germany.

United States Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and British Ambassador John Clark Kerr were notified of the soviet declaration by Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov just before it was read to Bulgarian Minister Stamenov.

Reds 115 Miles from Sofia.

The Red army's entrance into Bulgaria promised to be as decisive in its effect on the war in the east as was Romania's sudden reversal. It was believed soviet troops would encounter little if any opposition from the Bulgarian forces.

Some Red units were last reported within 115 miles of Sofia, the Bulgarian capital. If the advance goes according to plan, the Red army and Marshal Tito's Yugoslavs will link up within 72 hours for a concerted offensive across the Hungarian plain toward Austria.

Molotov read his statement to the Bulgarian envoy at 7 p. m., saying that after Bulgaria's refusal to break with Germany and her persistance in providing refuge and bases for German armed forces, the soviet union was in a state of war with his country from that hour onward. Molotov described Stamenov's reaction to the declaration as "sorrowful."

Charges Bulgars Aided Nazis.

Molotov's statement said that "for more than three years Bulgaria has been helping Germany in her war against the soviet union. The soviet government took into account the fact that Bulgaria, being a small country, was not in position to resist the powerful German armed forces.

"The soviet government tolerated this and also the Bulgarian ruling circle's helping Germans evacuate the Crimea and save the remnants of their forces in southern Russia."

Molotov recited the deterioration of Germany's military machine un-

Assert Nazis Seeking Haven Will Be Ousted

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Sept. 5 (AP).—Sweden will refuse asylum to war criminals and return to their own countries for justice any who "slip thru" the Swedish frontiers, Minister of Social Affairs Gustav Moeller declared in a speech tonight.

Noting that Sweden's frontiers have been open to all refugees, Moeller said "during this year, however, there have been committed terrible deeds of such a nature that hardly anybody previously would have thought them possible in a world calling itself civilized. Such deeds have been committed above all in the occupied countries."

No Asylum for Criminals.

Moeller continued:

"It is probable that many people, knowing they are responsible for actions which have shocked the minds and sense of justice of ordinary people, and which cannot be justified by the requirements of war, will try to escape to neutral countries, including Sweden, in order to elude punishment.

"Our policy so far has been to keep our frontiers open for refugees, but it should not be concluded that Sweden will be open, or is prepared to grant asylum, to those who by their actions have defied the conscience of the civilized world or betrayed their own country.

Harbors 61,000 Refugees.

"It can be taken for granted Sweden will close its frontiers in the face of a large or a small invasion of such 'political' refugees and should any one slip thru he will be returned to his own country."

This was Sweden's first public pronouncement regarding her attitude toward war criminals since the allied nations appealed in 1943 to neutrals to close their borders to them. Turkey was the only country which responded then.

Moeller disclosed that Sweden is at present harboring 61,000 refugees of whom 5,000 are from Germany, Austria, and Czechoslovakia.

No Haven in Argentina.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5 (AP).—Rodolfo Garcia Arais, charge d'affaires of the Argentine embassy, today said that "versions or suppositions" that Argentina might become a refuge for Nazi leaders after the war "are totally unfounded."

Chicago Chaplain Digs Up $400 for Marianas Mission

TINIAN, Marianas Islands, [Delayed].—Thousands of marines, who fought to wrest Saipan and Tinian from the hands of the Japanese have contributed more than $2,500 for rehabilitation of the islands' only church, the tiny Catholic mission at Garapan. The deya before he was wounded in action, Navy Lt. Thomas V. Brody, a navy chaplain, of 1650 W. 62d st., Chicago, brought in more than $400 contributed by the marines in his regiment.

Tell Plan to Release Troops

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5 [Special].—Announcement of a plan for precedence in army discharges will be made by the war department tomorrow, Rep. May [D., Ky.], chairman of the house military affairs committee, said today after a closed session of the committee with army representatives.

Sen. Thomas [D., Utah], acting chairman of the senate military affairs committee, later confirmed previous reports that the men who have dependents and those who have served overseas will be the first released once the army begins to cut down its size.

For the last two weeks reports have circulated that the joint chiefs of staff have evolved a "point system" to govern priority in service discharges.

Number of Campaigns.

Under the reported proposal, it was said, a certain number of points would be given for service abroad, additional points for length of service and number of campaigns, and others for marital status and number of dependents.

Thomas did not make clear whether this reported "point system" is embraced in the official army plan. He said the army program is in line with the wishes of the soldiers themselves, determined in polls of enlisted men. May issued a statement that the committee believes the army plans "have been made solely and only with a view to fair treatment to all men of the armed forces."

Reduction in Size.

Some reduction in the size of the army, now over 7,700,000, is anticipated once Germany is out of the war. Altho a navy representative attended the meeting of army men with the house committee, it was indicated little if any cut in the over-all size of the navy is expected until the defeat of Japan.

Increasing indications that Germany's defeat may not be far off brought talk at the capitol that congress may have to give up informal plans to adjourn in a week or 10 days until after the election.

ALLIED TROOPS' ENTRY HAILED BY LUXEMBURG

Maintain Black-Out on Yank Advances.

LONDON, Sept. 6 [Wednesday]—(AP).—While supreme headquarters today continued its black-out of news from the advanced allied fronts, American armored spearheads were reported probing into two and perhaps three keystones of Germany's Westwall [Siegfried line]. The governments of Holland and Luxemburg proclaimed the entry of allied armies of liberation into their countries.

Unconfirmed dispatches from the French-Swiss frontier said the Berlin pointed Yanks had captured Aachen and Saarbrucken inside the German borders, but field reports from correspondents with United States troops told of stiffening German resistance along the Moselle river, well back of the French side of the border.

Welcome to Luxembourg.

The British in the north swept unchecked thru Belgium and into Holland, and from London, Luxemburg's Prime Minister Pierre Dupong broadcast a welcome to allied troops and said the Germans were fleeing across the little duchy toward Germany.

Allied troops apparently have crossed the frontier into Luxemburg, because Dupong said, "You have arrived at last."

The frontier dispatches said the Americans had stormed into German soil from Belgium to Aachen, 70 miles east of Brussels, and into Saarbrucken, five miles across the German frontier and about 30 miles from Metz.

These dispatches said American armor was battling in the outskirts of Strasbourg, French border city on the Rhine, 70 miles east of Nancy.

Advance East of Verdun.

The supreme command announced only that there had been a general eastward advance from the Verdun region. Carried far enough along the main highways in that sector, such an advance by Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's 3d army inevitably would lead to Saarbrucken and into Germany.

The American broadcasting station in Europe said in a French language broadcast that Patton's forces "have entered Nancy."

A front dispatch from an Associated Press correspondent, dated from Pont-a-Mousson, which is midway between Metz and Nancy on the Moselle river, showed that in that sector at least the Germans still were resisting. The dispatch told of a heavy artillery and machine gune duel between the Americans on the west bank and the Germans on the east. Enemy batteries were positioned atop a height dominated by a statue of Joan of Arc. A merican artillery was trying to spare the statue.

Broadcasts from Liege.

Partially lifting the news blackout hiding allied advances thru the Lowlands toward Germany, supreme headquarters announced that the American 1st army had reached Namur, 40 miles from the point where it penetrated Belgium.

Free Belgium broadcasts already have been recorded from Namur and also from the fortress city of Liege, 32 miles farther into Belgium and only 25 miles from Aachen, suggesting the Germans either had been driven out or had fled.

South of Namur, elements of Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' 1st army also took Dinant and Givet on the Meuse river, and 15 miles to the west of Namur they were in the outskirts of Charleroi. South of Charleroi retreating Germans were being mopped up.

In the case of Hodges' 1st army troops, the blackout was lifted to permit a report that in one pocket around Mons in Belgium they had taken 9,000 prisoners and destroyed or captured 1,500 vehicles and 40 tanks.

To the north, British and Canadians progressed steadily, whittling the last Nazi holds on the French and Belgian coasts extending from Boulogne. In this long, narrow pocket elements of three Nazi di-

...ns have been identified. Other elements may be trapped.

The British took Antwerp virtually intact, an indication of the haste of the Nazi retreat, and the important port now is being cleared. It cannot be used until the Germans are driven from other fortress points commanding the Scheldt river estuary.

The British, who swept across Belgium in 48 hours, took Leuven [Louvain], 18 miles northeast of liberated Brussels, before the Germans had time to dynamite its bridges.

Within Three Miles of Boulogne.

Canadian troops smashed to within three miles of Boulogne, while the British closed on Calais and Dunkerque in a drive to wipe out the final Nazi holds on channel ports.

British Tommies who were reported to have taken Breda [population 50,792], in the Netherlands, had met virtually no opposition when they took Leuven [population 37,000], strong point in the old Belgian defense triangle of Liege-Leuven-Namur, which was burned by the Germans in 1914 and which was the easternmost point of the British defense line in 1940.

Polish forces operating under the Canadian command moved up to St. Omer, 20 miles southeast of Calais and 23 miles south of Dunkerque.

Germans trapped along the channel coast in a reversal of Dunkerque were estimated at anywhere from 50,000 to 100,000 men. A thin arc of resistance remained around the final Nazi held ports.

Le Havre Still Holds Out.

A Canadian ultimatum to the German garrison trapped in the great port of Le Havre was rejected, and another last ditch stand was expected there. The Nazis undoubtedly here will undergo the bombardment visited upon the holdout garrison of Brest on the tip of Brittany in the west—where the Americans still were meeting desperate resistance.

The British after their smash thru Belgium were reported to have been more than five miles inside Holland and pushing down the final 25 miles toward Rotterdam.

A spokesman for the allied supreme command broadcast instructions to foreign workers inside Germany to desert their factories at the first opportunity in concert with the allied attack on German soil.

Gen. Eisenhower also issued instructions to the Dutch, French, and Flemish people, stating, "the allies are moving swiftly forward on their mission of liberation." He said "the armies of Germany are being destroyed on every front," that remnants were fleeing to the frontiers of the reich, and that "much of Belgium already has been freed and now Holland stands on the threshold of liberty."

Driving for Belfort Gap.

A press dispatch from the 3d army said only 90 miles now separates them from forward elements of the 7th army in the southern France invasion, and other reports from the south said the 7th army had occupied Pontarlier and was driving hard for the Belfort gap and the German border.

Some idea of the force of the 3d army drive was given in a front report which said thus far Gen. Patton's men had inflicted 160,000 casualties on the enemy in the race from Brittany to the German frontier—76,000 prisoners, 19,500 dead, and 64,500 wounded.

Heavy allied bombers plastered the Karlsruhe railyards thru which the Germans must funnel reenforcements to Strasbourg and the Saarbrucken area.

Keep Up Aerial Pounding.

Huge armadas of American heavy bombers loosed thousands of tons of bombs on strategic railyards and German defense points just behind the Siegfried line, further strangling the already critical Nazi transport problem.

Lancasters of the R. A. F. bomber command continued the attacks on enemy troop concentrations, dropping more than 1,000 tons of bombs on German positions at Le Havre.

Fighters and fighter-bombers swept over the Mons, Antwerp, and Cologne area, harrying all German transport scurrying from the west to the east thru Belgium.

ALLIES LIBERATE FLORENCE, BUT HEAR GRUMBLING

Some Annoyed, AMG Officer Says.

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH ALLIED FORCES IN FLORENCE, Italy, Sept. 5.—More than 1,000 British and American citizens, most of them women who had lived in Italy for years, have been freed from German and Fascist Italian domination by the allied advance into Florence, it was disclosed today.

Officials of the allied military government [AMG] said they had found most of the liberated nationals grateful but that a small minority had caused needless trouble.

Capt. Bertram Goldsmith of the United States army, a former Wall street broker now administrative officer for AMG in Florence, explained:

"It was the first time I'd run into such a feeling among citizens of our own allied nations. They almost seemed resentful that we had directed our drive toward Florence and thus brought the war down upon them, despite the fact that the drive resulted in their freedom. Their attitude was one of annoyance that the war had touched them.

"Never Seemed Satisfied."

"We tried to do everything for all such nationals, giving them food rations far in excess of those alloted to Italian civilians and showing them every courtesy. Most of them were very grateful and glad we'd arrived. But this small group never seemed satisfied."

Goldsmith said some of the women among the allied nations obviously were members of the old title-hunting smart set which found Italy with its countless noblemen a happy hunting ground before the war. Many are still married to Italians, he said.

Miss Margaret Pinter, a liberated national now employed by the AMG, said "German occupation forces in Florence treated allied nationals fairly well; it was the Italian Fascists we were afraid of."

"No Real Cruelty."

"Allied nationals fortunate enough to have a friend in some Italian government office were allowed to remain in their homes," Miss Pinter said, "but others were bustled off to filthy interment camps. There was no real cruelty as far as I know, just a slipshod way of doing things which added further to the already plentiful troubles of allied nationals."

Despite the ordeal of spending weeks in Florence when it was a target for both German and allied artillery, Miss Pinter said she has no intention of returning home.

TWO CHICAGOANS GET COUNTRY PHYSICIAN PRACTICE IN FRANCE

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH U. S. 7TH ARMY IN SOUTHERN FRANCE, Sept. 5.—Two Chicago physicians with the American forces find themselves frequently in the roles of country doctors these days when French farmers appear at their medical tent for treatment and insist on paying with tomatoes, eggs, and other produce.

Capt. A. E. Ablaza's home is at 9054 Jeffery av. He and Capt. Samuel Levine, 915 Wilson av., had practiced 16 years each in Chicago, but hadn't met until January, 1943, when they attended the field medical service school in Carlisle, Pa.

"When we have a lull in treating American wounded," Levine said, "the French line up and beg us to attend their ills. We take care of as many as we can."

"We don't want anything from them," Ablaza added, "but they force a barter payment on us. I have enough eggs and tomatoes to go into business, but I'm sure the American Medical association wouldn't approve of such a sideline."

OFFICIALS DENY RADIO REPORT OF NAZIS' FALL

LONDON, Sept. 5 (AP).—A rumor that Germany had capitulated—carried by the Brussels radio in the form of a denial—caused a flurry in Britain today and provoked an official denial from supreme invasion headquarters that the reich had capitulated. The Brussels station said the original report was broadcast by a "foreign station," otherwise unidentified.

The rumor, quickly denied by the British Press association, set telephones and pub cash registers ringing in this victory-eager capital. Supreme headquarters had no comment except to deny the rumor.

The Brussels report spawned a great crop of similar phonies in London, none true.

PARIS, Sept. 5.—Some 300 stranded Americans, mostly women, children, and old people, were saved from starvation during the last two years of German occupation of Paris by monthly loans from the French Red Cross, THE TRIBUNE learned today.

Taking the initiative in giving relief to Americans, who were at liberty but had exhausted their available funds, were Mmes. Edmond Gillet and Elene de Wendel. The plan was put into execution by Mme. Brun, granddaughter of the Marquis d'Haussonville, president of the French Red Cross from 1914-'18; the Comtesse Thomas d'Oilliamson, and Mlle. Violette Gallay.

Loans Without Interest.

Working under the auspices of the Red Cross, these women, all from old French families, distributed several million francs among the needy Americans between September, 1942, and the recent liberation of Paris. Ample funds were given in each case to permit the beneficiaries to maintain their accustomed living standard. Minimum guarantees were demanded, but no interest was asked.

In all, 80 families, including a few English, were enabled to live in relative comfort thruout the occupation by the generosity of those who advanced funds and the trio of society women who distributed them.

The French Red Cross was subjected to constant suspicion of the Germans, who several times searched the Paris headquarters and checked its books. Several Red Cross workers were arrested, including 10 women ambulance drivers.

Women Defy Dangers.

Despite the risks involved, the three women bicycled monthly to the homes of the waiting Americans with little rolls of 1,000 franc notes [$20] that made it possible for them to pay the rent and grocery bills.

Recipients of Red Cross aid were Americans who, for one reason or another, were unable to benefit from advances of $80 a month made by the United States government to its citizens thru the Swiss consulate. Several hundred other American citizens in France weathered the occupation by means of this government aid.

18 MILES GAINED BY ALLIED DRIVE IN SOUTH FRANCE

ROME, Sept. 5 (AP).—American and French troops pursuing the German 19th army out of southern France advanced as much as 18 miles today, sweeping past Macon, a wine center 68 miles north of captured Lyon, and approaching Tournus, 20 miles beyond Macon, allied headquarters announced.

Speedily the Nazi survivors of the debacle along the Riviera and in the Rhone valley were being driven northeastward toward the German border—possibly into an allied trap somewhere in the vicinity of Belfort near the northern Swiss frontier.

An allied spokesman said the main body of retreating Germans was approaching Chalon, with 140 road miles still separating the battered enemy column from the German border.

65,000 Prisoners Taken.

With the campaign in southern France virtually ended after three weeks of unbroken allied triumphs, it was announced that the total of Nazi prisoners had passed 65,000.

Resistance by enemy rear guards appeared to be diminishing north of Lyon. French troops, moving up the west bank of the Saone, took 2,400 prisoners in occupying one town, Villefranche.

In today's swift advances the French reached the vicinity of the village of Le Villars, on the Saone's west bank near Tournus, about midway between Macon and Chalon. Yank troops maintained an equal pace east of the river after passing thru Montrevel.

It was disclosed that the veteran American 7th infantry regiment, which was organized in 1798 and saw its first action against the British at Villiere's plantation in Louisiana in 1814, was participating in the pursuit of the Germans.

Reports Besancon Taken.

New York, Sept. 5.—NBC Correspondent Paul Archinard said in a broadcast from Switzerland tonight that the United States 7th army captured Besancon in eastern France today and pushed on within 30 miles of Belfort, gateway to southern Germany. Besancon is an important highway junction 48 miles southwest of Belfort.

NAZIS REPORTED IN LISBON FOR PEACE MOVES

MADRID, Spain, Sept. 5 (AP).—Unconfirmed reports tonight said Franz von Papen, recalled German ambassador to Turkey; Dr. Walther Funk, reichsbank president, and another German identified as "Dr. Curtius" had arrived in Lisbon by plane.

The reports said that, altho their ostensible motive was improvement of German-Portuguese relations, actually the three were seeking temporary asylum pending efforts to sound out the allies on peace terms.

Elect My Man to Show Our Unity, Says Churchill

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Prime Minister Churchill today warned voters in the Bilston, Staffordshire, parliamentary by-election that they are responsible for indicating to the world that Britain is united in a determination "to organize our total resources for victory." He urged the election of Lt. Col. William Gibbons, a Conservative candidate of the coalition government.

SEN. M'CARRAN LEADS NEVADA PRIMARY RACE

Carson City, Nev., Sept. 5 (AP).—Sen. Pat McCarran took the lead in United States senate renomination over his opponent, Lt. Gov. Vail Pittman, with incomplete returns from 82 out of 283 precincts giving him 3,259 votes and Pittman 3,114.

The race between McCarran and his opponent, the brother of the late Sen. Key Pittman, brought charges by Pittman's supporters of "isolationism" on the part of the veteran senator. McCarran supporters said Pittman received CIO political action committee support.

In the Democratic primary race for congress in 82 precincts, incomplete, Berkeley L. Bunker, Las Vegas, held a lead over incumbent, Maurice J. Sullivan, 3,052 to 2,801.

In the Republican senatorial contest George Malone compiled 1,786 votes to 997 for Kenneth F. Johnson and 343 for Kendrick A. Johnson.

Censorship on Britain's Weather to Be Relaxed

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Weather censorship, which had become farcical, soon will be relaxed now that the Nazi air force is virtually "nonexistent" as far as Britain is concerned, it was reported today.

OWN WORDS PUT GUAM DEFENSE BLAME ON F. D. R.

Merely Favored Dredging Harbor, Record Shows.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—Blame for America's failure to fortify the island of Guam, strategic Pacific base, today was placed squarely upon the shoulders of President Roosevelt thru an examination of transcripts of two White House press conferences in January, 1939.

Rep. Springer.

The two unofficial, but thoroly reliable press conference transcripts, were disclosed as congress continued to seethe over the chief executive's inference in his speech at Bremerton, Wash., that congress was to blame for the lack of defenses which enabled the Japs to capture the island.

At the conferences Mr. Roosevelt said he had no intention of fortifying Guam, that he merely favored dredging the island's harbor. He also said he was not bothering his head a bit about navy suggestions for a long range 400 or 500 million dollar program for development of a chain of island bases, because the international situation might so change as to make them unnecessary.

Distortion of Facts.

Mr. Roosevelt said in his address after the recapture of the island, "We were not permitted to fortify Guam." This statement brought charges of distortion of the facts in the case from several members of congress.

Today Rep. Springer [R., Ind.], on the floor of the house, accused the President of using "cunning phrases" and "disgusting" subterfuge in an effort to blame congress for his own failure to fortify the island. Springer emphasized that congress never was called upon to consider legislation to fortify Guam, but was only asked to appropriate 5 million dollars for "cleaning out and dredging" the island's harbor.

Springer's analysis of the situation was supported by the press conference transcripts, which are not included among those in the President's published papers, and by an official senate document on the navy, published last June.

The document, "The Decline and Rehabilitation of the Navy," said Mr. Roosevelt, in a conference with the senate naval affairs committee in 1939, suggested the dredging appropriation be dropped after it was killed in the house.

Warning by Jap Editor.

The question of fortification of Guam was put to President Roosevelt at a press conference Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 17, 1939. He denied this country had plans to fortify the island when asked to comment on a report from Tokyo that a Japanese editor had warned the Japs would smash the American fleet if the United States attempted to fortify Guam.

Mr. Roosevelt then said he thought newspapers, both Japanese and American, should find out before rushing into print whether the administration would ask congress for an appropriation to fortify Guam.

On Jan. 19, 1939, a navy bill was submitted in congress by Chairman Vinson [D., Ga.] of the house naval affairs committee, calling for 65 million dollars for the beginning of work on 12 bases. The bill included 5 million dollars for dredging Guam's harbor.

The next day Mr. Roosevelt was asked at his Friday afternoon press conference whether he favored the appropriation to fortify the island. He turned back the question to inquire whether it had been proposed to "fortify" the island, explaining the money would largely go for dredging the harbor.

The President then said reporters might do a service to their readers by explaining the difference between an authorization and an acutal appropriation. Mr. Roosevelt said that an authorization of funds did not actually commit congress to carry out a project, altho he said the average layman assumes the project is going to be started.

Favors Deepening of Harbor.

Asked whether there need be any confusion as to where he stood on the fortification of Guam, Mr. Roosevelt said:

I don't think there is any confusion. I am in favor of deepening the harbor at Guam. The special board of the navy had a beautiful idea at a total cost of 500 or 600 million dollars—that is what they thought should be done over the course of the years.

Actually we want 40 or 50 millions to be spent this year toward the program. Now, I am not taking sides or bothering my head one bit about the long range problem. I am considering the appropriations for this year.

Now, that is all I am doing myself. I am not making up my mind about that program because the international situation may change so that it will not be necessary to go thru with the program at all. I am in accord with the proposal to start dredging the harbor at Guam.

White House press conference rules forbid use of quotation marks around replies to press conference questions unless specifically authorized by the chief executive.

Told Not to Press Matter.

The proposal to dredge the harbor of Guam was defeated in the house. It was taken up in the senate naval affairs committee. It was not brought to the floor of the senate after members of the committee called on the President at the White House and were told not to press the matter.

This was reported in the senate document on the navy as follows: "In view of the fact that the item of five million dollars for Guam had been defeated by such a decisive vote in the house of representatives; after conference with the President on this item, the house action was not changed by the senate."

Early in 1941 the project was revived and passed by the house and senate. Work on the harbor dredging was under way when the Japs struck and captured the island.

13 JAP TROOP CRAFT, 24 OTHER SHIPS HIT BY M'ARTHUR RAIDERS

GENERAL HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sept. 6 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Allied air patrol sank or damaged 13 troop filled small craft at Celebes on Sunday night and Monday morning, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

Catalina flying boats also sank or damaged eight freighters and 13 barges at Halmahera Island, 200 miles east of Celebes, during the same period.

Other Catalinas sank a freighter in Davao gulf off the southern Philippines and drove another ashore at Amboina, south of Halmahera. Here a coastal vessel also was sunk.

This total of 37 ships attacked followed a series of aerial attacks reported yesterday in which 17 ships were sunk or damaged at the same targets.

Heavy units bombed Kendari, Celebes, headquarters said today, but there was no Jap interception. In a 140 ton raid Sunday the enemy sent up 20 interceptors, of which three were shot down, with four probables.

Today's war bulletin reported that since Aug. 30 an additional 722 Japanese have been killed in the New Guinea area. Two hundred forty-two more Japs were captured and 25 former prisoners of the Japs were liberated.

JAPS PERIL VITAL AIR BASE IN NEW HUNAN ADVANCE

CHUNGKING, China, Sept. 5 (AP).—The revitalized Japanese drive in Hunan province, generally believed aimed at splitting China in half in preparation for the expected eventual American landings in eastern China, gained today as Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek called on the Chinese for national unity to win the war.

The Chinese high command indicated that Kiyang, strategic town 50 miles southwest of Hengyang and less than 30 from the air base at Lingling, was gravely endangered by the Jap drive.

Jap columns there were reported engaged 18 miles from Kiyang, while another force struck within 12 miles south of the town.

The Japs also progressed in coastal Chekiang province, where a Chinese army spokesman said 10,000 of the enemy were engaged, with another 20,000 held in reserve.

The Japs were moving southeast along the Wu river toward the seaport of Wenchow from recently captured Lishui, having covered 25 of the 53 mile distance.

BRITISH RETAKE BASE OF JAPAN'S DRIVE INTO INDIA

SOUTHEAST ASIA HDQ., KANDY, Ceylon, Sept. 5 (AP).—The Japanese Chindwin base of Sittaung, from which the ill-starred invasion of India was launched, has fallen without a fight to advancing British troops after becoming a graveyard for Jap men and equipment, headquarters announced tonight.

Pushing on, allied patrols reached Thaungdut, 30 miles north on the Chindwin river, and found it deserted. To the southwest, troops of the 5th Indian division gained 10 miles in the drive against Tiddim.

Fourteenth army troops pushing into Chindwin thru the northern Kabaw valley found more than 1,000 Jap dead, mostly starvation victims. Many were in motor vehicles bogged down in the frantic retreat. Other Japs died when they wandered, lost, thru trackless jungles.

In north Burma allied patrols pushed down the Mandalay-Myitkyina railway against Hopin, 40 miles southwest of Mogaung.

4 CHICAGOANS OF 20TH CORPS AWARDED STARS

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH U. S. 3D ARMY IN FRANCE, Sept. 4 [Delayed].—Four Chicagoans were among a number of soldiers attached to the 20th corps who today were awarded medals by their commanding general.

They are Master Sgt. Eugene L. Seitz, 3646 N. Kedvale av.; Hans Hermansen, 2648 N. McVicker av.; Master Sgt. Walter E. Flanigan, 2344 N. Cicero av., and Sgt. Albert K. Pounian, 1046 Sheridan rd.

Seitz, who was employed by the Association of American Railroads, was given a silver star for recent action in which he aided in leading troops and tanks into position and directing their fire despite heavy enemy opposition. Flanigan, a De Paul university student and formerly employed by the Lake Shore Athletic club, Pounian, a former University of Chicago and Art institute student, and Hermansen, formerly employed by the White Cap company, all were given bronze stars.

Meets Other Chicagoans.

They were among midwesterners this correspondent met during a visit to the 20th corps. Others included Lt. Col. H. Fairchild Doty, Highland Park, Ill., formerly employed in THE TRIBUNE advertising department and later affiliated with a newspaper representative corporation. He is now executive officer of an anti-aircraft unit where I also met Pvt. Patrick O'Brien, 9322 Loomis st., Chicago, who was opening a June 28 copy of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE when Doty introduced us. O'Brien used to work with Commonwealth Edison company.

I also met Maj. Jonathan Askew, Pontiac, Ill., formerly with the Northern Indiana Public Service company, Hammond, Ind., and now an assistant signal officer, and Lt. Richard Kimball, former dance band musician from Oshkosh, Wis.

Sees Former Loyola Student.

Among the men in this defense company are Pvt. Ted Szewczyk, 5514 Parker av., Chicago, formerly with the Revere Copper and Brass company, and Staff Sgt. Robert [Moon] Mullen, 15216 Wood st., Harvey, Ill., formerly employed with the Buda Diesel engine factory. Mullen was happily eating a pork chop from a mess kit balanced on a jeep hood when we met.

This correspondent also chatted with Capt. George R. Kelly, 6628 Drexel blvd., Chicago, a graduate of Loyola dental school.

Pounian said another Chicago artist, Pvt. John R. Morse, who lives on the near north side and won a traveling fellowship at the Chicago Art institute, is now the corps' sign painter. Another Chicagoan, Pvt. James Osborn, was found by one of our press officers on guard at a warehouse containing 53,820 bottles of German liquor.

CANADIANS GAIN AFTER CRUSHING GERMAN ATTACK

Yanks Push to Outskirts of Lucca in Italy.

ROME, Sept. 5 (AP).—Canadian forces of the British 8th army fought today with reinforced German armor which attempted to wipe out the allied bridgehead across the Conca river near Rimini. They knocked out a score of enemy tanks and left the battlefield littered with Nazi dead as they beat off a series of counter-attacks.

Eighth army shock troops, including Poles and Indians, extended their holdings within the enemy's Gothic line defenses.

The Germans threw the 26th panzer [armored] division, a new unit, into a series of counter-attacks. Fighting took place along a ridge running south from Abissina to Misano, which the Canadians captured on Sunday.

Destroyers Hurl 800 Shells.

At the height of the fight two British destroyers, the Loyal and Urchin, moved in and bombarded German troops, transports, and batteries with more than 800 shells.

The enemy counter-attack not only was broken with severe losses, but the Canadians advanced another mile toward Rimini and were within six miles of that terminus of a vital highway thru the Po valley.

Between Florence and the Mediterranean the American 5th army, after securing dominating ridges and high hill country east of Pisa, moved forward along a broad front. One column reached the south bank of the Serchio river and approached the outskirts of Lucca, 10 miles northeast of Pisa.

Gain of 5 Miles for Yanks.

Six important roads funnel thru Lucca, and the presence of doughboys at its gates represented a gain of more than five miles in that sector. An allied bulletin announced that all high ground south of the Lucca-Pistoia-Florence road had been occupied by 5th army troops.

Teaming up with ground forces, some 1,800 allied heavy, medium, and fighter-bombers made a wholesale onslaught against communications in northern Italy. Few useable highways or railways remained as supply or retreat routes for the Nazis defending the Gothic line.

The Brenner pass rail line into Germany, already put out of operation by an attack the previous day, was bombed at four points by United States heavies.

Liberators made their sixth attack in less than two weeks on an important railroad bridge across the Po river near Ferrara, between Bologna and Padua.

REVEAL 1 HERO INSURED SINKING OF FRENCH SHIPS

LYON, France, Sept. 5 (AP).—The order to scuttle the French fleet in Toulon harbor in November, 1942, came directly from Vichy and succeeded thru the gallantry of a French lieutenant, who tricked a guard and relayed it to Adm. Jean de la Borde under the nose of a German submachine gun, it was learned today.

The exact number of ships sunk still is not known. The night of Nov. 27 the order to scuttle the fleet was transmitted in code by telephone. A French lieutenant received the order under guard of an armed German noncom who did not realize the message was coded. The lieutenant phoned the code message to the admiral and the ships were sunk that night. Every naval vessel in the harbor except one damaged destroyer went down.

As soon as the order was transmitted—but not soon enough to prevent the scuttling—Nazi officials questioned the lieutenant. He insisted he knew nothing of the code and was released.

[Adm. de la Borde was arrested by the Germans at Toulon after the scuttling, but on Dec. 6, 1942, he was reported released on the insistence of Marshal Petain, who decorated him.]

NEW MASK LETS FLYERS BATTLE AT 50,000 FEET

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 5.—The secret of the army air forces pressure mask, which blows up lungs like inflating a balloon and in which breathing muscles are used only to exhale, was announced to the Aero Medical Association of the United States here today.

The report was made by Lt. Col. A. P. Gagge, of the Aero Medical laboratory, Wright field, Dayton, O.

Before employment of this mask, the practical limit of flyers, even breathing pure oxygen, was about 42,000 feet and then only for brief periods. At 50,000 feet, men speedily lost consciousness.

The new mask raises the ceiling at which humans can fight to 50,000 feet, but only for a few minutes at that altitude. Around 45,000 feet air crews can work for about half an hour.

Stars and Stripes, Army Newspaper, Back in Paris

PARIS, Sept. 5 (AP).—Stars and Stripes, the daily newspaper of the United States armed forces, returned to Paris today, 25 years after it suspended publication here after the last war. This is the third edition to be published in France. Others have been put out in Cherbourg and Rennes.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Siegfried Schloss, 66, of 1427 Carmen av, was crushed fatally in an elevator shaft yesterday on the eighth floor of the Uptown building at 4753 Broadway, where he was employed as a messenger for a dental supplies firm.

MARTHA Washington was very particular that everything in her home be done the very best way. The cooks at Mount Vernon even had to know the characteristic qualities of all the firewoods. Then when roasting a quarter of beef, a suckling pig or wild game they always used that certain wood—sassafras, beechnut, red or white oak, hickory, pine or gum—whose smoky aroma would give it the truest epicure flavor.

Knowing How TO DO THINGS THE BEST WAY

Throughout the long history of Martha Washington candies, the greatest possible care has been devoted to making them the very best way. Every detail receives the most skilled attention . . . from the wise selection of only the choicest ingredients to their careful blending according to exclusive old recipes. Any good cook will be quick to understand what a difference that makes! And you'll surely agree when you enjoy the old-fashioned goodness of Martha Washington candies.

RUSSIA AT WAR WITH BULGARIA; ORDERS ATTACK

Reds Charge Kingdom Still Aids Germans.

til even Romania and Finland had broken from the utterly defeated Nazi lineup.

"In spite of this the Bulgarian government even now refuses to break off with Germany, pursuing a policy of so-called neutrality and rendering direct help to Germany in saving German forces from pursuit by the Red army and providing bases on Bulgarian soil," he asserted.

Molotov told Stamenov that "the fate of Germany is sealed . . . she has completely lost the war."

Bulgaria's new premier Konstantin Muraviev on Monday night broadcast a reiteration of the previous government's policy of adopting a neutral course and ordering the Germans to get out of the country. He said relations with Germany would be broken if the Germans tried to oppose this Bulgarian program.

DRIVE ON YUGOSLAVIA

LONDON, Sept. 6 [Wednesday]—(AP).—The Red army raced beyond Craiova in western Romania, less than 50 miles from Yugoslavia today, and cracked the German line on the Narew river in Poland in a drive to by-pass Warsaw on the north.

Advancing in Romania at a speed of more than 70 miles a day, a Russian armored force already was nearing a junction with Marshal Tito's Yugoslav Partisans and the invasion of the Hungarian plain.

Capture of Caiova placed the Russian forces less than 115 miles north of Sofia, Bulgarian capital.

The Moscow radio announced that "a new powerful allied front" was shaping up in the Balkans, with Marshal Tito about to strike in Yugoslavia, aided by the approach of the Red army and drawing help from the allies in Italy.

Win 200 Towns.

The operations in Romania during the day brought the fall of more than 200 towns, the Moscow bulletin announced, among them the important centers of Draganesti, Pitesti, and Rosiorii-de-Vede.

The day's fighting in Poland put the soviet troops in possession of the important railway town of Wyskow, 26 miles northeast of Warsaw, between the capital and Lomza, and the town of Rzhekun, two miles below the big communications center of Ostroleka, 29 miles south of the East Prussian border. It also placed them on the Narew river at many points. Warsaw thus was being steadily outflanked and Lomza virtually encircled. The Berlin radio said the Narew had been crossed at one point and said, "This sector has become the outstanding storm center of the eastern front."

Nazi Attacks Repulsed.

"The Russians have put three armies into the field here in order to achieve a decisive break thru," the Germans said. "Altho our reserves stopped the enemy from achieving his aim, fighting continues in full fury."

The Russians said their drive there had mopped up more than 100 towns and was continuing.

LULL IN ROBOT RAIDS ON LONDON RENEWED AFTER DAWN ATTACK

LONDON, Sept. 5 (AP).—An 80 hour lull in the robot bomb offensive was broken by a small attack just after dawn today, but there was a general feeling that the flying bomb menace was about over.

Despite a government warning to evacuees from London and southern England to stay away from their homes, the public felt the Germans were striking their last blows before fleeing from the Low Countries.

The lull set in again today after the daybreak attack, which included the London area and caused some casualties and damage.

The Berlin radio said that the assault was "by no means concluded, as shown by the resumption of the bombing of London." It added that "the V-1 weapon remains important and can be used even under changed conditions."

Change Name of Catholic Communist Movement

ROME, Sept. 5 (AP).—The Catholic Communist movement, whose doctrines are frowned upon by the Vatican, announced today that it has changed its name to the Christian Left party.

U. S. RAIDERS RIP 3 RHINELAND FACTORY CITIES

LONDON, Sept. 5 (AP).—Up to 1,750 American planes struck three major transport and industrial centers in the German Rhineland today in the path of advancing allied armies and bombed Budapest and rail bridges in Hungary and northern Italy. In all operations 15 heavy bombers and five fighters were lost.

Around 750 Flying Fortresses and Liberators from Britain bombed Stuttgart, Karlsruhe and Ludwigshafen. They were convoyed by about 500 Mustang fighters.

Up to 500 heavy bombers from Italy blasted Budapest, and rail bridges 20 miles northeast at Szob and ten miles southeast of Szolnok. The Germans threw up flak at the Hungarian capital, but risked no figther planes. Another flight of Liberators bombed the Ferrara bridge in north Italy.

Fighters of the 8th air force reported a record one day's destruction of German aircraft, wrecking 143 planes on the ground and shooting down 28.

Pope Sends Nuncios Back to Belgium and Holland

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 5.—The papal nuncios of Belgium and Holland, who were invited by Adolf Hitler to leave those countries after the 1940 blitzkrieg and have been residing in Rome ever since, today were ordered back to their posts by the Vatican. The nuncios to Yugoslavia and Romania were told to hold themselves in readiness to return to Belgrade and Bucharest.

CHIEF OF POLISH ARMY STIRS ROW OVER ALLIES' AID

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Publication of an order of the day by the Polish commander in chief, Gen. Kazimierz Sosnkowski, accusing the allies of failing to give adequate help to the Polish home army defending Warsaw, has precipitated something of a crisis in the confused Polish situation. Sosnkowski may be forced to resign.

Other Polish government in exile officials, including Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk and Foreign Secretary Tadeusz Romer, spent a busy day conferring among themselves and with British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

Feud Between Leaders.

It is understood that the Poles explained to Eden that Sosnkowski's order was issued without consultation with the Polish cabinet here, which is striving to retain British support during its negotiations with Russia and the rival Pole government in Lublin, Poland.

The latest upheaval probably will bring to a head the long feud between Mikolajczyk and Sosnkowski.

Last week Mikolajczyk proposed to abolish the commander's post to reach a compromise with Russia, apparently in order to assure any new Polish regime a nonmilitary complexion. This proposal would set up a war cabinet patterned along British lines, in which the Polish chief of staff would act only as an advisor.

May Have Gone Too Far.

It appears that Sosnkowski's charge that the allies "abandoned" Gen. Bor's army was his reply to the attempt to oust him, but he may have overreached himself. Some quarters accuse him of deliberately trying to thwart Mikolajczyk's attempts to negotiate a compromise with Moscow and Lublin.

Sosnkowski charged that the loss of 27 allied planes over Warsaw during attempts to drop arms and equipment to the home army was small compared with the many planes the allies have.

[A German broadcast said the Polish forces in Warsaw, who quit their fight on Monday, will be given "combatant status" and not considered Partisan guerrillas.]

The semi-official Polish daily, Dziennik Polski, charged the Germans had recaptured the old town in Warsaw because "our allies did not succeed in organizing help for the heroic garrison of the Polish capital and its inhabitants, who made superhuman sacrifices."

Girl, 3, Home Again

A charge of abduction against Conrad Hillesheim, 39, of 5046 Diversey av., veteran employe of the Illinois Bell Telephone company, was dismissed yesterday in Felony court by Judge William V. Daly. Royal Bonner, 5224 Parker av., who had charged the abduction of his daughter, Diane Sue, 3½, by Hillesheim, said he did not wish to prosecute. Bonner said he had known Hillesheim for several years and that no harm was meant when the latter took the girl to his home. The girl was recovered by Cragin police less than an hour after she was reported missing Sunday.

HUNGARY STAYS ON NAZIS' SIDE, BERLIN REPORTS

LONDON, Sept. 5 (AP).—With Red armies driving toward the Hungarian plain and newly at war with Bulgaria, Hungary's official reaction tonight, as filtered thru Berlin, was "to fight on" as a German ally.

Hungary's German puppet neighbor state of Slovakia, torn by revolt, switched governments in a new attempt to regain control of elements in the army and civilian population who are fighting at the side of the Czechoslovakian government forces of liberation. Slovakia's president, Joseph Tiso, accepted the resignation of the Bela Tuka cabinet and, according to the German radio, handed the premiership to a relative, Stephani Tiso, who also became minister of foreign affairs and justice.

The Slovak radio at Bratislava confirmed that it was officers in the Slovak army who started the revolt and "proclaimed restoration of the Czechoslovak republic." A Cezch war bulletin distributed in London said the Germans had thrown two fresh tank divisions into Slovakia against the patriots, thus making four German divisions in action there. Patriot forces announced they had established a temporary capital at Banska-Bystrica.

DUTCH TO STAY UNDER RULE OF A 'DICTATORSHIP'

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Members of the Dutch civil affairs commission, preparing to return home as soon as the allies clear the way, will be armed with extraordinary powers, enabling them to continue a dictatorship over liberated Hollanders, it was learned today. The Dutch government here, according to one explanation, believes the commission needs special power for "reintegration of the Dutch national life after four years of German occupation."

This authority includes the right to requisition all communications and buildings and control of the press, public meetings, and demonstrations.

Rule Set Up by Queen.

A royal decree, prepared by Queen Wilhelmina within the safety of London a year ago, will proclaim a state of emergency in Holland when reoccupation begins and set up the broad powers of her civil affairs administration.

Newly liberated Hollanders will learn the details of her decree thru London broadcasts. Already they are getting orders from London via Prince Bernhard, head of the Dutch resistance movement.

The queen probably will return to Holland the same way she left more than four years ago—aboard a British warship.

Early Return Expected.

If the allied advance is maintained, the Dutch government may start its return trip within a week. The queen is scheduled to follow almost immediately. Then will follow the civil affairs mission.

One of its first acts is expected to be a census, on the basis of which new voters' rolls will be prepared. Old registers were destroyed to prevent them falling into German hands.

A new register is necessary for election of a parliament. The mandate of the last Dutch parliament, elected in 1937, expired three years ago. Pending a general election a temporary parliament may be named by the queen's government or by the resistance leaders.

Other Allied Regimes Ready.

Several other allied governments are poised here, waiting word that they can go home. Belgian officials may leave London in a day or two for Brussels to summon a parliamentary chamber. The Luxemburg government also is ready to head home.

A Luxemburg, Belgian, and Dutch temporary customs agreement has been reached to facilitate post-war trade among those countries. Scheduled to take effect as soon as the governments are reëstablished, it provides common duties on goods of other nations except relief and rehabilitation items.

BATTLESHIP TIRPITZ, 19 OTHER SHIPS BLASTED BY BRITISH AIR RAIDS

LONDON, Sept. 5 (AP).—British carrier planes scored hits on the 35,000 ton German battleship Tirpitz and at least 19 other enemy vessels in a series of recent attacks on enemy shipping in northern waters, the admiralty announced tonight. The Tirpitz, previously crippled in a Norwegian fjord by British midget submarines and planes, recently has been reported repaired.

In the recent attacks planes damaged six enemy radio stations, hangars, and other installations along the Norwegian coast in the Hammerfest area near North cape. They shot down nine German planes and damaged others. Eleven British planes were lost. Hammerfest is along the route which the Germans in northern Finland would have to use for a sea evacuation.

"During the attacks on enemy shipping, an anti-aircraft vessel was seen to blow up and a destroyer and tanker were set on fire," the admiralty said. "Damage was inflicted on at least 16 other enemy vessels, which included a U-boat, a U-boat depot ship, two armed trawlers, and a large supply ship."

GOAL OF FRENCH NEWSMEN: AN AGENCY LIKE AP

Free and Independent Press Sought.

PARIS, Sept. 5 (AP).—Leon Rollin, director of the Agence Francaise de la Presse, born in the days of Paris' liberation, has advised Kent Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press, that the agency expects to become an independent national news agency modeled after the AP's precedent in coöperative gathering and dissemination of news.

The agency, already supplying news to some revived newspapers in restored France, blossomed overnight from a clandestine organization which circulated news to a network of underground publications during the German occupation.

Congratulated by Cooper.

It is composed of several journalists who declare their desire to see a free and independent French press. When their policy was made known, Cooper sent this message:

"I earnestly congratulate and applaud your ambition. To any individual, groups, or persons or newspapers devoted to the principles of a free honest, and independent press, the AP attaches a keen sympathy and will do everything possible to assist them. The determination you and your colleagues have expressed to secure for Frenchmen that kind of a press is worthy of support by every journalist true to his profession."

Germans Took Havas.

Before the war France's principal news agency was Havas, which was dominated by the French government and which had connections with advertising and other interests which tended to affect the unbiased presentation of news. The Germans took this agency over after a number of its staff, including Rollin and some of his present colleagues, had left it. Jean Fontenoy, who then became its director, fled to Germany before the arrival in Paris of allied troops.

With the installation of the De Gaulle administration in Paris the old Havas facilities have been taken over by the Agence Francaise de la Presse.

CHARGES LEAGUE WOULD PUT WAR UP TO PRESIDENT

BY PHILIP DODD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—Charges by Sen. Bushfield [R., S. D.] that peace plans now being discussed at the Dumbarton Oaks security conference in Washington would give the President of the United States power to declare war without the consent of congress today precipitated a heated senate debate on America's peace plans.

The particular target of Bushfield's attack was a section of the league of nations plan now being discussed at Dumbarton Oaks, which would empower the league council, composed of the United States, England, Russia, and China, to use military force to stop aggression. The council would determine the number and types of forces to be supplied by member nations.

"It means," asserted Bushfield, "that if the President can secure the approval of the senate to this plan, then thereafter whenever the league decides the use of force against any nation shall be undertaken, the President has the power, without going back to congress, to send troops and ships and planes to invade or attack any nation. That means war by Presidential order."

Connally Cites Precedents.

Attempting to defend the Roosevelt administration, Sen. Connally [D., Tex.], chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, cited a long list of precedents for Presidential use of military force without congressional consent. They included President Jefferson's dispatch of the navy and marines against the Barbary pirates in Tripoli, Adm. Perry's opening of Japan to foreign trade, Cuban intervention, the Boxer rebellion in China, Gen. Pershing's Mexican expedition, and numerous interventions in Central American disputes.

"You are then defending the action of chief executives who placed the country at war without congressional action," Bushfield retorted. Connally protested that Bushfield was injecting partisan politics in the discussion of post-war peace plans.

In his speech, Bushfield used the device of addressing his remarks to President Roosevelt.

Peace Loving People.

"The American people are peace loving people," Bushfield said, "but when you propose a new league of nations that gives to you, or to the President of the United States whoever he may be, power to declare war and send our soldiers anywhere in the world, I ask in all sincerity, is that your campaign issue?

"Every war in history has been started by some king or ruler who had the power to do the thing you propose. War is never started by the people. If this power is granted to you, we will have taken the last and final step of laying the foundation for the next war.

"Under the provisions of your proposal, you become the absolute despot of the American people; a true dictator in all sense of the word. . . . Do you, Mr. Roosevelt, base your campaign for a fourth term on this despotic and extraordinary power?"

Pea Price Ceiling Raised; That on Apples Lowered

The only changes in the weekly fresh fruit and vegetable price ceilings, effective tomorrow, announced by the office of price administration for Chicago stores this week are a decrease in the price of apples, off 5 cents to 2 pounds for 25 cents; and a rise in the price of peas, which will be 5 cents a pound higher at 22 cents.

ILLINOISAN'S BOMBER UNIT, FIGHTER GROUP IN ITALY DECORATED

ROME, Sept. 5 (AP).—The blue ribbon of the distinguished unit citation was pinned to the colors of the veteran 31st fighter group of the United States 15th air force today by Maj. Gen. Nathan F. Twining, commander. The citation resulted from a performance April 21 when the 31st's Mustangs provided cover for seven groups of bombers attacking Ploesti oil targets despite severe weather.

The 451st B-24 bomber group similarly was presented the nation's highest unit award for attacks Feb. 25 on the Regensburg-Perfuning aircraft factory in Germany and for the April 5 mission against Ploesti oil installations. The group is commanded by Col. Robert L. Eaton of Belleville, Ill.

A distinguished flying cross was presented to Maj. Samuel J. Brown of Tulsa, Okla., in recognition of his heroism June 26 when, with only the protection of a wingman, he attacked 50 enemy fighters forming to assault an American bomber unit near Vienna. Brown bagged four planes, damaged two, and dispersed the remainder.

JAPAN ADMITS 'CRYING NEED' FOR MORE OIL

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

A Tokyo broadcast said yesterday that Japan's munitions ministry had effected two big mergers of synthetic oil producers to meet "a crying need for urgent action regarding the production of synthetic oil." While Japan gained potentially rich sources of oil in her conquests in the east Asia region, particularly in the Netherlands Indies, recent Tokyo broadcasts have indicated their exploitation has been hampered by an acute shipping shortage. The scorched earth policy of the Dutch in the Indies also is said to have limited Jap production.

PERPETUAL WAR IF F. D. R. WINS, HOUSE WARNED

BY LAURENCE BURD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—The house was warned today by Rep. Day [R., Ill.] that President Roosevelt, if reëlected, will seek to keep the United States in a "perpetual" state of war under the guise of establishing world peace machinery with 'Uncle Sam as world policeman."

Rep. Day.

Day told the house that Mr. Roosevelt would constitute a fourth term election as a "mandate" for the retention of his vast war powers and for committing this nation to military alliances without consulting congress or the people.

"War Won't End Under F. D. R."

"The war will not end under President Roosevelt," Day declared. "There will be no 'post-war' under Roosevelt. It will be perpetual war. It is no secret here in Washington that he intends to make war in alliance with two great world powers [Britain and Russia] on his own initiative and without coming to congress for a declaration of war. And this is in total defiance of the Constitution vesting in the congress the sole power to declare war. This is why the [security] conference at Dumbarton Oaks is secret.

"Let us visualize the future with President Roosevelt exercising these vast and perpetual war powers. By agreement with the British empire and the soviet union, our armed vessels would continually patrol the seven seas.

No More Peaceful Borders.

"There would no longer be any peaceful borders between nations. And the crying outrage of all this would be visited upon the American people when the world commander in chief called forth our American boys to go forth to battle. The congress of the United States is expected to sit supinely by while this is taking place and to forget its oath to support the Constitution of the United States."

If Mr. Roosevelt is reëlected and persists in retaining dictatorial war powers for himself in peace time, "the only remedy would be impeachment," Day said.

Britain Refuses to Let Its Troops Get Daily Worker

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The war office has declined to include the Communist Daily Worker in the official scheme for distribution of newspapers to troops in France, it was learned today. It explained that the war office did not desire to place an order for the Daily Worker.

ALLIANCE OF BRITAIN, U. S., RUSSIA URGED AS TRADE MEASURE

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 5.—An alliance of the United States, the British commonwealth, and the soviet republics, and the continuance of economic controls both in Britain and America for a time after the war, were advocated tonight by Francis Joseph, a British knight, who is president of the institute of industrial administration, as the best means of reviving world trade and prosperity.

Joseph in an address at Liverpool said the allies had agreed to form a huge pool of credit which would be used to revive exhausted nations. All currencies, he maintained, must be linked to gold. Credit for all, he asserted, was the "surest way of work for all."

"Let's get out of our minds—and here I plead with business men and certain sections of our people—fear of Russia and her ideology," Joseph said. "I believe our comradeship can be used to great advantage for world peace and human progress."

KEEP SYNTHETIC RUBBER PLANTS, U. S. IS ADVISED

Need Post-War Supply, Says Col. Dewey.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—Peace time operation of America's warborn synthetic rubber industry as a bulwark of future American military and economy strength is foreseen in a final report of Col. Bradley Dewey released for publication by the office of war information today. Dewey resigned as rubber director Sept. 1. His was the first war agency to dissolve with its task completed.

The report, with elaborate technical appendices, concludes that the synthetic product can compete on an open market with the price and quality of natural rubber. It predicts permanence for this new industry in which three-fourths of a billion tax dollars were invested primarily to equip the army and navy and domestic transportation with rubber while the Japanese held plantations which produced 90 per cent of the pre-war world supply.

Must Keep Independence.

Dewey, a colonel of chemical warfare in the first World war, declared America must continue for military reasons to be independent of a rubber source 8,000 miles from our coasts. In the civilian economy, he declared, the new industry promises better and more rubber goods at lower prices.

"This country today," his report concludes, "is indepedent of other nations, of the effect of wars between other nations, or the destruction of plantations by plant blights, for its supplies of rubber. It must so remain."

Unused Plants Deteriorate.

As for proposals voiced in some circles for America to resume importation of all of its rubber, with the plants retained solely for military protection, Dewey wrote as follows:

"Unused standby plants of the complex type required to make synthetic rubber and basic materials deteriorate rapidly. Chemists and chemical engineers do not stand still. Research discovers improvements constantly which call for changes in plant equipment."

Nation Must Decide.

"Regardless of whether sufficient crude rubber may ever be available to supply the post-war demand at prices less than the cost of synthetic—a situation which I cannot foresee," he wrote, "I cannot conceive under any circumstances of any one considering scrapping the low cost producers of the synthetic program. But were this the case, the country would have to decide only whether it should subsidize or keep the synthetic plants in apple pie standby condition ready to run.

"However, I believe the post-war world demand will be so large that there will be need for all the crude rubber present plantations can turn out and also the production of low-cost producers of the synthetic rubber program—from 400,000 to 600,000 tons a year. There should be no duties or subsidies or international agreements."

Sees Greater Demand.

Congressional circles here have heard reports of foreign pressure for America to abandon the manufacture of rubber. In years before the war, a British-Dutch cartel manipulated the world rubber market. There are internationalist elements in the New Deal favoring this proposal, on a theory that we must import a quarter of a billion dollars of rubber annually as a means for exporting 250 million American dollars which might be used to buy American export goods.

Will Act as Ceiling.

"In submitting this report," Dewey wrote, "it is emphasized that this office [the dissolved office of rubber director] is not responsible for the ultimate disposition of the plants in the rubber program and does not here speculate as to their future. However, world demand for rubber after the war will be far greater than the capacity of the world's plantations before the war.

"This, together with the cost data, leads me to the personal belief that not only will specialty rubbers be in demand because of those qualities which are superior to crude rubber, but the buna-S [standard government tire synthetic] will be in large demand at prices which will act as a governor and will set a ceiling on the world prices of crude rubber."

Stone, in the army since 1941, served in the Aleutians with an anti-aircraft unit. Their date was arranged by his aunt, Fannye Stone.

SEEKS INQUIRY INTO FURLOUGHS OF U. S. TROOPS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5 (AP).—A congressional investigation of the army's furlough rotation policy was demanded today by Rep. Smith [R., Wis.] who told the house "the war department has failed our troops."

Smith, who introduced a resolution calling for the inquiry, said he referred specifically to men in the Southwest Pacific, and added:

"The war department says we have no ships and no replacements which are necessary before those men can be relieved. This I doubt, but if my resolution is adopted we can get the whole story."

MacArthur Limited.

Smith also put in the congressional record letters from Secretary of War Stimson and Gen. MacArthur on the subject, dated May 27 and 23, respectively.

MacArthur said, "I am as solicitous as possible of the welfare of the officers and enlisted men in this command and have done everything in my power to effect a reasonable rotation to the United States and to give recuperational leave, but I am limited by war department policies which are dictated by lack of shipping in the Pacific ocean.

Would Halt Offensive.

"I shall continue to do everything possible but because of the shortage of shipping in the Pacific there is no adequate solution to the problem.

"The return to the United States without replacement of all men who have served a specified length of time would, of course, halt our offensive against Japan and might indefinitely prolong the war."

Stimson said: "Military limitations alone, not our disinterest, have prevented a more liberalized rotation policy."

Rep. Hinshaw [R., Cal.], member of the house interstate commerce subcommittee which recently visited Alaska, urged that soldiers stationed there be rotated by units to other posts.

INDIVIDUAL JUDGES HEREAFTER TO HOLD PRE-TRIAL HEARINGS

In an effort to expedite the hearing of jury cases in Municipal court, pre-trial conferences hereafter will be conducted by the trial judge, it was announced yesterday by Chief Justice Edward S. Scheffler. Heretofore, pre-trial conferences have been held only in court room 915.

"This is the final step in the reorganization of civil jury work in this court, the main purpose being to bring jury cases to trial within a short time after the jury demand is filed," said Justice Scheffler.

During the jury year just ended, of 7,403 cases on call, 5,167 were disposed of and 628 were transferred to the military calendar, leaving 1,526 cases pending. Additional cases filed since the printing of the calendar bring the total pending cases up to 3,098.

HOLDS CENTRAL POWER PERILS AMERICAN LIFE

"Centralized power has infected our own system of government and is undermining our democratic process," asserted W. E. Stanley of Wichita, Kas., president of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws at its annual session in the Drake hotel yesterday.

"We are participants in a world struggle where free men fight against the aggression and ambitions of centralized power," he said. "This force has assailed our institutions from without. However, if we direct our attention to the home front, we find the issue has been raised between burocratic regimentation and individual initiative. We are rapidly approaching the climax of a struggle at home between centralized power in the federal government and our local self-government.

"The outcome of this controversy may vitally affect what we have been pleased to call our American system of representative government."

ALLMAN DROPS COP ABSENT 3 DAYS FROM JOB

Policeman William C. Bellmaine, 40, of the South Chicago station, who lives at 6323 Cottage Grove av., was suspended yesterday by Police Commissioner Allman on a charge of being absent from duty three days without permission.

Capt. Thomas Kilroy said Bellmaine failed to report Sunday, Monday, or yesterday. His wife said Bellmaine, a uniform patrolman, left home Saturday night in plain clothes.

Found yesterday, Bellmaine told Capt. Kilroy that he left his wife after a quarrel to stay for a time with his sister. He could not report for work, he said, because he was afraid there would be another quarrel if he went home to get his uniform.

SOLDIER FREED FROM WIFE, BUT LOSES HIS BABY

Pvt. Leo Giannoni, 22, of 5403 LeMoyne st., was granted a divorce from his wife, Rose, 20, yesterday on testimony that he found a man's shoes under her bed and a man in her clothes closet on Aug. 27 when he returned home on furlough. He charged her with adultery.

Pvt. Giannoni, represented by Atty. Irving Eisenman, said his mother, Esther, was with him when he discovered the shoes and the man they fitted. Judge William J. Lindsay in Superior court issued the decree, and gave custody of a daughter, Patricia, 16 months old, to the child's mother. Giannoni's mother will take the baby on week-ends.

Giannoni was married in November, 1942. He is stationed at Hampton Beach, N. Y.

$51,560 STOLEN, EMPLOYE GETS ONE TO 10 YEARS

Court Recommends a Maximum of 3.

Denying an application for probation after the defense presented several character witnesses, Chief Justice Harold G. Ward of Criminal court yesterday sentenced Knud Nielsen, 45, of 339 N. Radcliffe way, Hinsdale, to one to 10 years in the state pentitentiary on a plea of guilty to a charge of larceny.

Nielsen, foreign sales manager of the Belden Manufacturing company, 4647 Van Buren st., and an authority on exports, admitted at a preliminary hearing two weeks ago that he took $51,560 from his employer because he felt he was underpaid for his job. Company officials said that he had been a trusted official for 20 years. Nielsen said he started with the company in 1922 at $22 a week, rising to manager of exports in 1925 at a salary and bonus approximating $6,000 per year.

State Minimum Plea Rejected.

Judge Ward recommended that Nielsen serve not less than 2½ years nor more than three years of the sentence, despite the plea of Assistant State's Atty. C. Vernon Thompson that the defendant serve at least three years.

Atty. Charles A. Bellows stressed to the court that Nielsen made restitution of $26,000, altho he was forced to sell personal property to do so. He also pointed out that Nielsen had no previous record and that he could be rehabilitated if probation were granted. He then introduced a score of business men and neighbors who testified to Nielsen's honesty and integrity.

Hearing for Co-defendant.

A charge of conspiracy growing out of the same grand jury indictment against Nielsen was quashed, but a co-defendant on the charge, Douglas W. A. Woods, 1010 Springfield av., Deerfield, accused as a receiver for several checks written by Nielsen against the Belden company, was ordered to appear in court Sept. 15 for hearing.

Judge Ward granted Nielsen 15 days in which to straighten up his affairs before beginning sentence.

66 PAY $93,735 IN AUGUST ON LEVIES OF OPA

Sixty-six wholesale and retail food firms and individuals paid a total of $93,735 thru court proceedings and by settlements with the metropolitan area office in August as the result of over ceiling sales charges, the office of price administration said yesterday. Largest was a federal district court judgment for $29,298 paid by the Market Wholesale Grocers, 1369 N. Branch st., and the smallest a settlement of $25 paid by Leo Bonem, a meat peddler, of 1549 Jonquil ter., the OPA said. In the court cases the defendants were enjoined from further overcharges.

CITY SQUIRREL HUNTER WOUNDS TWO; FINED $101

Frank Seibert, 27, of 1818 Henderson st., was fined $101 and costs in Town Hall court yesterday for shooting at a squirrel with a shotgun and wounding two women Sunday.

Seibert, a machinist, told Judge John R. McSweeney that the squirrel had bitten his son, Thomas, 4. He said he previously had told police about the squirrel, or squirrels, which rampaged thru trees and over his roof, and had obtained permission to capture it, or them. George Schneider, 1823 Henderson st., said he saw Seibert fire three shots as tho at random. Mrs. Marie Eisenhut, 43, 1952 School st., and Mrs. Louise Birglechner, 40, of the same address, were wounded by pellets from his gun.

Judge McSweeney imposed fines of $100 and costs for discharging firearms without a permit, and $1 and costs for disorderly conduct. Seibert's 12 gauge shotgun was confiscated.

EX-ENVOY TELLS U.S. CLERK'S ROLE IN WAR SECRETS

Data on Britain Believed Known by Nazis.

Hyannis, Mass., Sept. 5 (AP).—America's diplomatic communications thruout the world were "blacked out" because of the arrest of a code clerk who had access to documents containing "exact and complete" data on England's war plans, Joseph P. Kennedy, former American ambassador to Great Britain, disclosed today in a telephone interview.

Kennedy said that after the arrest in October, 1940, of Tyler Kent, who was sentenced to seven years' imprisonment after a trial in England on charges of violating the British official war secrets act, it was suspected Germany had received not only copies of original documents, but also coded copies.

It was assumed then, Kennedy said, that Germany had penetrated the code, and thus could have access to any diplomatic messages transmitted via cable or radio anywhere in the world.

Old Codes Replaced.

He said the blackout lasted two to six weeks, until couriers reached embassies with new codes.

Kennedy indicated Italy may have been ordered to stay out of the war for the first 14 months of the conflict because she was more useful to Germany as a transmission belt for information on Britain's activities. He said Kent had copied 1,500 documents covering vital war plans of Britain, but it was not until after his arrest that a connection was found between Kent and the Italian embassy in London thru a phone call from the embassy to Kent's rooms.

"Italy, you remember, did not go to war until after Kent's arrest," Kennedy said.

Emissary Role, Denied.

Kennedy denied Kent was an emissary between President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill, then first lord of the admiralty, as was charged in the British parliament by John McGovern, a British Laborite.

McGovern asserted Kent had been imprisoned to prevent disclosure of a reported pre-war agreement between Roosevelt and Churchill, which was described as a pledge for the United States to help England if England entered the war.

In Washington, Kent's mother, Mrs. Ann M. P. Kent, said today that a state department's statement issued Saturday "left entirely unanswered the point on which the American people demand an investigation, i. e., the existence or nonexistence of secret pre-war agreements made by the President of the United States without 'the advice and consent of the senate'."

Mrs. Kent's statement was made in a letter to Secretary of State Hull, which she made public.

"Almost Nauseated," Says Son.

She said her son had been called upon to code and decode "secret agreements between Roosevelt and Churchill," and she quoted her son as having said after being sentenced in England:

"At times I was almost nauseated at the part I had to play."

Mrs. Kent said she had been refused a passport to visit her son in England, and said she planned to petition congress "for redress of grievance."

"The department doubtless heard of my intention and accordingly issued its release at this time," she said.

Kennedy said his first knowledge of the Kent affair came when a Scotland Yard man called at the embassy and laid the facts before him.

Documents Found in Strong Box.

"We went to Kent's rooms and found copies of 1,500 documents locked in a strong box," Kennedy said.

Kennedy said Kent had been followed to a photography shop where the documents were copied on microfilm, but that while Kent was suspected of delivering the material to the axis, the "beans were spilled" when the Italian embassy called Kent's rooms while Scotland Yard men and American embassy officials were there.

Kennedy said Churchill had agreed to supply "exact and complete" information on British war plans and preparations to President Roosevelt when the war began.

All Messages Covered.

The documents which Kent had copied covered "all the messages between Churchill and Roosevelt," Kennedy said.

"Churchill had given me a very frank and complete picture of England's unpreparedness, of her military and naval power and military placements, the status of her industries, and week by week developments for forwarding to President Roosevelt," he said.

Kennedy said he was at loss to explain Kent's action.

"Kent's father had a good record with the American diplomatic service, but somewhere along the line Kent had developed a terrific anti-semitic complex," Kennedy added.

"When he was arrested and I asked him what he could have been thinking of, he showed no remorse but went into an anti-semitic blast that was a terrible thing."

Kennedy said that if this country had been at war he would have recommended that Kent be brought back to this country and shot.

Diplomatic Immunity Waived.

As it was, he waived diplomatic immunity for Kent with the knowledge and approval of the American state department. Kennedy said waiving of diplomatic immunity for Kent was necessary at the time.

"The British government, of course, would have taken it up with our state department, and it would appear that we were backing him," Kennedy said. "It could have developed into a nasty mess."

The state department said Saturday the question of whether the American government will prefer additional charges against Kent for violating diplomatic secrets would be decided after he has served his term and again comes under the jurisdiction of American courts.

Judge Frank E. Donoghue with flowers after his return to bench.

Municipal Judge Frank E. Donoghue was greeted with two huge baskets of flowers yesterday when he returned to Women's court after six weeks' vacation, but he wishes that whoever sent them would confess. Neither basket contained a card and Judge Donoghue is mystified by the identity of his secret admirers. No questions will be asked if the donors will come to Women's court at 10 a. m. today.

ACT TO INCREASE LAKE FLOW AS BACTERIA MOUNT

Concerned by health department reports of high coliform bacteria counts last month in the lake water near the Dunne and 68th street cribs, Public Works Commissioner Hewitt yesterday arranged with sanitary district engineers to increase the diversion into the Calumet-Sag channel from 800 to 1,060 cubic feet a second.

The Calumet river, which feeds the channel, lies between the cribs and Indiana towns and industries which are suspected of being sources of the lake pollution. Hewitt said it is hoped the increased diversion into the channel will draw off some of the polluted water before it enters the cribs, which supply drinking water to 1,500,000 persons on the south side.

On eight days last month water at the cribs was found to contain a higher coliform bacteria count than can be purified by simple chlorination. On Aug. 30 the count was 3,500, the highest since Jan. 30, when a gale from the south blew an unusual quantity of Indiana wastes to the crib areas.

Suspected Nazi Fugitive Found to Be Navy Recruit

Chief Deputy Sheriff Thomas E. Kennedy of Lake county said yesterday that a man found dressed in a burlap bag Sunday night on a highway near Libertyville and believed at first to be an escaped German prisoner had been identified as William Luedtke, 18, of Beloit, Wis., a navy recruit who was reported absent without leave Sunday from the Great Lakes naval training center. He was returned to Great Lakes yesterday.

Ward Inducted

Criminal court opened the first day of its new year yesterday with Judge Harold G. Ward installed as chief justice. There was no ceremony, but Sheriff Mulcahy was on hand to congratulate Ward, who had been acting chief justice since July, when his predecessor, Judge Benjamin P. Epstein, retired because of a heart ailment.

The four associate judges are John Prystalski and Cornelius J. Harrington, both former chief justices; Frank M. Padden and Peter H. Schwaba. A new grand jury was sworn in by Judge Ward.

The new chief justice was a member of the Illinois senate for eight years prior to his election to the Superior court in 1941. He has been in the criminal courts since December of that year, has never missed a day in that time, and gave up his vacation last month to clear up the grand jury indictments that had piled up toward the end of the court term.

CIVILIAN PILOT KILLED, WOMAN HURT IN CRASH

Harry Buenger, 36, civilian pilot and machinist, was killed yesterday, and a woman passenger was injured when his plane crashed shortly after the take-off from Ravenswood airport, on Touhy av., 1½ miles southwest of Des Plaines.

The passenger, Mrs. Mary Hanson, 22, of 602 S. 5th av., Maywood, a war plant employe, suffered internal injuries and shock. She was taken to St. Francis' hospital in Evanston.

Buenger, who lived at Grand and York sts., Bensenville, was forced to make an emergency landing only two blocks from the airport when the motor failed. He landed in a farm field, but struck a ditch. The plane stopped sharply, throwing him forward.

STRONG PARENTS GIVE LONG LIFE: MAJ. TOLMAN, 85

The secret for living to a ripe old age is to be born of strong parents from whom you can inherit the gift of longevity.

That is the observation of Maj. Edgar Bronson Tolman, one of Chicago's oldest and most noted lawyers who yesterday celebrated his 85th birthday with a party attended by 19 friends and relatives in his home at 5554 Woodlawn av.

Maj. Tolman, who got his military title as an officer of infantry during the Spanish-American war and who was director of selective service for Illinois during World War I., eats what he pleases, goes to his loop office daily and is active as editor of the Journal of the American Bar association.

Legal Notables are Guests.

At the birthday party, similar to parties on Maj. Tolman's 75th and 80th anniversaries, the list of guests included some of the best known figures in Chicago's legal world.

Among those present were John D. Black, former president of the Chicago Bar association; Henry P. Chandler, a former partner and now director of administration of United States courts; Stephen E. Hurley, president of the Chicago Bar association; George B. McKibbin, state director of finance; Charles P. Megan, Amos C. Miller, Lessing Rosenthal, William P. Sidley, Pressly L. Stevenson, Silas H. Strawn, William S. Warfield III., former Judge Russell Whitman, and Justice Francis S. Wilson of the Illinois Supreme court.

Great-Grandson Likes the Music.

Maj. Tolman's great-grandson, James Wilson Button Jr., 2½, while not actually present, was within earshot of the festivities and from his upstairs crib sent down repeated commands for more of the glee club music with which his great-grandfather was being serenaded.

The son of Baptist missionaries, Maj. Tolman was born in Nowgong, India, and was graduated from the University of Chicago in the class of 1880. He received his law degree two years later from the Union College of law, which later became Northwestern university's law school. He has been engaged in active practice here ever since and won national recognition for his work in revising the rules of civil procedure in the federal courts.

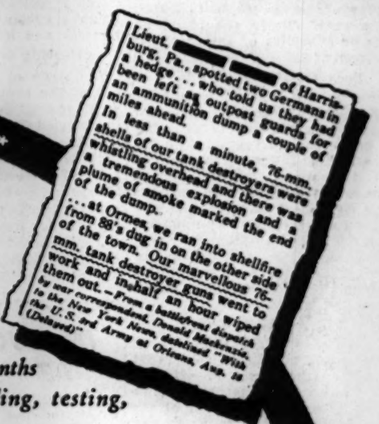
100 POUNDS OF PAPER! Will make 115 boxes each containing ten 20 mm. shells. Paper is urgently needed for war. Save a bundle of waste paper a week and keep our guns firing.

THE HELLCAT'S OUT OF THE BAG!



Lieut. [redacted] of Harrisburg, Pa., spotted two Germans in a hedge . . . who told us they had been left . . . as outpost guards for an ammunition dump a couple of miles ahead.
In less than a minute, 76-mm. shells of our tank destroyers were whistling overhead and there was a tremendous explosion and a plume of smoke marked the end of the dump.
. . . at Ormes, we ran into shellfire from 88's dug in on the other side of the town. Our marvellous 76-mm. tank destroyer guns went to work and in half an hour wiped them out.—From a battle-front dispatch by our correspondent, Donald Macintosh, to the New York News, destined "With the U. S. 3rd Army at Orleans, Aug. 28 (Delayed)"

Now it can be told. The Hellcats are in action.

The Army calls them 76-mm. Gun Motor Carriages—designation M-18. But to Buick men who designed and built them in cooperation with Army Ordnance—and to Tank Destroyer Command forces who fight in them—they're Hellcats.

The name fits. They are tank-killers with the pace of a panther and the lethal strike of the king cobra.

They're so fast they run rings around anything but their brothers, and they master obstacles that stop other vehicles cold.

They can split an enemy tank at several miles—and thanks to springing born of Buick's work on your car, they can romp down roads at passenger car speeds. And now they're on the prowl.

It has been twenty-odd months since we started work on these sluggers as answers to the vaunted Tiger tank. Twenty-odd months of designing, building, testing, perfecting.

More than a year ago they went into production, and several months ago we knew they were on their way, in quantities, to undisclosed battlefields.

They have shown what they can do there. They've added their force to the Great Effort—and because of them, American men have had benefit of a harder-hitting weapon against tanks, pillboxes, strong points and machine-gun nests.

We're mighty glad that's so. Not just because this is a Buick baby. But because it's a good American weapon, built in our way, for use of our own kind.

More power to it, say we—and to those gallant men in uniform for whom we sweated it out!

Buick will be glad to furnish, without cost, a full-color reprint of this advertisement to those interested in this important new weapon. Write to Buick Motor Division, Flint 2, Michigan.

B-29 FLYER LOST IN RAID ON JAPAN DECLARED DEAD

Lt. T. J. Barrett, De Kalb, on June 16 Mission.

Lt. T. J. Barrett, 24, of De Kalb, flight engineer on a B-29 lost in the June 16 raid over Japan, has been declared legally dead, the war department reported to his sister, Mrs. J. F. Chesney, also of De Kalb. Lt. Barrett was stationed in India prior to his transfer to a new base for the Japan raid. A brother, Thomas, is serving with a naval task force in the South Pacific. A memorial service will be held Sept. 9 in St. Philip Neri church, 72d st. and Merrill av.

Mrs. Theresa Pietrucci of 447 N. Carpenter st. said yesterday she had been notified that her son, Henry M., a private in the army corps of engineers, was killed in action June 7 in France. He was 20 years old. He attended Wells High school and entered the army in March, 1943.

Pvt. Henry M. Pietrucci.

Ensign Donald Jerome Ryan, U. S. N. R., 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Ryan, 5632 Maplewood av., who was reported missing Aug. 13, 1943, presumably is now dead, the navy department informed the parents yesterday. Ensign Ryan was serving as gunnery officer on a naval vessel sunk off the coast of Guadalcanal during enemy action. A graduate of St. Rita High school and St. Benedict's college, Atchison, Kas., he entered the navy in September, 1942, and went to sea in March, 1943. He is survived by his parents and one sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jacklin, 1309 Clarence av., Berwyn, received two war department telegrams yesterday, one telling of the death of a son, Sgt. Edward W., 25, and the other telling of the escape after

Pvt. Francis J. Jacklin.

Sgt. Edward W. Jacklin.

German capture of another son, Pvt. Francis J., 21. Edward, the telegram said, was killed during a battle in France Aug. 11. He was attached to an artillery group and had been in the army nearly three years. Another son, Pvt. Leroy, 23, is in France. Sgt. Walter, 26, is in the South Pacific, and a fifth son, John, 18, is an army aviation cadet. Memorial solemn high mass will be said for Edward at 10:30 a. m. Sunday in St. Mary of Celle church, 15th st. and Euclid av., Berwyn.

Mrs. Lenora Hough, 344 2d st., Libertyville, was notified yesterday by the war department that her son, Pvt. Alfred A. Hough, 32, was killed in action in France Aug. 9. He entered the army April 21, 1941, and was sent overseas last October.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Zelasko, 5420 S. Christiana av., have been notified that their son, Sgt. Leonard E. Zelasko, 20, army air forces gunner, was killed in action Aug. 11 over New Guinea. A graduate of Gage Park High school, Sgt. Zelasko entered service Nov. 15, 1942.

Sgt. L. E. Zelasko.

Memorial services for Corp. Michael J. Sweeney, 36, who died July 31 of battle wounds received in France, will be held at 9 a. m. Saturday in St. Timothy's church, 6330 N. Washtenaw av. Corp. Sweeney entered the army in February, 1942. He leaves his mother, Mrs. Marie J. Sweeney, 6428 N. Francisco av., two sisters, and three brothers.

Mrs. Guy Berley, 4153 Congress st., was notified by the war department yesterday that a short wave broadcast from Japan had been intercepted which included a message signed by her son, Lt. Fred V. Berley, 32, a naval physician taken prisoner at the fall of Corregidor. The message said Lt. Berley was in good health and was working in a new hospital for prisoners of war. Since Lt. Berley's capture his mother has received six form message postal cards from him. A brother, Alfred, 27, is serving with the navy in the South Pacific.

HEALTH QUIZ

	YES	NO
Do you have poor digestion?	☐	☐
Do you feel headachy after eating?	☐	☐
Do you get sour or upset easily?	☐	☐
Do you feel tired—listless?	☐	☐

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any drugstore. Only 10¢ and 25¢.

Mrs. Willey, a former key punch operator in the county auditor's office, was clerk of Circuit Judge John Prystalski's Motor court for two years.

60 WAR BRIDES ARRIVE IN N. Y. FROM ENGLAND

New York, Sept. 5 [Special].—The first large shipment of war brides from the European theater—60 of them, and 16 children—arrived at a North river pier this afternoon, and found not a soul there to meet them.

For security reasons, none had been permitted to notify relatives or friends of their arrival, so the only greeting they received when they first trod American soil was the blare of "Alexander's Ragtime Band," played by the 375th army service force band.

Fifty-four of the 60 brides were Irish, four were English, one was Scotch, and one Welsh, and none ever had been in this country before. All were married to American navy men who were stationed at Londonderry, constructing a naval base, and 34 of the group were accompanied by their husbands.

DEFENSE RAISES POLITICS CHARGE IN SEDITION CASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—A charge that the government was injecting politics into the trial of 26 men and women accused of sedition was made in district court today when O. John Rogge, special assistant attorney general, read an exhibit in which one of the defendants placed Thomas E. Dewey under the classification of "Presidential pygmies."

The trial of the 24 men and two women was resumed after a 17 day recess and the bickering and delays that have marked virtually every session since the trial opened April 17 began immediately. Four of the defendants—Lois Delafayette Washburn, Edward James Smythe, Peter Stahrenberg, and Gerald Winrod—did not appear, and a fifth, Lawrence Dennis, walked in 28 minutes late.

Ethelbert B. Frey, attorney for Robert E. Edmondson, who allegedly distributed the pamphlet describing Dewey as a "Presidential pygmy," protested when Rogge read it to the jury. He asserted that if Rogge insisted on bringing political issues into the trial he should be prosecuted by the justice department for violating the Hatch act. Chief Justice Edward C. Eicher overruled the objection to the exhibit.

Charge Pogrom Incited.

Rogge later was charged with trying to incite a pogrom when he read and displayed to the jury a number of documents which he asserted showed that some of the defendants had engaged in anti-Semitic propaganda.

"This line of evidence can result only in a purge of either Jews or Gentiles," Claude A. Thompson, attorney for Hans Diebel and Herman M. Schwinn, protested to Judge Eicher. He, too, was overruled.

The anti-Semitic literature was offered by Rogge in an effort to show that a number of the defendants were linked to Diebel thru his Aryan bookstore in Los Angeles, and that Diebel was a considerable figure in German-American bund activities. The literature was seized when the bookstore was raided by FBI agents the day after the Pearl Harbor attack.

Correspondence Read.

Correspondence between Diebel and Edmondson and Eugene N. Sanctuary was read, along with alleged correspondence between Diebel and Fascist leaders in England and Italy, and Nazis in Germany. One letter to Diebel, signed by Paul Castorina, national leader of the American Union Fascists, said: "Our organization is making great headway in the New York area. We have the Jews on the run."

Rogge was interrupted frequently as he read to the jury, and Judge Eicher told defense counsel to stop making objections they previously had been overruled on.

When the prosecutor handed a batch of exhibits to the jurors, Maximilian J. St. George, Chicago attorney representing Joseph E. McWilliams, commented that in view of the long recess he had expected Rogge to offer some real evidence. The judge ordered the remark stricken from the record.

Judge Eicher postponed until tomorrow consideration of several defense motions prepared during the recess. These ask for a mistrial and for suppression of certain evidence.

POLICE ROUND UP STEERS.

Police, headed by Capt. John H. Ryan, rounded up five steers which broke loose from a truck trailer which overturned yesterday at 47th st. and California av.

MANDEL BROTHERS

5 & 10 HEIRESS ACCUSES DANE OF EYEING MILLIONS

Sues to End Income from $1,500,000.

Wilmington, Del., Sept. 5 [Special].—Dime store heiress Barbara Hutton Grant charged today in a suit filed in federal court here that Court Haugwitz Reventlow, one of her former husbands, had his eyes on her Woolworth fortune when he induced her in 1937 to renounce her American citizenship.

This newest bit of litigation in the long saga of the former Miss Hutton's lego-matrimonial misadventures is an effort to cut off the Danish nobleman from the income of a $1,500,000 trust fund she established "for his maintenance" when they were separated in 1938.

Charges Trust Broken.

The heiress charged that Reventlow had breached the trust agreement by refusing to return their son, Lance, 9, to her custody last June 30. Under a London chancery court agreement of 1938 each parent was to have custody of the boy six months of each year.

Howland, Inc., a corporation which manages Reventlow's trust fund, is named a codefendant in the action. Mrs. Grant said Reventlow and his attorneys have complete domination of the corporation and exercise it in a manner which may prove detrimental to the interests of her son, who is to inherit the principal.

Regarding her much publicized discarding of her American citizenship, Mrs. Grant said this was Reventlow's idea and that his underlying purpose, which he concealed from her, was that under the laws of Denmark he would automatically become entitled to one-half of all her property.

Lawyers Balked Plan.

His plan failed, she said, because her attorneys in New York frustrated the count by exacting an agreement from him waiving all rights to her property. Mrs. Grant plans to regain her citizenship after the war, according to her attorney, Samuel H. Kaufman.

A suit by Mrs. Grant for full custody of Lance is pending in a California court, and last June Reventlow obtained a California injunction restraining her from using profanity in the boy's presence or from making derogatory remarks to the boy about his father. Lance is now with Reventlow, who has remarried.

Mrs. Grant has admitted a "friendly separation" from her third husband, Screen Actor Cary Grant, whom she married in 1942. Her first husband was Alexis Mdivani, whom she married in 1933 and divorced two years later.

ORDER INQUIRY IN HALL-DORSEY BALCONY FIGHT

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 5 (AP).—The county grand jury's criminal complaints committee today ordered an investigation of a physical altercation early on Aug. 5 on the balcony of Band Leader Tommy Dorsey's apartment in which Actor Jon Hall declared he suffered injuries to his face and head.

Edwin Myers, chief complaint deputy in the district attorney's office, who presented the case to the committee, made public a list of witnesses to be called before it.

The list includes Dorsey, Hall, the former's actress wife, Pat Dane; Actor Eddie Norris, who also complained he was injured in the fight, and several other persons.

LYONS ASSAILS GLOBAL VIEWS OF ROOSEVELT

Fears Foreign Control at Peace Table.

BY ROBERT HOWARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Alton, Ill., Sept. 5.—Richard J. Lyons opened his Republican campaign for United States senator today by charging that America's post-war interests are jeopardized by President Roosevelt's internationalist views.

"The American people are determined to end the war victoriously, to make the peace permanently, and to bring our boys home promptly," Lyons said. "To be sure that we do all three, the people of Illinois will vote the Republican ticket Nov. 7."

Opening a four week tour of downstate Illinois, Lyons spoke at the Macoupin county courthouse in Carlinville this afternoon and at the Alton city hall tonight.

CIO-PAC Is Assailed.

The CIO and its political action committee were made a campaign issue by Lyons, who drew applause by asserting Sidney Hillman, PAC head, and Earl Browder, ex-convict Communist leader, are intent on capturing the Democratic party and thru it the control of the federal government.

"This is the time for all of us to vote as Americans," Lyon said. He predicted victory for the Dewey ticket by 400,000 votes in Illinois.

"We must not lose this peace," said Lyons, speaking as the father of a soldier in the air force. "Yet, until Tom Dewey is inaugurated President of the United States next January, the American people will look upon the approaching peace negotiations with justifiable misgivings.

Bows to British.

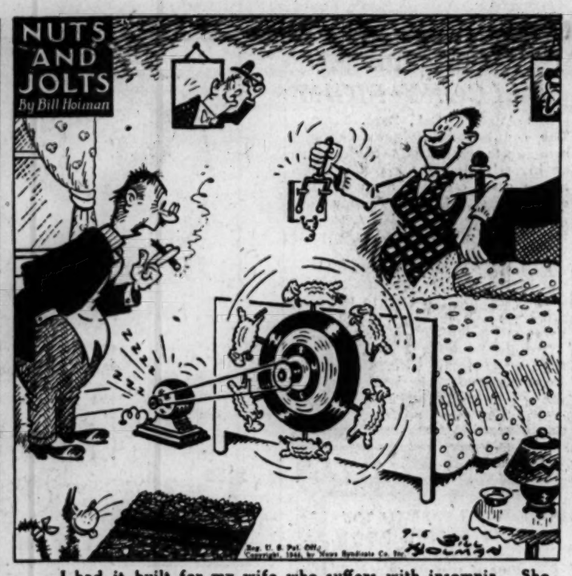
"There will be three strong voices in that conference; one Russia, one British, and one American. But will the American voice be raised in behalf of the people of the United States? We have seen our globe trotting President, who now seeks a fourth term, bow to Stalin at Teheran. And again and again and again, to use his own words, we have seen him dominated by the British point of view over the whole eleven years of his term of office."

To show foreign domination of American foreign policy, Lyons cited the case of William Phillips, ambassador to India and diplomatic adviser to Gen. Eisenhower. It has been charged Phillips was forced out of his office for stating his own views, in a report to the President about Indian independence.

Of the Phillips case, Lyons said: "Apparently we have reached the stage where it isn't safe for an American diplomat to tell his President vital truths, if those truths are unpleasant to the British government. It is small wonder that United States senators are incensed over this situation and the fact that the fourth term candidate condones it by his failure to take appropriate action."

Appearing with Lyons were State Sen. Arnold P. Benson, candidate for secretary of state, and Conrad F. Becker, running for state treasurer.

Benson called State's Atty. Courtney, Democratic candidate for governor a "pseudo-reformer, steeped in egotism and grasping for power."



I had it built for my wife who suffers with insomnia. She has no imagination.

BROOKS BLASTS SALE OF U. S. AIR BASES ABROAD

Demands Rights to Use of Strips.

he said, "and sent many of these same products to the British empire under lend-lease. Canada bought with this same money these air bases which we built, with no definite provisions being made for our future right to use them after the empire is no longer in danger."

Explains His Position.

Expanding on the way the British look out for themselves, Brooks said:

"I realize full well that whenever one speaks of protecting and demanding rights for Americans there are some who always shout that to do so will disrupt the war effort. This I deny.

"We all remember how Mussolini bombed poor little Ethiopia into submission. But as soon as the Ethiopians were liberated with the aid of American funds and equipment the British quickly negotiated a treaty with Haile Selassie, emperor of Ethiopia, which provided:

"'His majesty, the emperor, will not permit foreign aircraft, other than British, to fly in or over Ethiopia without the concurrence of the government of the United Kingdom.'

Denounces 'Bungling.'

Brooks bitterly denounced the New Deal for its bungling at the beginning of the war in his plea that the nation's aviation policy be corrected without delay.

"We were blasted into this war," he said, "by the lack of intelligent leadership and understanding of the power of destruction from the air. As a result, our fleet and air power in the Pacific were sunk and largely destroyed at Pearl Harbor.

"A part of the terrible result was the unbelievable suffering, starvation, and surrender of our American army in the Philippines. The blame for this failure still hangs heavily on those responsible not only for the plight of the troops stranded and deserted in the Philippines at that time, but for the deaths reported daily of our gallant men in the Pacific who must pay with their lives for this tragic mistake."

Asks Check by Congress.

Calling upon the administration to give congress an opportunity to protect American rights abroad, Brooks warned:

"The sale of these all-important air bases in Canada brings forceful evidence of what will probably happen thruout the world, and soon, unless congress acts with dispatch to prohibit the further sale of any American built base anywhere until the senate has a chance to pass upon any treaty with any foreign country in which our rights are protected and guaranteed.

"It is the duty of congress to stop immediately any further disposition or sale of these valuable and vitally important air bases built by Americans thruout the world. And it is the duty of the administration to negotiate treaties immediately with each country wherein these bases are located which will permit Americans to use and maintain these airports after the war."

BARRETT SCOFFS AT ROOSEVELT, THE 'ONLY MAN'

Vandalia, Ill., Sept. 5 [Special].—President Roosevelt is no more the "only man" to lead the nation to victory and a lasting peace than he was the "only man" who could keep the country out of war, Atty. Gen. Barrett declared this afternoon at a Fayette county Republican meeting.

With Lt. Gov. Cross and State Auditor Lueder, Barrett today began four weeks of caravan campaigning for reelection thruout downstate. From the Vandalia gathering they went on to address audiences in Fairfield and Mt. Vernon in southern Illinois.

"Mr. Roosevelt and his partisans base their whole fourth term campaign on the claim that his services are indispensable," Barrett said. "Four years ago we were told he was the only man who was expert enough to keep us out of war. Now the fourth term advocates tell us that he is the only man who can bring us victory and lasting peace."

Uses Roosevelt's Words.

Barrett assailed Roosevelt with his own words of the 1932 campaign. The President has forgotten his first term campaign utterances but they will be remembered at the ballot box Nov. 7, he said.

"Roosevelt then told the American people in Madison Square Garden: 'The genius of America is stronger than any candidate or any party. I still know that the fate of America cannot depend on any one man. The greatness of America is grounded in principles and not on any single personality. I, for one, shall remember that, even as President,'" said Barrett.

Must Rebuild Structure.

State Auditor Lueder declared the people must be kept close to post-war planning, which he said is being done by Gov. Green's administration. State Treasurer Stratton reported today that the state's general revenue fund reached an unprecedented figure of $107,718,790 as of Aug. 31, to form the core of state preparations for returning veterans.

"We must rebuild the economic structure of our nation before we will be in a position to help adequately the impoverished peoples of the world," Lueder said. "The job which lies ahead in making the blueprints for post-war America is not to be intrusted to any one man or any single group of planners or visionaries."

Tomorrow the Barrett-Lueder-Cross caravan will visit McLeansboro, West Frankfort, and Marion.

ARMY APPROVES APPOINTMENT OF MURPHY: HULL

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5 (AP).—Secretary of State Hull asserted today, in a reply to criticism, that military leaders approve the appointment of Ambassador Robert Murphy and Samuel Reber as diplomatic advisers on the staff of Gen. Eisenhower.

Murphy, now in Washington, is Eisenhower's political adviser on Germany. Reber is experienced in French affairs. Both men were used by this government in dealing with Vichy prior to the break with that regime.

Hull said at a press conference that the state department had been "pounced upon unmercifully by two or three editors" because of their new apointments. One of the criticisms was that both were identified with old French groups now distasteful to the De Gaulle leadership. Another was that they had been selected by the state department exclusively.

VOTE TO STRIKE IN 14 MORE OF U. S. COAL MINES

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 5 (AP).—With 9,000 soft coal miners in Pennsylvania and West Virginia already kept idle by walkouts of supervisory employes, foremen in 14 more pits in West Virginia and Kentucky voted today to strike for union recognition.

Results of ballots taken among supervisory workers at 20 pits were announced tonight by the National Labor Relations board district office here.

The workers are members of the United Mine Workers' affiliated United Clerical, Technical, and Supervisory union. Ballots taken at four of the 20 mines resulted in "no strike" decisions, while at two others ties were recorded.

Already the government has assumed control over 18 Pennsylvania mines which had been closed by strikes of supervisory workers.

In Washington the supervisors' union filed with the NLRB strike notices covering 41 additional coal companies. The notices call for strike votes in 30 days at 25 companies in West Virginia, 13 in Pennsylvania, and three in Alabama.

DO YOU KNOW:

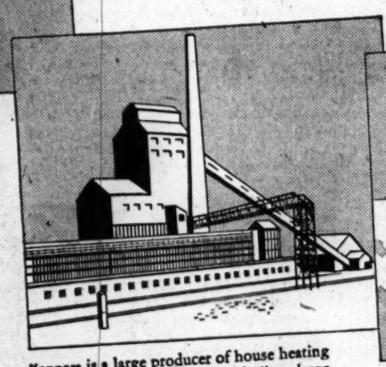
Plastics and mothballs, dyes and vitamins begin with basic products made by

KOPPERS

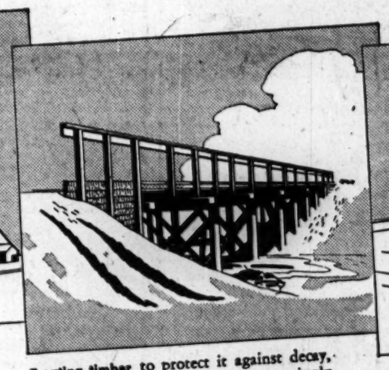
Koppers chemists are wise in the ways of coal and coal derivatives. In materials produced by Koppers, thousands of things you use every day have their beginnings. And as new methods for the recovery of additional chemicals from coal are developed, Koppers will have more and more basic materials to offer manufacturers of finished products.

There is scarcely a major industry in America, from construction and transportation to pharmaceuticals and agriculture, to which Koppers Company does not contribute today . . . and will not contribute even more importantly in the postwar period of progress and expansion. We invite you to consult us on any phase of your business in which Koppers can prove helpful. Koppers Company, Pittsburgh 19, Pa.

Important wartime improvements in piston ring design and manufacture made by Koppers, hold great promise for postwar transportation equipment.



Koppers is a large producer of house heating coke. It also has designed and built a large percentage of all the coke ovens in the United States.



Treating timber to protect it against decay, termites and marine borers is an increasingly important field in which Koppers holds an outstanding position.

To protect building structures against the elements, Koppers makes a wide variety of bituminus roofing and waterproofing materials.

450 SAIL TO SEE TRIBUNE'S BIG PAPER PLANTS

More than 450 passengers, most of them Rotary and Kiwanis club members from the middle west, left Chicago yesterday for a 12 day, 2,700 mile cruise aboard the North American of the Chicago, Duluth and Georgian Bay Transit company.

One highlight of the trip will be a tour thru THE TRIBUNE'S paper mills at Thorold, Ont. The passengers also will visit the mill's alcohol processing plant, where more than $600,000 was spent by the Tribune company in experimentation and development of a method of manufacturing alcohol for making synthetic rubber for automobile tires out of a hitherto waste product.

E. J. Goebel, general manager of the steamship line, said the ship would cruise the St. Lawrence river to the Thousand Islands. The course, he said, would also take them thru Georgian Bay and all the Great Lakes except Lake Superior. Stopovers include Mackinac Island, Mich.; Detroit, Mich.; Toronto, and Kingston, Ont., and Ogdensburg, N. Y.

DEWEY CONFERS TODAY WITH G.O.P. LEADERS IN N. Y.

Brownell Tells of Split in State's Democrats.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 5.—Gov. Dewey will arrive here tomorrow for a series of conferences with Republican leaders before leaving Thursday for Philadelphia to open his campaign for the Presidency with a speech there that night.

The G. O. P. nominee has been writing speeches for 10 days on his farm near Pawling, N. Y., for delivery on a three week nation-wide tour.

Herbert Brownell Jr., youthful chairman of the Republican national committee, told a press conference here today the organization work has been completed for a final two months of vigorous campaigning.

Brownell told the press he has some good news for the candidate about the outlook in New York.

Brownell Describes Split.

"Many New York Democrats have been alienated from their party by Sidney Hillman [CIO] and Earl Browder [Comunist ex-convict] leadership in behalf of the New Deal," said Brownell. "In a number of New York cities New Deal candidates have two campaign groups, one the Democrats and the other the CIO political action committee. This division of the opposition has worked to the advantage of the Republicans.

"Democrats and independents also have turned to the Republican party in resentment of the city boss tie up of the Democratic candidates. This applies in all states outside of the solid south. It has removed New York and Missouri from the doubtful column into the list of states sure for the Dewey-Bricker ticket.

"Sen. Truman's home state of Missouri is turning against him because the voters do not want to revive the old Pendergast gang there.

G. O. P. Unity Acclaimed.

"Since the Republican convention in Chicago, our party has achieved unity and has inspired enthusiasm among the workers. This has been of tremendous importance. State organizations have approved and have dovetailed their plans into the national committee's. We are set for full steam ahead for the next two months. We are set for victory at the polls in November."

Dewey's address in Philadelphia will be broadcast nationally. Friday night he will speak before a national convention of Federated Women's Clubs at Louisville, Ky., and also before the radio microphones. From there he will swing west on a 6,000 mile train tour that will take him back to Albany, N. Y., Sept. 28.

The final month of the campaign will be concentrated in the midwest and in New England and other Atlantic seaboard states.

Radar Hostesses

Outstanding achievement by Chicago's radar industry will be recognized in Wrigley field Sunday afternoon with presentation of a special certificate of achievement by Rear Adm. A. S. Carpender, commander of the 9th naval district. The certificate will be presented at the direction of the secretary of the navy.

Recipients will be 65 firms manufacturing electronic apparatus in the Chicago area. Each firm will be represented at the ceremony by a hostess. The firms employ more than 70,000 workers.

Five of the hostesses already have been selected. They are Cathryn Pavlou, 1217 S. Austin blvd., Cicero, of the Western Electric company; Concetta Johnson, 735 South blvd., Evanston, Electrical Research laboratories; Penny Lampa, 13354 Burley av., Muter company; Frances Buttitta, 715 N. Hamlin av., Radio Speakers, Inc., and Betty Jane Gaffney, 7248 Vernon av., Utah Radio Products company.

JOSEPH GUBBINS IS PROMOTED TO ICC SECRETARY

Appointment of Joseph F. Gubbins as secretary of the Illinois commerce commission was announced yesterday in Springfield by Gov. Green. He succeeds Frank M. Kalteux, who resigned to become chief clerk in the office of the secretary of state. Gubbins, who is 51, lives at 2049 N. La Vergne av. and has been the commission's assistant secretary for the last three years. He is Republican committeeman of the 36th ward and has been active in northwest side politics for 30 years. At one time he was president of the northwest park district.

AFL WALLPAPER WORKERS CLOSE ENTIRE INDUSTRY

Several thousand workers employed in wallpaper manufacturing companies thruout the country went on an industry-wide strike yesterday morning, it was announced by officials of the United Wallpaper Factories, which operate several plants in the Chicago area.

The workers are members of the United Wallpaper Craftsmen of North America, an AFL affiliate. They are said to have struck simultaneously thruout the nation upon instruction from union officials who for the last month have been negotiating a new contract with representatives of the Wallpaper Institute, an association controling the industry, in New York.

Company spokesmen said they understood negotiations still were in process when the strike was called. Two of the 28 points demanded in the new contract by the union which met opposition were said to be a 20 per cent wage increase and institution of the check-off system.

The AFL union has represented labor in the industry for more than 20 years. The United Wallpaper plant at 3930 Federal st. was the scene of a labor dispute last July when the CIO attempted to organize its help. This incident was settled when the company closed its plant and moved its equipment to the Fillmore street establishment.

It had to be better to enjoy such universal preference for 317 years! Nothing takes the place of satisfaction!

ESSENTIAL to the life and growth of America

Its vital root-system reaching deep into the earth, a great tree receives the nourishment essential to maintain life and sturdy growth.

So too does the American way of life depend upon the huge network of railroads which developed the resources of the nation, moving on through great agricultural and industrial areas, carrying the essentials of America's life and growth.

Of this network, 8,000 miles are the ROCK ISLAND LINES. Here are 8,000 miles of well-kept steel highways which draw from the resources of 14 middle-western states. ROCK ISLAND helped to bring growth and success to that vital area, at the same time serving the entire nation through interchange of traffic to all points.

Essential in the early building of our nation—vital today in moving steady streams of war supplies—ROCK ISLAND LINES will have a big job to do in the future, too.

When America's chief concern is the building of the peace, ROCK ISLAND'S responsibility will be the moving of the essentials to another period of American prosperity.

As yesterday—and today—so tomorrow ROCK ISLAND'S sole purpose is to provide the finest in transportation.

SEN. TRUMAN STATES ANOTHER ISSUE.

Sen. Truman, who is Sidney Hillman's and the Hannegan-Hague-Kelly gang's idea of an adequate substitute for Mr. Roosevelt, would be under a sufficient handicap in this campaign if he never said a word. He would still have to live down the sponsorship of himself by Boss Pendergast, the exorbitant mortgage loan made out of public school funds on his mother's farm by the public body of which he was a former member, his wife's collection of salary and overtime for a secretarial job that required little, if any, of her time, and sundry other skeletons.

But the senator also talks. His first venture was to make Pearl Harbor an issue in the campaign by his unfair attack on Adm. Kimmel. He and his sponsor in the White House haven't seen fit as yet to tell the truth about Pearl Harbor, but they will have to do it before the campaign is over or stand convicted before the American people of deception and of concealment of fact for political purposes.

His "experience" speech in accepting the nomination betrayed the fact that Roosevelt's trip to Hawaii and Alaska with an "experienced captain" was a political trip, and the Bremerton "report" on the journey a political speech.

At Detroit on Monday Sen. Truman made another issue for the Republicans, the issue of Roosevelt's notorious failure to cure peace time unemployment.

The senator charged that the Republican party is committed to the policy which he alleged was followed after the last war. At that time, he asserted, war plants were junked at the behest of "big business" in order to "strangle competition." To begin with, the senator is off base on his facts. The government in the last war did not invest in war plants on anywhere near the scale that it has invested in this one. So there weren't many plants to be junked at the behest of big business or any one else. Most of the government investments were in powder plants and shipyards. There weren't enough quail and ducks in the country to keep powder making at the war time rate and we had more ships than we knew what to do with.

The same thing is going to happen to the same types of plants after this war that happened after the last one, and neither Sen. Truman nor any one else can do anything to prevent it. Ammunition plants naturally will have to be shut down. We will have from 30 to 50 million tons of shipping, including the vast majority of the good, fast merchant ships in the world, and even if the most ambitious plans for building up the merchant marine are carried out the principal use of the shipyards will be the breaking up of the less efficient ships for scrap.

Leaving aside the senator's fraudulent references to nonexistent experiences of the last war, what does he propose to do with the present government owned war plants that have equipment suitable to peace time use? Sen. Truman doesn't make his proposals clear. The Democrats, he says, are determined that the plants shall find a place in the peace time economy. So is every one else in the country, including the Republican party.

Assuming that he is not yet so brazen as to propose that the government embark on national socialism and operate the plants in competition with private industry, paying out of taxes the deficits that will accrue from political management, the only way that the war plants can be geared into the national economy is to sell them to men with sufficient enterprise and ability to use them in making useful articles and providing jobs.

The opportunity to sell the plants and keep them running depends on the opportunity to make a profit in their operation. It depends on reversal of the present ruinous tax policy which is one of the fundamentals of the New Deal. It depends on abandonment of the scarcity economics that have been another fundamental of the New Deal. It depends primarily on driving the New Deal out of Washington and installing an administration that will give American industry a fair opportunity to make jobs for American workers.

The Republican party, Sen. Truman asserted, promised only that it would "try to prevail on industry to keep you safe in your job." The Republican program, of course, extends further than this, but the senator hit on the only way that jobs have ever been made or ever will be made in this country. American industry doesn't have to be "prevailed upon" to make jobs. It has to be given a chance to make jobs. And industry alone can make jobs.

What else does Sen. Truman offer? There is only one other thing to offer and that is the only thing that the Roosevelt administration ever offered thruout the depression that it prolonged so successfully for its own political benefit—the dole. The WPA, with its millions of workers withdrawn from the national economy both as producers and consumers, living on the dole and subjected to the bullying and intimidation of Democratic precinct captains, is the alternative to jobs thru industry.

Sen. Truman to date is campaigning on the issues of Pearl Harbor and the return of the WPA. The Republicans should be grateful for his assistance.

THE LYONS CAMPAIGN.

Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee for United States senator, has been doing an able job of puncturing the indispensable man myth and the "win the war" claims of the New Dealers. At the Will county fair in Peotone he called attention to the "clever emphasis on experience" in Mr. Roosevelt's recent talk at Bremerton, Wash., navy yard, which, along with the 20 million dollar Pacific cruise that preceded it, the New Dealers would like to have people believe was nonpolitical.

He told a Hinckley homecoming throng that the New Deal's boast that the Roosevelt administration is winning the war is an affront to American fighting men and to American industry. He said that America is winning the war because it has the bravest and finest fighters and because they are supplied abundantly with the world's best weapons, produced by American industry under the system of free enterprise. The life of a community such as Hinckley, he said, is just the type of society "challenged by the New Deal's plans for a federalized, centralized, and regimented America."

Thinking people in Illinois, and in the rest of the nation, too, know what they will be up against if the New Dealers are returned to power for four more years. That is why the voters are going to elect men like Richard J. Lyons, who will help them to preserve a republic and an American way of life in this country. We shall win this war, no matter who is elected President, and the New Dealers' boasts that they are responsible for the victory are specious. The campaigns in which the New Deal politicians have been conspicuous are the ones to destroy representative government in America and set up the New Deal brand of collectivism.

HOW TO KEEP WAR PRODUCTION GOING.

The astonishing pace of American victories in France has repercussions on this side of the Atlantic which the army, among others, has been quick to note. Gen. Eisenhower's report of the losses inflicted on the German armies was accompanied by a warning by Lt. Gen. Somervell that war plants must be kept going full blast to replace the equipment used in winning battles.

Appeals, largely unnecessary, have been made to the patriotism of war workers, and more may be expected. The army, on apparently sound evidence, has been identified in the popular mind in recent months as the leading opponent of immediate reconversion of industry to peace time manufacture.

These tactics have been ineffective, and they will become less effective as victory draws nearer and it becomes evident that a sharp cut in war production cannot be avoided. They are ineffective because they are designed to treat the symptoms and ignore the disease. Worse, they tend to aggravate the disease.

Decreased war production is only a symptom. In some isolated cases it flows from attempts by selfish and short sighted union leaders to make present jobs last longer by slowdowns and informal limitation of production. These are a minor evil, and can be dealt with fairly easily. The more alarming symptom is the tendency of war workers to quit jobs that they fear will end soon, in order to get jobs that will last.

The disease is fear of post-war unemployment. That fear is being stimulated for political purposes. In the early days of the OPA Leon Henderson and his red hots used to whisper that shortages impended in some particular item. When a buying rush was started by their whispers they had an excuse to impose rationing, which was what they had been after from the beginning. Shoe rationing was a fine example.

The New Dealers are building up fear of post-war unemployment in an attempt to hold on to the controls that they now have over industry. Their story is that unless they are permitted to plan the country's peace time economy we shall have another depression. As a matter of fact, the only thing that can inflict such a depression on the country is the continuance of controls that prevent industry from making jobs.

Fear is the disease, fear that there won't be enough jobs to go around when the war plants close. If war workers are convinced that there will be enough jobs, they obviously won't desert higher paid munitions jobs in order to go to work for less money in nonessential and civilian supply industry. It's scarcity that makes the latter jobs desirable, or at least the illusion of scarcity that the New Dealers are building up.

The way to kill this fear is to let reconversion really get started. This doesn't mean that plants necessarily have to start making peace time products at once. There are many things that must be done before such production can be started on a national scale, things that can be done while the plants are still engaged in war production.

The first step is to take the lid off experimental work on new products. Give the industrial laboratories and experimental shops all the raw materials and man power they need. Both can be spared now.

Present production lines can't be torn out until war orders are finished, but the machine tools needed to reconvert them to peace time production can be made in the meantime. The nation is tooled for war, and the number of replacements necessary for war plants is well below the production capacity of the tool industry. Let it accept and execute peace time orders. Make materials available for this purpose. Such orders should have priority over lend-lease. There is scant chance that the tools we send to any of our allies in the European fighting from now on are going to arrive in time to contribute to victory.

The tapering off of war production is going to present problems even if the wisest measures are taken to deal with it. It is not going to be catastrophic, however, unless the New Dealers are allowed to make it a catastrophe by blocking reconversion.

By Dr. George W. Crane

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers below.

1. If wrinkles or furrows indicate old age, the seed of which one of the following would look like an octogenarian?
   Pear Cherry Grape Peach.
2. A goiter refers to an enlargement of which gland?
   Pancreas Liver Thyroid Spleen.
3. Which one of the following is the poorest argument for the use of soap in dishwater?
   Cuts grease faster Removes dirt easier Germicide Neutralizes acids.
4. In swimming the fastest racing stroke is the Breast Back Crawl Side.
5. Caviar should make one think of which one of these political candidates?
   Roosevelt Dewey Bricker Truman.
6. Introverts and extroverts represent the two extremes of personality as regards sociability. The introvert, from habitually dealing with inanimate objects, tends to be less attentive to social demands. Most people fall into the middle category, termed the "ambivert" group. You can roughly measure people in this regard by noticing how they respond when you exclaim, "Hello, how are you?" Try to indicate the responses of the five persons named in the left hand column below. Try this test on your office associates, for it measures tact or diplomacy.

	"Fine."	"Fine, thank you."	"Fine, thank you, how are you?"
Average housewife..	—	—	—
Chemical engineer..	—	—	—
Bookkeeper	—	—	—
Salesman	—	—	—
Politician	—	—	—

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

[Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.: Copyright: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ANSWERS.

1. Peach. 2. Thyroid. 3. Neutralizes acids. 4. Crawl. 5. Roosevelt, tho he says he has now given it up as his sacrifice to the war effort. 6. Engineer and bookkeeper say "fine." Housewife replies, "fine, thank you." The salesman and politician answer, "fine, thank you, how are you?"

A VOICE FROM WATERLOO.

Four times—twice in the other World war and twice in this—the monstrous tides of modern militarism have swept around the battlefield of Waterloo in Belgium without harming it or paying any attention to it. Advancing and fleeing armies, winning and losing generals, and the correspondents of many nations apparently have felt that the scene of Waterloo is hardly worth a nod. But it would be a great date line of a dispatch at this time.

The terrain holds three places from which messages might appropriately be sent: Waterloo, La Belle Alliance, and Mont St. Jean. They have provided names for the battle in three languages—Waterloo in English, Belle Alliance in German, and Mont St. Jean in French. The name most suited to the occasion is Mont St. Jean, copiously used in "Les Miserables."

Waterloo is a village several miles back of Wellington's position. It had been his headquarters the night before, and his custom was to date line dispatches from such places. The village saw none of the fighting.

Belle Alliance, a farmhouse, was in the center of the French position, and there Napoleon established battle headquarters. There, too, Blücher and Wellington met to plan the pursuit of the disorganized French army. Blücher date lined his announcement of victory from La Belle Alliance, and thus its name was adopted by Prussian military historians. Mont St. Jean is a village on the ridge, along the crest of which Wellington took his stand. The battle was fought out there until the Prussian arrival.

The field has been altered by the erection of earth pyramids. The sunken road of Ohain [see "Les Miserables"] was shoveled out to make a mound 148 feet high, on which stands the Lion of Waterloo. There are two other mounds, memorializing the Hanoverian troops in the English army and a Col. Gordon. Near La Belle Alliance, now an inn, is the French monument—an eagle with shattered wings. Near the village of Placenoit, where Blücher's army gored the French flank, is the Prussian monument.

THE STAY-AT-HOME.

They told her of their trips, and did not see
She saw more beauty in a single tree
Than they had found in any snow-capped crest,
Or on a distant sea of amethyst;
To her the trees were clothed in patterned lace,
And she had seen them sway with matchless grace;
She knew their quiet pools of velvet shade,
Had watched while thru their branches stars had strayed
As lightly as a tiptoe, summer breeze—
She was akin to stars, to skies, and trees;
She did not need to hunt the rainbow's end,
She walked with loveliness as with a friend.

Wild Life in Town.

One marvels at the ability of our small furred and feathered friends to adapt their simple lives to the mechanized civilization of a great city. Their adaptability is most apparent at feeding time.

Portly-bosomed pigeons strut their stuff before vending machines on "L" platforms, foraging for fumbled peanuts or encouraging riders to share their penny purchases.

Red-waistcoated robins, heads cocked knowingly, hop around while janitors sprinkle their two-by-four, concrete-hedged-in lawns. The wetting down operation simplifies the problem of worm excavating.

All winter long a little hobo squirrel clambers up the tapestry brick wall of our apartment as easily as tho it were the trunk of a tree, to scratch at our window for walnut handouts. He doesn't abuse a good thing, however, because we never see him during the summer months.

But the strangest practice of all is that of a flock of sparrows perched high on a telephone pole near a bus station. The sparrows sense the exact instant of arrival of the next out of town bus. Before the road behemoth rumbles to a stop they swoop down in a feathered cloud upon windshield and radiator grill. Unmindful of the noise and confusion of the bus station, they dine luxuriously on the insects which have been collected and dissected for them from all over the countryside.

Resourceful little friends! Hig.

You are eligible. Persons making application for discharge by reason of dependency are not in the same category as those applying for discharge by reason of over-age to reenter private employment. Fill out the form we are sending, and submit it together with your original discharge certificate.

A. M. asks: "Are there any restrictions in the G. I. law as to the type of business one can get a loan to get into?"

The law does not set up any specific restrictions except that the veterans' administration must determine "that the ability and experience of the veteran and the conditions under which he proposes to pursue such an occupation are such that there is reasonable likelihood that he will be successful . . ." Under the act, however, the administrator is empowered to promulgate such rules and regulations as necessary, hence any restrictions will be found in these instructions when they are officially released.

JAUNDICE FROM PROTECTIVE SERUM.

THE plan of using convalescent serum from adults to safeguard our children against mumps, measles, etc., has met with considerable success. Numerous cases have been cited wherein immunity has been conferred. If the child develops the disorder after exposure, the attack is usually mild.

But a word of caution should be uttered. In a few instances, 60 to 90 days after inoculation, a peculiar form of inflammation of the liver has been exhibited.

A recent report from a British hospital gives us pause. The staff administered to 266 patients, injections of convalescent plasma obtained from those who had recovered from mumps. In 101 of these individuals, there occurred the same type of liver disease, accompanied by jaundice, which has resulted from attempts to immunize against measles and yellow fever. Now and then a similar condition will be observed subsequent to a transfusion.

What is the toxic agent and how is it conveyed? It appears almost certain that the blood of some persons, who apparently are perfectly well, may contain a virus which takes a long time to mature but which sooner or later will damage liver cells. It probably is not the infection which we have heretofore encountered and which has been labeled "epidemic jaundice."

For the most part, the complication is mild. On the other hand, as many of us have cause to remember, army vaccinations employed against yellow fever a few years ago resulted in a score or more of deaths.

The history is described of a 19 year old lad who had been exposed to mumps. Plasma from a recovered case was utilized. About three months later, appetite suddenly departed, the urine became dark, and he complained of dizziness. Within two or three days, the skin was definitely yellow and lymph glands in various parts of the body were enlarged. The hepatic organ was swollen and he was extremely uncomfortable. He was confined to the hospital for approximately a week, after which he went home.

As a rule, these reactions are not characterized by high fever but the sufferers are grossly fatigued. They seem to crave sleep and present the typical signs of indigestion. Skin rashes may be observed and peeling of the cuticle may follow the absorption of bile.

Only a small number of those who receive this material will be seriously ill. But even with this group, the amount of degeneration is important enough not to be overlooked. Obviously, it is unsafe to recommend the procedure for every one. In another series of 23 persons, one woman experienced liver trouble. Dark urine was the first symptom noted. Later, constipation, loss of appetite, skin rashes, and pains in the joints ensued.

It would seem safer, in protecting our youngsters, to use serum from other children rather than from grownups. There is less likelihood of the transmission of a virus which has a special affinity for liver cells.

EDEMA OF LEGS.

W. R. writes: My legs are swollen. When I push the skin with my fingers, holes or dents remain in the flesh for a while. What does this mean?

REPLY.

Water has accumulated beneath the skin. Several possibilities will need investigation, including the power of the heart, the state of the kidneys, and dietary balance. Lack of protein may be responsible.

ELECTRIC TREATMENT.

W. C. writes: Do you recommend diathermy for tonsil removal? Has this plan been adopted by experts?

REPLY.

Rarely if ever advised. There is too much danger that infection will be sealed deeply within the tissues by the cooking process. Unfortunately, germs are likely to disport themselves with glee when they are hidden. I am sure that your local throat specialist will corroborate.

WITHERED.

K. G. writes: Recently you stated that precocious children are subject to mental disturbances. What can be done to prevent such a condition?

REPLY.

Overstimulation is likely to burn out the nervous system. Both parents and offspring need to acquire equanimity.

EYE DEFECT.

D. G. writes: What is astigmatism?

REPLY.

Defective curvature of the surfaces of the eye. In consequence rays of light cannot be focused sharply on the retina.

History Does Not Quite Repeat.

Twenty-six years ago today, a day memorable only as the sixth day of the ninth month of the Gregorian calendar, the German forces were in retreat from Soissons to the North sea, the United States had just formally recognized Czechoslovakia as a co-belligerent, Austria-Hungary and Turkey, altho still in the war, were battle weary and limp with strange murmurings, and the first whisper of revolution in Bulgaria had bombed a wing of the royal palace in Sofia.

Occasional German newspapers made daring suggestions. The Arbiter Zeitung suggested that the reichstag be convened and a Socialist made minister of the empire; that Germany renounce all territorial annexations, declare for the freedom of Belgium, and announce its readiness to enter a league of nations committed to disarmament. The Augsburger Zeitung said: "A renunciatory peace is better than prolongation of the war for a single year. . . . Germany must make concessions if she wants the war to end before the whole of European culture is annihilated."

But Count von Hertling, the German imperial chancelor, snorted:

"The army command regards the military situation with complete calm and confidence, even if it has been obliged for strategical reasons to withdraw our lines at several points. Our glorious troops will continue to beat back the onset of the enemy armies, and our adversaries perceive they cannot destroy us."

America had just observed its first gasless Sunday, and 13 million American men between the ages of 18 and 21 and 31 and 45 were preparing to register in the victory draft. In Chicago, "Crashing Thru to Berlin [in war's hellish crater]" was opening at the Auditorium, and Cecil B. De Mille's "war play without the horrors of war," "'Til I Come Back to You," was showing at the Ziegfield. The board of education had voted to discontinue the teaching of all modern languages in the elementary schools, attendance at German classes having fallen off from 17,674 in 1915 to 1,246 in 1918.

In France that extraordinary taxi army had just bucked and honked into battle. A new prisoner count revealed that 128,000 Germans had been taken on the western front in the previous six weeks and 78,900 on the French front. Lloyd George was pontificating about the "beginning of the end of German militarism," and a woman in Moscow had shot and wounded Nikolai Lenin, Bolshevik premier of Russia. A night raid on Cologne by a lone and daring allied airman commanded front page attention. He had dropped two bombs and seen a red flame dart up.

In Arizona the Yaqui Indians were revolting, and in Washington congress had prohibited the manufacture of beer and other malt liquor after Dec. 1 as a war time measure. A "mole coatee," ranging in price from $185 to $400, was billed as a charming and admirable wrap for a lady's wardrobe; men's high lace shoes averaged $8.50 a pair, and the daily paper contained nine columns of situations wanted [male] and eight pages of help wanted [male or female]. A war correspondent on the western front warned the people at home to beware of false optimism; the German lines would hold out until spring.

Lloyd George made another speech, saying that bullets were silver as well as lead, so buy bonds, and 30,000 workers in the Krupp munition works mutinied and were sent to the German front. There was a rumor that Von Hindenburg had committed suicide, that the British fleet had destroyed Heligoland, and that the entire German army was coming over to the Anglo-French side. The Italians were in Albania, and the first mutinous ship in the German navy had buckled itself into port.

There were many straws in the wind then similar to those in the wind today, but there was one marked difference, and don't let any one persuade you otherwise: You could rent a room, an apartment, or a house in any section of Chicago, and could find five pages of proof and variety in your newspaper!

WHAT FULL EMPLOYMENT REQUIRES.

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 23.—Astute radical and collectivist propagandists have hung a noose for the business men and too many are sticking their necks into it. The noose is labeled: "Full Employment . . . Or Else!" A good many industrial leaders say, "Yes, that's right. It's either that—or else. We must assume responsibility for full employment—or else."

They do this without proviso or condition. If then, in the post-war year, we have unemployment, they are without a defense which they can assert in the court of public opinion. The radicals will say, "You promised full employment. You have defaulted in that promise. The state will now take over."

What industry should say is: "We will employ men if you, government, do so and so and so." Then state the half dozen basic prerequisites which government must perform, and add that "If these things are not done, we cannot and do not accept responsibility for 'full employment.'" Business would then have a defense if indicted for nonperformance. Meantime, right now and continuously for the next 10 years, business should make its position clear to those potential future jurors, the workers, stockholders, customers, voters.

What this country needs desperately is public education and understanding of the basic conditions under which free enterprise can live, grow, expand, and provide jobs, and, on the other hand, what makes it wither and die. These truths must be taught. They are not hard to state. They can be embodied in company advertising, primarily in newspapers, in radio programs, pay envelope slips, and taught from the public platform.

The thrifty, hard working, tax paying Americans are still a vast majority. They don't want their sons to be compelled to live under national socialism at home after crushing it abroad, which is exactly what "full employment" by the state means. They will insist on a favorable climate for private enterprise, if they know what is needed. They have the votes.

SAFETY FOR BUS PASSENGERS.

Chicago, Aug. 31. — The bus driver's plea in THE TRIBUNE Aug. 28 should be a warning to public officials to do something about overloaded buses and the driver's obstructed vision before another serious accident is recorded.

The establishment of floor line regulations or the providing of a barrier to keep the passengers behind the driver was the subject of a letter I wrote to Gov. Green. His reply quoted the law that forbids passengers to obstruct the driver's view, but which is incapable of satisfactory enforcement. Therefore it is imperative that legislation be proposed and adopted for the safety of bus passengers.

THE GREEKS TRIED IT ONCE.

Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 1.—If we continue to engage in all the wars in Europe we will be as poor as the people of India and China, and eventually our sovereignty will be lost. We can't continue to maintain peace by armed force without receiving adequate compensation. Therefore, this writer suggests war risk insurance for the smaller, unarmed nations. If we maintain an army, navy, and air force second to none, we could then insure other nations against invasion and revolution. What these other nations would save by not having to maintain an army and navy would pay the United States a sufficient premium to maintain our armed forces. After this war we would be in a position to insure all the other nations in Europe and the east against the ravages of war. We could do this on a nonprofit basis, as a friendly gesture of a big sister nation. This is a new method to perpetuate peace. Why not give it a try?

"OUR AIR RIGHTS IN CANADA."

Chicago, Sept. 1.—I would like to express a few personal Canadian viewpoints about the editorial, "Our Air Rights in Canada," which appeared Monday. Canadians have always held the United States in the greatest esteem and to suggest that Canada would take advantage of her air rights by "sealing off commercial air traffic to the United States" is fantastic. Canada has no imperialistic aims.

Naturally, the United States has every right to be protected by a treaty, but every Canadian should feel most indignant at the accusation that we could "grant rights of transit to foreign air lines and deny them to us [the United States] in a way that would cripple the American aviation."

We admit our mistakes in the past and our struggle for a better future, but Canada is not quite that immature in reasoning and in world justice.

BIDDLE'S ACTION AGAINST THE RAILROADS.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 28.—I have read about the suit filed by Atty. Gen. Biddle against the railroads under the anti-trust act. Any one familiar with the operation of railroads knows that all their acts are controled by the interstate commerce commission, and that they cannot make any change in rates, rules, or regulations without permission and that the ICC was established by an act of congress which clearly defines its authority. Common sense would dictate that Atty. Gen. Biddle go to congress and have the act revised. This action against the railroads is prima facie evidence that the New Deal is a law unto itself and places itself above congress.

DEMOCRAT FINDS SWING TO DEWEY IN MINNESOTA

Resentment of Red Power in Party Related.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Moorhead, Minn., Sept. 5.—John E. Regan of Mankato, three times Democratic nominee for high office in Minnesota, reported today that he is meeting with excellent results in organizing Dewey-Bricker all party committees in the state. He has been touring counties in this northwest part of the state and has been expounding to Democrats that the only way to reclaim the Democratic party is to purge it of communistic control by a whacking defeat in Minnesota in November. Regan is planning to open a state headquarters for the movement in the twin cities or Duluth.

Old line Democrats and conservative farmer-laborites are reported heading in numbers to the G. O. P. Elections in recent years have demonstrated the swing.

Sponsored by Wallace.

The fusion this year of the Democrats with the Farmer-Labor party into the hyphenated Democrat-Farmer-Labor party, has been productive of strife. The merger was engineered by Elmer Benson, former F-L governer, who was beaten by Harold Stassen in 1938 when the Farmer-Labor party was shelved by an uprising of Minnesota voters because of its communistic taint. The amalgamation was sponsored by Vice President Wallace and other New Deal emissaries from Washington. Benson is now on Sidney Hillman's national citizens' political action committee.

Among some old line Democrats the fusion is sometimes referred to as a kidnaping expedition. Others say they have been sold down river. One political expert figures that 20,000 old line Democrats may vote Republican this year.

Under "Communistic Rule."

Mr. Regan, who was Democratic nominee for governor in 1932 and 1934 and for senator in 1940, said over long distance from Mankato today that his fight in behalf of Dewey-Bricker, is for preservation of the Democratic party. At the Democratic national convention in Chicago, as a spectator, he says he became convinced that the party is under Communist control.

"The Democrats of the northwest will never accept this communistic set-up," he said. "As long as this communistic group is in the saddle, there will be no Democratic party. Democrats must first get rid of the Communists, if the party is to be preserved. They must be defeated so thoroly that real Democrats can rebuild from the ground up.

"No Democratic Party."

"We now have no Democratic party in Minnesota. The Democrat-Farmer-Labor party does not represent either Minnesota Democrats or the Farmer-Laborites. It was manipulated to bring in the red element.

"The rank and file of the Farmer-Labor movement resents this radical usurpation as much as we old line Democrats. I believe they will turn from the New Deal to support the Dewey-Bricker ticket. Dewey, I believe, is a true American."

Rural Minnesota is in a state of revolt against the New Deal. Talks with Minnesota folks on the train from St. Paul here, brought out criticism, especially of farm subsidies, bungling by burocrats in Washington, regimentation of agriculture, red tape, the OPA and price ceilings on farm products cropped up as chief causes of grass root grumbles.

THE QUESTION.

Why did you leave your home town and come to Chicago?

WHERE ASKED.

The Evangeline Residence club, 51 W. Delaware pl.

THE ANSWERS.

Peggy McTavish, keypunch operator, 51 W. Delaware pl.—Because of the war I decided now would be a good chance to come here and make something of myself. My home town is too small. I wanted to get a taste of a big city and see some of the sights in Chicago. If I can't succeed here, I never could anywhere.

Georgia Waller, typist, 51 W. Delaware pl.—I left St. Louis to prove to myself that I could take care of myself and make good on my own. I'm the youngest of a large family and they all amounted to something and I want to, too. After I'm satisfied with the results, I may go home. But I like Chicago and wouldn't mind living here.

Betty Broo, cashier, Greentown, Ind.—When I first left home I was doing housework and came here because the wages were higher. Then I decided I wanted to be a foreign missionary. This city offers the best opportunity for me to study and pursue my chosen field. It would probably be hard for me to go back to a small town now.

Barbara Uran, clerk, 51 W. Delaware pl.—The government offered me a good civil service job in Chicago so I accepted it immediately. I'd always wanted to come here because I'd heard so much about it. I wanted to see State st., Buckingham fountain, and all the places of interest that I'd heard about. I'm glad I came.

Pat Merline, keypunch operator, 51 W. Delaware pl.—There's more chance for advancement in Chicago than in my home town. I wanted to live in a big city, especially Chicago. I wanted to see the ballrooms and listen to all the big name bands and see the celebrities. Salaries in a small town aren't as high as they are here.

Rose Ann Klooster, cadet nurse, 51 W. Delaware pl.—I've always dreamed of being a nurse and to carry out my ambitions I came here because of the opportunities that are offered to any one interested in nursing. Then, too, I wanted to get some of the thrills of a big city. At times things get awfully dull in a small town.

SEALY COTTON MATTRESS

- air woven cotton makes it buoyant
- simple sunlight keeps it buoyant

Why is buoyancy so important in a mattress? Because buoyancy means cushiony comfort that helps you relax. It means a good night's rest. It means sleeping without sinking into a hollow. Every Sealy mattress has buoyancy . . . every Sealy mattress keeps it. And that means lasting comfort in cotton! See our Sealy tuftless mattresses today . . . three prices to choose from, $39.50; $49.50; $59.50. Three resilient box springs to match!

SEALY COMFORT STORY

only staple cotton . . . long fibered Texas cotton is used in all Sealy mattresses. Each sturdy fiber has a resilience that lasts.

blown like snow . . . this wonderful, lively cotton is blown—at high speed—like snow into a huge form.

woven by air . . . after the cotton is blown into the form, air pressure tosses and tumbles it. Finally it's lightly but securely woven together.

renewed by sunshine . . . from time to time, just by exposing a Sealy mattress to sunlight for a day, it will puff up like new—all because of the lively, long fibered cotton that's in it.

tuftless for more comfort . . . these Sealy mattresses are tuftless for added sleeping comfort. No buttons to catch you. No sagging . . . no lumping.

If you can't come in, telephone State 1000, Local 501.

An amount will be added to quoted prices of all our merchandise to cover additional expense due to the Illinois Retailers' Occupation Tax.

BRANDS TRUMAN PLEA A BID FOR DICTATORSHIP

Edge Flays Stress Put on 'Indispensable Man.'

New York, Sept. 5 (AP).—Gov. Edge of New Jersey charged tonight that the stress laid by Sen. Truman, Democratic Vice Presidential nominee, on experienced leadership as a reason for reelecting President Roosevelt was "a clear bid for a dictatorship, the indispensable man."

Edge and Republican Governors Langlie of Washington and Kelly of Michigan said in radio address that the election of Gov. Dewey as President would unite the nation for the post-war period.

Last of Series.

The addresses over the Mutual Broadcasting system were the last of a series of three nationwide broadcasts to set the stage for the first major address by Dewey, Republican Presidential nominee, at Philadelphia, Pa., Thursday night.

"Which of the candidates is better fitted for that task?" Edge asked. "A fourth term aspirant who, in all fairness, has failed signally to meet and solve our domestic economic difficulties or a vigorous young executive who has successfully governed a great state and will demonstrate his grasp of foreign affairs—and without previous commitments or possible embarrassing connections?"

Spread Hate Doctrine.

Edge, speaking from Atlantic City, N. J., said the next President would be confronted with a preponderance of peace-time problems and "we should vote for a President on that basis, not as commander in chief."

Gov. Kelly, speaking from Lansing, Mich., said the present national administration was "a political administration in every sense of the word."

"In its desire for power and perpetuation in office it has not hesitated to divide the American people or condone the actions of others who spread the doctrine of hate, breaking the great American family into selfish, bickering groups," Kelly said.

Encourages Selfish Power.

"This encouragement of selfish group power has advanced to that point where many Democrats in this state and other states are joining with Republicans in calling upon Thomas E. Dewey to bring to an end domination by selfish power interests and to unite the people for the post-war day."

Gov. Langlie, speaking from Olympia, Wash., said the New Deal "has passed the prime of its vitality."

"It has insulated itself from the people by an ever groping tier of bureaus," he said. "There is a feeling on every hand that our national government is no longer of the people. Four more years of this trend would place a disheartening damper upon our hope for a more bounteous life."

"Wouldn't he rather come back to the home he remembers? If we keep this up, he won't even recognize the place!"

BROTHER OF BOY ELECTROCUTED VICTIM OF POLIO

Thomas Hibben, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Hibben of 1000 Wagner rd., Glenview, whose brother, Ward, 5, was electrocuted Aug. 4, died Sunday of infantile paralysis. The child became ill Saturday, and was taken to the Evanston hospital.

Thomas and Ward Hibben were playing together in their father's horse lot last month when Ward was killed. He touched an electrified fence while standing in a water trough. Their father is a former investment bank office manager on leave with the Chicago quartermaster price adjustment district office.

Two new cases of infantile paralysis, including the Hibben boy's death, were reported over the week-end in Cook county outside of Chicago. There have been 41 cases, with two deaths, in the county this year. Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, said no cases were reported in Chicago since Friday. There have been 75 cases and two deaths in the city this year, compared with 467 cases and 47 deaths reported to Sept. 5 last year.

STRAUS ESTATE IS ESTIMATED AT $1,707,124

David Straus, who was chairman of Straus & Schram, furniture company, left an estate of $1,707,124, it was estimated in the inheritance tax appraisement filed yesterday in County court. He died Sept. 5, 1943, and his will divided the bulk of the estate among six nieces, two nephews, one grand-nephew and four relatives of his widow, Estelle, who was provided for independently of the will. The federal estate tax was estimated at $507,127, and the Illinois inheritance tax at $103,135.

Burial of Tom Y. Chan Refused by Rosehill

Tom Y. Chan, for 37 years a business leader in Chicago's Chinatown, who died Sunday in Wesley Memorial hospital, will not be buried in Rosehill cemetery, where his first wife was put to rest. E. A. Henning, assistant manager of the cemetery, said the Chinese-American was refused burial at Rosehill because "the board of management has sold lots only to white people since 1925."

WALTER ECKERT, ATTORNEY HERE SINCE 1903, DIES

Death Occurs in His Hinsdale Home.

Walter H. Eckert, 64, of 231 E. 3d st., Hinsdale, senior member of the law firm of Eckert & Peterson, 135 S. La Salle st., died yesterday at his home.

A native of Woodstock, he was educated in the public schools of Woodstock and was graduated from Northwestern university.

He was admitted to the bar in 1903, and had practiced in Chicago since that time, acquiring prominence in the fields of corporation and insurance law. The firm of Eckert & Peterson was established in 1923.

In 1933, he served as a vice president of the Chicago Bar association.

He was a member of the Chicago Athletic association, the Mid-Day club, the Hinsdale Golf club, and the Bankers club of New York.

He is survived by his widow, the former Georgia Cooper, whom he married in 1907; a daughter, Mrs. Jane Eckert Dawson; his mother, Mrs. Bertha Eckert, and a sister, Miss Lillian Eckert.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

THREE ROBBERS ADMIT HURLING VICTIM IN RIVER

Three young Negroes, who admitted stabbing and beating a man until they thought he was dead and then throwing him into the Calumet river, were in custody of Indiana Harbor police yesterday facing charges ranging from robbery and assault with intent to kill to federal charges of crossing state lines with a stolen automobile and kidnaping.

Their victim, George Rothenberger, 51, of 15128 Vine av., Harvey, was attacked on June 30 after the trio had driven him in his own car to the river near Chicago Heights. He was thrown into the water and left for dead but he crawled to a near-by highway where a motorist found him.

On Monday Indiana Harbor police arrested Clarence Stevenson, 25, of 1140 Washburne av., and William Davis, 22, of 623 Oakwood blvd., when it was found they were driving Rothenberger's car. Stevenson confessed and implicated Davis and Luther Robinson, 26, of 14838 Hoyne av., Harvey, who was arrested yesterday.

KILLS HIMSELF BEFORE SHRINE TO DEAD WIFE

After building a tiny shrine in which he placed a picture of his wife, who died a year ago, Orazio Folisi, 74, a shipping clerk, shot and killed himself in the bedroom of his home at 2319 Kenmore av. A .38 caliber revolver was found at his side.

A note pinned near the shrine said: "I can't carry on without my wife. Life is no longer worth living with her gone from my side." Folisi's wife, Eleanor, died a year ago after an illness.

GREEN ASSURES LABOR OF HELP IN PEACE SLUMP

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 5 [Special].—Gov. Green told a group of Illinois labor leaders in a radio broadcast at the executive mansion tonight that the state's cash surplus, now grown to more than 400 million dollars, will furnish employment for many workers during the post-war reconversion period.

Gov. Green reported the Illinois unemployment compensation reserve fund has been built up to 425 million dollars as compared with 109 million at the beginning of 1941, and pointed out that this fund would do much to absorb the shocks of post-war unemployment.

Tonight's meeting was the first of a series of weekly conferences at the executive mansion between the governor and representative Illinois citizens to consider problems of all groups which make up the civic, business, industrial and agricultural life of the state.

WGN Carries Discussion.

Problems of war veterans will be discussed with representative citizens next Tuesday evening and conferences on Tuesday evenings to follow will take up agriculture, business, home owners and housewives. The discussions are being broadcast over radio station W-G-N and a hook-up of 15 downstate radio stations.

The governor outlined to the labor leaders the programs of the Illinois post-war planning commission and other state agencies working on post-war employment problems. He charged that officials in Washington, D. C., are exploiting labor and other groups by vain promises while failing to make constructive plans. Green assured the union representatives that the "state administration would continue its efforts to provide pay rolls instead of relief roles."

Post-War Plans Ready.

"Your state administration in Illinois is not waiting until after the war to prepare for meeting readjustment and economic problems. Our plans are ready now.

"Under the guidance of our post-war planning commission, every force of the state government has been enlisted in the all-out effort.

"Back of this is a cash reserve of more than 100 million dollars put into the state treasury by careful budgeting and economy—and saved, mind you, while at the same time, the sales tax was reduced from 3 to 2 cents on the dollar and the cost of everything the state buys was going up. We can contrast this rather tidy nest egg for post-war use with the almost unbelievable national debt, not piled upon taxpayers by war but by the New Deal squandering on futile schemes which created neither honest jobs nor family savings in the bank."

Participating in tonight's conference were the following labor leaders: John Hennenberger of Chicago, president of local 1008, CIO United Steel Workers of America; Louis Rodier, president of the AFL Springfield Building and Construction Trades council; Hugh White, acting president of the Illinois United Mine Workers union; Lloyd Thrush, president of the Progressive Mine Workers union, and Richard Abrams of Chicago, legislative representative of the Railway Brotherhoods.

SEEK TO FREE TEDDY WEBB, AUTO BANDIT

A petition for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of Robert [Teddy] Webb, Chicago's original auto bandit who killed Detective Sgt. Peter Hart July 31, 1913, when the officer attempted to arrest Webb in the apartment of a woman, was filed in Criminal court yesterday by Atty. W. G. Anderson, Negro, widely known as the habeas corpus expert. Webb has served 31 years under a life sentence for the murder, not counting the six weeks he remained free in 1925 after fleeing the Illinois penitentiary at Joliet.

In the petition, it is claimed the parole board has refused 14 applications for parole, despite the fact that during the first 20 years Webb was a model prisoner, making him eligible for parole. The petition further claims that Webb "rendered invaluable aid to the state of Illinois" in 1915 when he helped to fight a disastrous fire at the penitentiary and in 1917 when he helped to quell an uprising and saved the life of A. L. Bowen, director of public welfare, who had been threatened by another convict.

Chief Justice Harold G. Ward set the matter over to Sept. 14, when he said he would listen to Anderson's arguments on why the writ should be issued.

EDITOR BLASTED FOR POSING AS A FRIEND OF LABOR

G. O. P. Leader Accuses Madison Renegade.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 5 [Special].—Use of the epithet "labor skates" by the renegade Progressive, William T. Evjue, editor of the Capital Times, with reference to labor leaders supporting the Republican party, brought a blast today from Thomas E. Coleman, Republican state chairman.

Coleman, who is president of the Madison-Kipp corporation here, asserted there is nothing in Evjue's record as an employer entitling him to pose as a spokesman for labor or to refer to important labor leaders as "labor skates."

Leave the Result to Jury.

He offered to match his own labor record with that of the Madison editor and leave the result to a jury of Capital Times employes. Coleman's ire was touched off by an Evjue editorial criticizing state Republicans for establishing a labor committee, made up of Milwaukee AFL and CIO officials, in the current political campaign.

"The facts are," Coleman said, "that the labor committee of Milwaukee and Wisconsin was formed by labor men who are making an honest effort to provide a vehicle for labor union views within their own party. They are not asking laboring men to contribute thousands upon thousands of dollars in the method used by Sidney Hillman's political action committee."

Coleman challenged Evjue's record as a friend of labor, asserting the editor's policy has been to pit industry against labor, meanwhile enjoying large profits from his newspaper. In 1943, he said, Evjue took dividends of approximately $18,000 from his business.

How It Works.

Evjue's newspaper profits, the Republican chairman explained, are due to what he termed a "monopoly" arrangement under which advertising space in the Capital Times is sold only in combination with Madison's other daily newspaper. An advertiser cannot insert an advertisment in one newspaper without paying for its insertion in both newspapers, he explained.

Coleman made use of the "monopoly" today, however, to publicize his attack on Evjue in paid advertisments in both the Capital Times and the other paper.

The Capital Times was founded by Evjue more than a quarter of a century ago as an organ of the late Sen. Robert M. LaFollette Sr. After the senator's death the newspaper for a time supported the LaFollette brothers and the Wisconsin Progressive party which they founded. With the advent of war, however, Evjue broke with the LaFollettes and has plugged for President Roosevelt and the New Deal.

IRREGULAR G.O.P. GROUP REFUSES PLEA TO DISBAND

A small group with a big name, the National Republican Organization of Illinois, yesterday refused to dissolve its new corporation which party leaders fear is diverting money from authorized Republican campaign funds.

Meeting in an office at 100 W. Monroe st., the officers accepted the resignation of William A. Cunnea, vice chairman. But they spurned his "request that all other members resign and that the corporation recently organized be promptly dissolved."

"The name which you have adopted is so similar to that of the Republican national committee that the public is certain to be confused," Cunnea wrote in his letter of resignation, "with the result that the situation may prove harmful to the Republican cause, as well as to the members of your organization."

Henry W. Lindblad, defeated April 11 for ward committeeman, issued a statement defending the new "national" organization. Republican nominee for city clerk last year, he charged that the methods of the regular G. O. P. organization in the 1935, 1939, and 1943 city elections were such that they might have been designed to enable the Democrats to win.

CHILD HURT IN 3 STORY FALL.

Rodivey Carver, 2, of 6450 Maryland av., suffered a fractured jaw and a possible skull fracture Monday, when he fell three stories to the pavement at 6436 Ellis av., after pushing out a window screen, Woodlawn hospital officials reported.

Day by Day on the FARM

The FARM by Gail Compton

Sept. 5, 1944.

THE clover field at the farm is about ready to harvest for seed and presents quite a problem. Combining clover for its seed is a difficult job and one that calls for a thoro knowledge of the exact condition of the plants.

In dry seasons, such as this year, when the clover plants are short and erect, the entire plant may become dry enough for direct combining. It usually is necessary, however, to cut the hay and allow it to dry in the windrow before combining. This is because the plants may remain green and tough while the seed pods have become dried and susceptible to shattering.

Week of Drying Enough.

When the crop is thrown into the windrow, it should be cut while the plants still are tough enough to resist shattering. Usually a week of drying in the windrow is enough. At the farm the manager plans to combine the plants at once because the drouth has permitted the plants to dry evenly thruout the field. He hopes to get around 105 pounds of seed per acre.

A field of alfalfa also will be harvested for seed with the combine. This should be done when approximately two-thirds of the seed pods are a dark brown. With this crop also it is best to cut and cure in the windrow before harvesting as the plants remain green until the seed ripens.

Legume Seed Needed.

It is important for farmers to harvest legume seed this year because the nation faces a shortage since many pastures and hay fields have been plowed up to make room for cash crops. Farmers may earn a federal payment of $3.50 an acre for harvesting hay for seed and an extra bonus of from 1½ to 3½ cents for every clean pound of seed produced.

The farm has just about finished its hay program. It has been the shortest in farm history. A tremendous first cutting almost filled all of the barns. A second cutting was made on only a few of the fields because the drouth shortened the second growth. The remainder of the hay fields will be allowed to get what growth they can before winter to assure the ground adequate protection from frost.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

GARDENERS who have extra vegetable seeds which were not planted this season can save them for next year by using the proper type of containers and storing them in well ventilated rooms.

Mice are the most common destroyers of stored vegetable seeds, therefore a glass container with a metal lid provides the best storage medium. The lids should be perforated to permit air entry. A basement room or root cellar provides the best storage place if there is some air circulation.

Onion seed keeps poorly, and it is not worth while attempting to save small amounts. Snap bean, lima bean, spinach, broccoli, carrot, pea, and sweet corn seeds keep fairly well. Tomato, beet, cabbage, Swiss chard, eggplant, kale, radish, and lettuce seed can be kept for several years under proper storage conditions.

F. McCORMICK SAYS CUSTODY PACT ILLEGAL

Middletown, Conn., Sept. 5 (AP).—A lengthy document was filed with the Superior court today setting forth the reason why Fowler McCormick, Chicago industrialist, has appealed a Middletown court decision naming Dr. Frances Clarke of Durham as the adopting parent of two children adopted seven years ago by Mrs. Muriel McCormick Hubbard, McCormick's sister.

The document said the transfer of the children, Edith Rockefeller Hubbard, 11, and Elisha Dyer Hubbard II., 7, was illegal and that Dr. Clarke, a teacher in a New London school, was unsuited to act as a foster parent.

The litigation began last March when McCormick petitioned the Probate court to remove his sister as the adopting parent of the children and to remove Mrs. Elvira Parsons, her housekeeper, as their guardian, charging his sister was "addicted to the excessive use of alcohol," and that she had "repeatedly beaten and abused" the children.

Judge Sbarbaro Confined to Home with Bad Cold

Superior Judge John A. Sbarbaro, who had been ill in court with a severe cold for two weeks, was confined to his home yesterday. Walter Moffat, his personal bailiff, said Judge Sbarbaro hoped to return to the bench next Monday.

QUAKE'S SOURCE DEEP IN EARTH, SCIENTIST SAYS

The earthquake felt in Chicago Monday night and early yesterday would rate a "seven or eight in intensity," according to the Rev. Alphonse R. Schmitt, S. J., of Loyola university. Ten is the maximum under such a system of geological measurement, he said. This maximum would represent a major catastrophe in contrast with a rating of one, which would be recorded only instrumentally and not otherwise noted.

The quake, Father Schmitt explained yesterday originated in what is presumed to be a great fault in the earth's subsurface extending eastward from the end of Lake Ontario and out thru the St. Lawrence river valley.

The disturbance recorded here indicated, he said, that origin of the shock must have been deep inside the earth's interior, because waves from the tremor did not travel on the surface, but were reflected upward from great depths.

2 Cars, Tools, and $702 Stolen from Auto Firm

Theft of two automobiles, $60 worth of tools, and $702 from the Chicago Auto Body and Motor Sales company, 5051 S. Western av., was reported to police yesterday by Michael Rigley, owner.

YANKS' BALLOTS MAY BE DELAYED BY COURT ACTION

Mailing of soldiers' ballots was threatened with delay late yesterday when the Republican county central committee filed objection to the nominating petitions of Ernest A. Greene, Negro, 3135 South Park way, who filed independently for state representative from the 1st senatorial district after being defeated in the April primary.

A hearing was set for 10:30 a. m. Saturday in County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki's chambers. Yesterday was the last day for objections and withdrawals and, until the objection against Greene was made, the ballot had been expected to go to the state certifying board Saturday, which would have made mailing possible early next week. Now, election officials said, the time of mailing will depend on disposal of the objection.

Both the Chicago election commission and County Clerk Flynn said yesterday they were prepared for fast work when they get word from the state certifying board. The board has received 111,000 applications for soldiers' ballots and the clerk 17,000, and both offices have the ballot envelopes already addressed.

Cook county's contract for ballots was let yesterday to M. Kallis & Co. for $17.30 a thousand.

RED DESERTERS GIVEN 90 DAYS TO LEAVE U. S.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5 (AP).—The board of immigration appeals said today it is allowing four Russian merchant seamen, who deserted their ship in Seattle, Wash., 90 days in which to reship and leave America.

The board said its decision means the men will not be allowed to remain in the United States, but frees them to ship out on any vessel that will hire them.

The men, deserters from the Russian freighter Ost, were listed as Georgei Danilovich Sereda and Alexander Vasilievich Nikitin, seamen; Alexander Ivanovich Terentiev, 3d engineer, and Vladimir Borisovich Starkov, 2d mate.

The board said Terentiev and Starkov deserted June 9, and the other two July 7. On Aug. 31 the Seattle Post-Intelligencer quoted Nikitin and Sereda as declaring "We did not desert our ship; we deserted Russia."

AAF SHOW ENDS RUN; 3,000 SIGN FOR WAR JOBS

The "Shot from the Sky" exhibit of captured enemy war material in Grant park closed last night after a five day run.

The show resulted in the sale of a quarter million dollars worth of war bonds, the referral of more than 3,000 persons to war jobs, and an undetermined large number of prospects for enlistment in the women's army corps, John W. Gordon, war department director in charge, reported.

Radio and night club entertainers, members of the WAC caravan troupe, based at the western technichal training command headquarters, Denver, presented 14 acts, with accompaniment by a 12 piece band, in Congress st. plaza last night as the climax of the exhibit.

are you bothered by the smell of wet paint?

air-wick* kills all household odors!

You know how air-wick almost magically kills the odors of cooking...freshens closets, bathrooms, smoky living rooms. Well, why not use it also to help eliminate the smell of fresh paint? Simply uncap the bottle, place it near the source of the paint odor, pull out the wick...and that's all. There's nothing to light...nothing to burn. If the odor is unusually strong, it will take more than one bottle of air-wick to eliminate it completely ...but even one bottle will lessen the irritation.

air-wick contains activated chlorophyll...the miracle substance found in its natural state in green leaves. You will find air-wick at hardware, paint, grocery, drug, chain, variety and department stores.

*air-wick deodorizer and household freshener is fully protected by U.S. patent. air-wick is a trademark of Seeman Brothers, Inc., New York 13, N.Y., distributors.

PAT. NO. 2,226,673

There is only one air-wick. Remember air-wick is the only household product of its kind that contains activated chlorophyll

A Famous Broadway Columnist gives you the Low-Down on September Cosmopolitan!

WE ASKED LOUIS SOBOL FOR A COLUMNIST'S-EYE-VIEW OF THE NEW COSMOPOLITAN. READ HIS COMMENTS ON THIS BIG SEPTEMBER ISSUE!

LOUIS SOBOL

Some folks will tell you that a fellow in the newspaper business meets the most interesting people, but the truth is, I meet my fascinating friends chiefly in a magazine like the Cosmopolitan.

The Cosmopolitan, as I call it for short, is my monthly ration of excitement and though perhaps not quite like Comedian Joe Everglades Lewis who can scarcely wait for the big air programs to go on because he loves the commercials, I can scarcely wait for each new issue because I want to read Paul Gallico again or Faith Baldwin or be surprised by the hero or heroine of the month's Cosmopolite.

Well, I've just spent a couple of hours with the September issue of Cosmopolitan and I want to doff my pre-war kelly to the editors for their superb contribution to a weary columnist's faltering morale. Talk about practical therapy—read some of these fine stories and live again—if only long enough to tell some of your best friends that Leslie Randall's lovely pastoral in colors, illustrating Louis Bromfield's tender piece, "My Ninety Acres" is something which makes you forget guns booming death overseas—as does the article itself. It's a picture aching to be cut out and framed.

One of my favorite writers, gracious Faith Baldwin, has a lulu of a story—a novelette in fact, the first in a series called "Southwest Symphony" which is located in Arizona and carries all the hot, crisp flavor of that vigorous desert area.

In the September issue I met up with two of my favorite war correspondents—Henry J. Taylor who in "Time and Again" tears Germany and the Nazis apart for us to see how absurd it is to think we can cure this mad dog of the world with soft words and kindly deeds. And then, there's Clark Lee's timely biographette of General Omar N. Bradley—wirelessed from the Normandy shores.

The Cosmopolitan bulges over in diversified richness of material—eight wonderful short stories—nine articles, including Roy Porter's first hand description of the bombing of Japan by our B-29s. Try to keep calm while you read this!

Let's see where was I? Well, then there's Part 2 of Paul Gallico's great serial "Who Killed My Buddy"—and can that fellow Gallico turn on words that thrill and chill. Eight special features, including fact-spiller Dick Hyman's "You Can Patent Anything"; and finally a complete short novel—and is this a precious pip of a story!—I've read half of it and expect to finish it by tonight—"Appointment For To-Morrow" by Grace Sartwell Mason.

And when I've finished with my stories and articles in Cosmopolitan, I start all over again. Why? To read the ads—and don't think I'm kidding. It's greater fun and more exciting than you think. Try it!

SEPTEMBER ISSUE OUT TODAY!

Cosmopolitan

PLUS "SO THIS IS LOVE," a love story by Dale Eunson; "BEHOLD THE MAN," a non-fiction preview of a forthcoming book; "HER LAST SCENE," a novelette by Anita Rowe Block; "THE LIFE STORY OF A JAPANESE SPY," by Richard Wilmer Rowan.

Mrs. Hazel M., Des Moines, Ia.—For years I have saved time in baking by keeping the leg of a cotton stocking to slip over my rolling pin. In this way I have to sprinkle the rolling pin with flour only once, instead of several times.

Mrs. Mary C., Chicago—My girls always have worn quite a bit of corduroy, and I find it easy to launder as it takes no ironing. I'm careful to press out the water rather than to wring or twist the garment, and I pin up the skirts by the waist band. When dry I brush against the nap, laying large pieces on an ironing board to make brushing easy. A warm iron can be used for the lining.

Mrs. Ken B., Oak Park — When sheets of wax paper stick together, I slip them into the refrigerator for a few minutes and they come loose in short order.

Mrs. Henry A., Kokomo, Ind.—After a summer at home with my small children it occurs to me it would be grand if our post-war houses all had, as standard equipment, play yards where the children can be easily watched.

Here's Answer to the Clique in High School

BY MAUREEN DALY.

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

on the SOLID side

And take the common case of Miss A. C. [all confused]—a smart and smooth young gal who started high school one fall with the idea that she, too, was going to make new friends and influence dateable young joes. Standing on the sidelines, waiting to pick her spots, she noticed that most of the 20-20 little squabs at this particular school banded together in groups or cliques to have their fun in small and exclusive numbers. At the very beginning of the school year they picked their "crowd" and the same eight to 12 girls lunched together, did home work together, dated together, and did all their thinking and talking together in the months to come. Most of their dating and dancing was done in coöperation with another picked group of solid gentlemen, bonded by mutual date interests, who were considered "eligible." These girls showed no interest in outsiders and admitted no new honeychiles to their clique.

So Miss A. C. quickly aligned herself with a special crowd so that she, too, might "get around." For the first few weeks of school she talked about and laughed about the same things day after day with the same eight girls and felt quite gay. After a short while she found they had almost talked themselves out and nothing seemed very funny any more. It came to her one day, quick as a flash, that whenever girls gang together, whether out of snobbishness or sincere attraction, they miss a lot of extra fun and friendship! She decided it was a good idea for a girl to have special friends as long as she didn't forget there were other good gals outside her circle.

And Miss A. C. discovered, too, that if her crowd once left her out of a party or evening plans it was "move over, Cinderella," for her. Besides missing fun, she missed the invaluable chance to get to know and talk with dozens of other fellows and girls and find out what they said and thought. Soon she made up her mind that the clique in high school makes a girl smug. She has three friends now for every one she used to have and is a smarter, more friendly honeychile.

Hollywood Visitors in Chicago

War Widow Among 100 WACs Leaving for Basic Training

Among the approximately 100 newly recruited WACs who left Chicago yesterday for Fort Des Moines, Ia., for basic training is Mrs. Bessie Lorraine Tollberg, 40, of 2132 N. Campbell av., whose husband, Maynard, was killed in action at Guadalcanal in January, 1943.

Mrs. Tollberg has the Purple Heart, navy cross, and Presidential citation awarded to him posthumously. Her enlistment, she said, was in tribute to her husband, whose name was given to a destroyer escort vessel which she launched in February at Hingham, Mass.

A mother, Mrs. Emma Rohde, 48, of 515 7th st., Peoria, also is in the contingent. She has three sons in service, two in the navy and one in the merchant marine.

Citizenship Group.

The American citizenship department will meet at Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs' headquarters, 30 W. Washington st., at 2 p. m. tomorrow, with Mrs. Wyllys W. Hagen presiding.

Columnist in Party

Autograph hunters enjoyed a field day yesterday as a group of Hollywood luminaries arrived in Chicago from the west coast. Heading the group was Hedda Hopper, TRIBUNE columnist, who was selected by the Chicago fashion industries to receive a coq feathered hat designed for her. Others in the party included Alexander Knox, who plays the title role in the picture "Wilson"; Geraldine Fitzgerald, who portrays the second Mrs. Wilson, and Carmen Miranda, Roddy McDowall, Lynn Bari, Trudy Marshall, and Dana Andrews, also film players.

Russians Show Camera Art in Film Operetta

"THEY MET IN MOSCOW."

An Artkino picture, directed by Ivan Pirlev, starring Vladimir Zeldin, and presented at the World Playhouse.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Brushing off propaganda for the nonce, the World Playhouse screen adopts a "let us be gay" attitude and proffers a plate of operetta with a circus "short" as relish. The combination proves a tasty dish.

As to story, "They Met in Moscow" is just another "boy meets girl" affair. Girl—a swineherdess from the forests of the north. Boy—a shepherd from the Caucasus mountains. . . . They meet at an agricultural show in Moscow, where both have been sent as delegates from their respective communities. . . . They part, meaning to meet at the same place again the next year. He goes back to his mountains, she back to her pigs. . . . Misunderstandings, due to the dastardly schemings of a rival, threaten—but fail—to disrupt the romance.

This, of course, is to music, and it is stepped up by much gorgeous scenery and some beautiful photography. Those Russians sure do know what to do when you turn them loose with a camera!

The star is a handsome dark chap who, in his picturesque costumes, will make you think of Valentino. He has the same sort of boyish appeal and, tho mustached, resembles him. . . . Marinna Ladynina, his leading lady, is blonde, ecstatic, and, in her role, a rare hand with pigs.

Supporting players are adept and direction shows a light, sure touch.

"STARS ON PARADE."

A Columbia picture, directed by Lew Landers, with Larry Parks and Lynn Merrick, and presented at the Oriental.

A new twist for Hollywood hopefuls on "how to break into movies" is the this theme of "Stars on Parade." Larry Parks and Lynn Merrick, two lovebirds who think they can sing, and can't, are unsuccessful and strive to show the movie makers what they can do by having a show of their own. The two set out to audition the local talent, and what follows is, figuratively speaking, murder. There really isn't a murder, but the talent brought forth is pretty dull.

However, the twinkling fingers of Frankie Carle, his orchestra, and the A-1 stage show, make you forget the mumble jumble on the screen.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

KATINA PAXINOU is set for Sam Wood's "The Land Is Bright," which follows "Jubal Troop." I hope she does something before then. That's a long way off. . . . Claudette Colbert's clothes for "Jubal Troop" are being designed for her by John Hambleton. It's her first costume picture since "Drums Along the Mohawk"—or should I bring that up? . . . Rennie McEvoy signed for "Miss Susie Slagle." . . . Aline McMahon wound up "Guest in the House" for Hunt Stromberg and is to relax in her Hudson river home three months before doing either stage or screen work. . . . Richard Wallace directs the Fred Allen picture and has signed a three years' deal with Jack Skirball. . . . Lynn Bari is wanted for "Spanish Main," starring Paul Henreid.

Timely Comment—and Deserved.

Mark Hellinger's blast about more Hollywood stars not going overseas has gotten lots of comment and it makes sense. A few carry the whole load. I'd like to report that Marlene Dietrich has sold those great emerald hunks of hers, which gives her enough cash so she won't have to work for a year. She's already arrived back overseas, this time to stay six months or longer. Marlene turned down the musical version of "Rain" on Broadway to do it. Before I wind this up, how about our English actors leaving their homes for an overseas jaunt? . . . Marsha Hunt gets a comedy part in "Valley of Decision." Before coming to pictures Marsha sang over the air under the name of Linda Prentiss.

Ham Creeps In; But Where's That Pig?

Bob Burns is teaching Bill Goodwin hog callin' since Bill's bought a ranch. . . . Speaking of that, I'd better find out from Burns how my pig is that he's fattening for me. He's had it a year. That's what I call a good neighbor. . . . Jimmy Durante bought the portrait of himself in a prison striped polo suit by Angna Enters. He liked the way she'd done his nose. . . . Frances Langford's column is better than Bob Hope's. He needs a good writer. . . . Before Travis Banton could design clothes for "Glad to See You" he had to take a stiff examination in New York for admission to the union. Yet Travis made glamor dolls of Dietrich, Mae West, Claudette Colbert, Carole Lombard, Kay Francis, Clara Bow, and dozens more. He passed the tests by the skin of his teeth.

Mitch Executes a Total Eclipse.

Mitch Leisen, the big noise at Paramount, is on the receiving end of a wonderful gag. When he was watching daily rushes of "Kitty," some scenes were slipped in of Betty Hutton, Bing Crosby, and Sonny Tufts in "Here Come the WAVES"—all three wearing on their arms broad bands with the name of Mark Sandrich on them. They played the scene seriously, and Mitch died, because even he—who has thought of practically everything to advertise himself—never thought of having his cast wear his name on their sleeves. . . . Incidentally, Paramount wants a new title for "Miss Susie Slagle." Send it to them—not to me. . . . Janet Blair changed from red hair to blonde in "Tonight and Every Night" because both Rita Hayworth and March Platt are red heads, and Janet made one too many.

Maybe They Expect Too Much.

There'll be a male gathering at Goldwyn's today when 15 beauties get the Goldwyn test and have to answer 885 questions put to them by Dr. Paul Popenoe. In the old days, all a girl needed was looks, now she's gotta have brains. . . . Before leaving New York for home, Abbott and Costello went to a small cafe near the station, ordered scrambled eggs. The bill was $2.50. "Hey, buddy, what's the matter?" Bud inquired of the proprietor, "are eggs so rare here?" "No," he replied, "but movie stars are." . . . Since "The House of Dr. Edwards" is nearly finished the title role has been cast. Edward Fielding is Dr. Edwards. Alfred Hitchcock, who always plays a small role in each of his pictures, is stumped this time. The only characters left are nuts. Well, what's holding him back?

Short Shorts.

Rex St. Cyr threw away his bankroll for Cobina Wright Sr.'s housewarming. . . . Roy Rogers turned up at the Brown Derby in full cowboy regalia, with all the trimmings, except Trigger—and his fans frowned. . . . Sidney Greenstreet got a pin-up picture from Alice from Dallas, fat girl with Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus. . . . Ida Lupino is having arm trouble. It will have to be reset when she finishes "From Pillar to Post." . . . Steve Richards, who's in "Doughgirls," marries Nell Hayes on Sept. 30. . . . When Van Johnson was approached about a radio serial, he said, "I'm afraid my public might object to hearing my voice and not seeing my freckled face." . . . Mexico's Cantinflas walks the red carpet at a reception to be given at the Ambassador hotel for him. . . . Rosemary La Planche, "ex-Miss America," becomes "Miss Brazil" in "Pan-Americana."

News of the Theater

Shirley Deane, movie actress, will be featured in the Pamela Edmunds comedy drama, "That's a Laff," which will open the Civic theater's fall season Sept. 24. Veloz and Yolanda, the dancers, and their new revue, "Dansation," are scheduled for the same house in November. Katharine Cornell may revive "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" at the Civic theater in December.

The Studebaker box office yesterday opened for the seat sale of "Kiss and Tell," which will move to the Michigan av. playhouse Sunday after 70 weeks at the Harris. Transfer of the George Abbott comedy will permit the opening of "Over Twenty-One," starring Ruth Gordon, at the Harris Monday evening. The "Kiss and Tell" company will remain intact. The usual schedule of nightly performances, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees, will continue.

Grant Hospital Board Planning Rummage Sale

BY JUDITH CASS.

RUMMAGE sales, which have been so successful in war time, promise to continue unabated in the coming fall and winter. One which is on the calendar for mid-October is the annual sale held by the woman's board of Grant hospital at the nurses' home. Members of the board, returning from summer homes, are bringing with them many useful items which will be placed on sale and which they hope will bring in even more than the $1,600 earned at last fall's event.

Running the sale are three energetic young women, Mrs. W. Denison Dunning, chairman; Mrs. Robert Emery, and Mrs. E. Franklin Motch. They will meet at the nurses' home Sept. 15 to make final plans.

Mrs. Frank S. Porter, president of the board, is continuing her role of "war time mother," as are so many grandmothers these days, by taking care of the two children of her son and daughter-in-law, Lt. and Mrs. Lefens Porter, while young Mrs. Porter is in Miami, Fla., to visit her husband, stationed there with the navy. Another grandmother, Mrs. Frederick McNally, has had her three grandchildren, the youngsters of Lt. and Mrs. Charles Y. Freeman Jr., with her in Leland, Mich., for the summer. Mrs. Freeman also was there, and Lt. Freeman, who is studying at the Allied Military Government school in Ann Arbor, Mich., joined them occasionally for week-ends.

Mrs. Freeman has returned to Chicago, and the McNallys will come back Sept. 20. Mr. and Mrs. H. Paul Juergens, who are returning from Leland today or tomorrow, had their daughter, Mrs. John R. Hurley, and her children with them for a month. Maj. and Mrs. Hurley now live in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Frederick Gillespie is another board member who spends each summer in Leland.

On the Calendar.

The stock of goods for sale at the White Elephant Rummage shop will be augmented by a party the north shore supporters of the shop are giving tomorrow in the Lake Forest home of Miss Gwethalyn Jones. A gift of rummage to be resold at the shop, 27 E. Ohio st., will be the price of admission to a fashion show and children's swimming contest at 4 p. m. Some of those who will model fashions under the direction of Mrs. Harrison Manierre are Mrs. William H. Mitchell, Mrs. Mitchell Jr., Mrs. Michael Cudahy, Mrs. Philip D. Armour Jr., Mrs. Alanson Donald, Mrs. George S. Chappel Jr., Mrs. Lloyd Bowers, Miss Pamela Kelley, Miss Betty Swift, Miss Joyce and Miss Ruth Cummings, Miss Patricia and Miss Hollis McLaughlin, Miss Helen and Miss Barbara Priebe, and Miss Marion and Miss June Carry. The shop is conducted for the benefit of the Children's Memorial hospital. Mrs. T. Philip Swift is chairman of the benefit.

Final arrangements for a country fair which the Hinsdale Junior center of the Infant Welfare society will hold Saturday and Sunday at the Oakbrook Polo club stables will be made at a 12:30 p. m. luncheon meeting today in the home of Mrs. Ted H. Rider. One of the choicest booths at the fair will be an antique

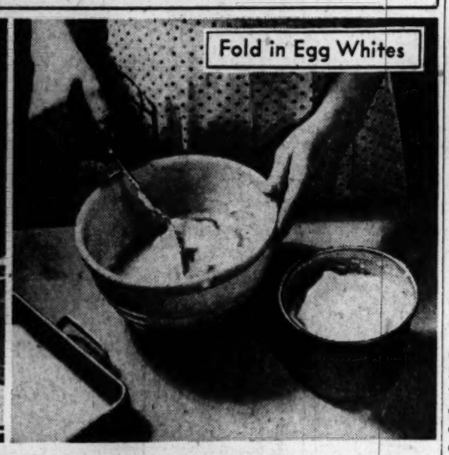
Here's Mary Meade's Refrigerator Custard Ice Cream



1. Scald 1⅓ cups milk with ⅓ cup sugar. Mix 2 tablespoons cornstarch with ⅓ cup cold milk. Add to hot milk; stir until thickened. Cover and cook 25 minutes; stir occasionally. Beat 3 egg yolks with 1 egg white until frothy. Add part of the hot mixture. Return to double boiler. Cook 5 minutes.

2. Chill custard over ice water. Beat 2 egg whites until stiff; beat in 2 tablespoons sugar. Fold whites into custard with 1 teaspoon vanilla and 1 cup cream whipped until thick, but not stiff. Pour into refrigerator freezing tray. To whip cream, use 24 hour cream (top part of bottle). Chill bowl and beater.

Thru the Looking Glass

We don't claim flatly that the use of a good mask preparation will make you lily white when you're trying to get rid—fast—of the tan you acquired so laboriously and so slowly in the early summer. However, we do think the mask has its uses in the rather special routine of skin care you should follow when your tan has reached the hangover stage.

The purpose of a mask preparation is to stimulate the skin a bit. This "passive exercise" helps indirectly, we think, to clarify it. And at any season, especially if you're a woman who works rather hard and whose complexion reflects fatigue quickly, the mask is a good thing. It's a pickup that for a few hours at least will give your tired and dingy skin a nice, radiant, wide-awake look.

One we especially like is an old timer on the market. It's a rather heavy, faintly pink cream with a scent a bit on the bracing and medicinal side. It's to be spread generously over the perfectly cleansed face and neck, and with this, as with all skin stimulants, you must be careful not to apply it over the eyelids or even close to your eyes below or at the sides. That's important.

The cream will feel a little tingly and cool against the skin. You allow it to dry and then wash off with water or your skin freshening lotion. Your skin will feel less tired and look it. For a time, at least, it will have the faint glow of radiance that will deceive you—and your dinner date—ever so pleasantly into thinking you're not such a weary antique after all!

$5 PRIZE RECIPE

Fresh Peach Roll.

[Serves six.]

2 cups sifted flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons margarine
¾ cup milk
2 cups sweetened sliced fresh peaches
½ cup white sugar
½ cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon flour
Rind and juice of 1 lemon
1 cup boiling water

Sift flour, baking powder, and salt together; cut in shortening. Add milk, stirring just enough to moisten all flour. Roll out ¼ inch thick and cover with peaches. Shape into long roll and cut into 2 inch slices. Place cut side down in greased muffin pans. Combine remaining ingredients in order listed and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Place 1 teaspoon of sirup on each peach roll. Bake in hot [400 degrees] oven for 20 minutes, or until done. Serve hot with remainder of sirup poured over each.

Give Thanks on V-Day Is Clergy's Plea

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

"The armistice celebration in 1918 was unworthy of our country," said Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch, yesterday. "I have written to all pastors of the archdiocese concerning plans for V-day in our Catholic churches. It is the ancient custom of the church to observe victories with the singing of the Te Deum."

The archbishop praised Chicago's spiritual response to D-day when allied troops landed in Normandy.

"If the people prayed on that day," he commented, "they ought to thank God this time."

Echoing this theme were many other religious leaders. The Rev. Dr. Armin G. Weng, president of the Illinois synod, United Lutheran church, in presenting V-day services outlined for United Lutheran churches, said:

"V-day should not be a day of debauchery. I surely hope that all churches thruout the city, regardless of denominational affiliation, will be open for prayer and for conducting thanksgiving services. There will be so much for which to be grateful, and at a time of high exaltation the American people, who have shown such a magnificent spirit during the war years, should celebrate the end of the war by giving thanks to Almighty God."

Bishop Wallace E. Conkling of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago has had suggestions for V-day services in the hands of his clergy for some time. He asked that church bells be rung and that the clergy be in all churches to lead the victory devotions. On the Sunday following the armistice, Bishop Conkling asked for the singing of the Te Deum preceding all eucharists which also shall include "a dedication of our people for the great task of building a Christian world civilization."

Rabbi Benjamin Birnbaum, president of the Chicago Rabbinical association, said the synagog of Chicago will respond to the spiritual aspect of V-day as it did on D-day.

Rabbi Louis Binstock of Temple Sholom, 3480 Lake Shore dr., has announced V-day services at 8 p. m. the day of the armistice announcement. If the announcement comes at night the service will be held the following night.

Dear Diary BY BECKY

White Collar GIRL

Caught in the Act.

It was a slow morning, and the company receptionist and I were occupying our time seeing how good our posture was. We pranced back and forth in her cubicle, balancing books on our heads, trying big ones and little ones. We were having a fine time until suddenly we felt we were being watched. A glance toward the reception window confirmed our suspicions. There peering thru the glass and gaping in amazement at our antics, was the firm's president. Covered with confusion and embarrassment, we gulped a "good morning" and scampered to our desks as he answered our greeting in a tone that indicated "Women!" NORMA.

Personal Property or . . .

A "may I please?" and "thank you," when you want to use a fellow worker's equipment, are two of the common courtesies that help prevent friction and keep you popular with your working companions.

Because the feeling of possession is strong in most of us, we come to look upon the typewriter the company provides as ours and the desk dictionary we were fortunate enough to wangle from the purchasing department as our very own. It's a funny sort of twisting of property values that we develop, and we expect our co-workers to regard the tools we use as belonging strictly to us.

We don't want the girl who seldom uses a typewriter and therefore has none of her own to come barging over and take ours. We want her to ask permission, and even then we're apt to be condescending about it. It's hard to be logical and remember she has equal right to it—that she wants it for company business and it's company property. On the other hand, we can easily forget the personal property angle when we want to use the stapling machine, shears, or letter opener that "belong" to another.

It's an everyday problem of office life that is solved easily by a little display of ordinary good manners and a broadening of our outlook concerning things we look upon as our own.

Another Employer Heard from . . .

"I always know when 4 o'clock comes. The girls parade past my desk, their leg makeup wilted, their minds on their cokes."

'Tis So.

"There is nothing the girls in our office dislike more than being whistled at when they come in wearing a new hat—except not being noticed at all." —John Hooks in Rock Island Lines News Digest.

INSTALMENT XXXIII.

THE COURTHOUSE.

With an effort Carol pulled herself together and spoke before Bright could be questioned and forced to answer in his limited French.

"Arrested!" she said with a show of indignation. "On what grounds?"

"I am not here to answer questions," said the corporal sharply. Then he turned to one of his men. "Search the man!" he snapped.

The soldier ran skilled hands over Bright's helpless figure and handed his gun and the commando knife to his superior while Carol wondered anxiously if she would be searched also. If she were, the maps would earn them both a place before a firing squad. But she was not touched, and presently they were being marched away in company with several other wretched-looking Nicois.

Evidently it was a general round-up. Were they being taken as a part of the group of hostages which the Boy Raoul had told them about, or were they known to have been with the circus?

"I wish I knew if this was a lynchin' or what?" Bright grumbled in her ear.

"It wouldn't make me any more comfortable to know," she retorted. "While there's uncertainty, there's hope!"

"If things get to look too bad," he whispered, "destroy those papers first chance you get."

"Things will have to be pretty sour before I go that far!"

"No talking, there!" shouted the corporal. "Get along! Walk faster!"

They were headed for the old Palais de Justice. It had been a leisurely, not too well kept center of not too efficient activities. But now it had been transformed into a hive of military efficiency.

Together with the other captives Bright and Carol were thrust into the long, barren room where witnesses had been used to wait their call before the judge of the county. The place was already overcrowded with an odd assortment of people, ranging from respectable-looking businessmen in hot black coats, to market porters in their faded blue smocks. There were few women present, and among these was the only familiar face, that of La Belle Sauvage. She was seated upon the floor, her back against the wall under a barred but open window, and she seemed to be asleep.

"Poor old lady!" said Bright. "What would they want her for?"

"I wonder if I can do anything to help her?" Carol was distressed. "She looks ill."

"Don't speak to her yet," Bright warned.

They did not talk much after that. The time passed interminably with the hot sun pouring in thru the narrow, high windows and the dies from the market place sticking to one's face and hands. There was nothing to do but sit there and think. A middle-aged Frenchman with a beard—a solid-looking citizen who might have been a lawyer or a banker—had insisted upon giving Carol his place on one of the long benches, and Bright crouched on the floor beside her. Under her clothing the precious maps burned into her flesh.

Noon came but they were given neither food nor water, but on the other side of the wooden grille which separated the witness room from the corridor two guards had rations which they ate with gusto, sitting on the floor and gossiping as tho they were alone.

At first their talk consisted of stupid jokes at the expense of the wretched people under their surveillance and Carol tried not to hear. Then a phrase caught her attention in spite of herself.

"For the first time I am glad I am not a high official."

"Ja! too uncomfortable, eh, Fritz?"

"I used to wish I was a general. I thought those fellows had it easy. Well, they do, but it seems they cannot tell how long that will last!"

"For me, I am happy that they do not purge us privates."

"No. They just send us to Russia!"

Carol was alert now and strained her ears to hear more, but the talk had turned to the war and no more mention was made of purges. But there had been enough to confirm what she had been told before. What sort of administration was it that governed by killing off its own officials? Certainly such a regime would achieve its own overthrow in the end! The thought stirred her to an intolerable restlessness and she stood up.

"Where do you think you're going?" asked Bright.

"I'm going over and see what's wrong with La Belle Sauvage," she told him.

The bird-woman did not stir as Carol approached nor did she answer when Carol spoke her name. Her head had fallen forward on her breast and as Carol knelt beside her she saw that the blue parakeet was still nestled in the old lady's blouse, and was staring up at Carol with bright beady eyes. Carol's skilled fingers felt the old flesh and found it cold. La Belle Sauvage was dead.

Tenderly and with moist eyes, Carol undid the soiled lace blouse. The bird struggled free, stretched its wings and then flew to the open window and was gone.

"You, at least!" said Carol fiercely. "You, at least! Free!"

It was a sort of triumph, and she folded the old lady's hands and covered the body with her own shawl.

Then Carol went to the grille and stopped the laughter of the guards by telling them of what had happened and that there would now be room for one more prisoner in this crowded place.

Toward twilight a platoon of soldiers formed in the corridor outside, and the corporal who had arrested her came in and called out several names. A few people got up in response and filed out, among them the bearded man who had given her his seat. He bowed gravely, lifting his soft black hat as he passed her. The door clanged behind the group and they could be heard marching off down the flagged corridor. Carol strained her ears for the sound of a machine-gun volley, but could hear nothing except the ordinary noises from the street. Then two of the men who had taken out the first lot of prisoners came back.

Colors Parade in Bright New Array for Fall

BY REA SEEGER.

Shoppers, off to a fresh fall start, will succumb to one of the brighest arrays of color ever displayed. It's a free show of the most brilliant dye jobs of the wool weavers—vibrant shades of red, green, gold, purple, copper, and blue. Altho there are some subtle, subdued shades, the newest and smartest colors are those that shriek with exuberance. For instance, there are yellows ranging from sulphur and canary to gamboge; reds which include screaming circus pink, cerise, and ruby; greens that run from chartreuse to Napoleon green; blues from electric to carbon.

By far the most unusual, and a shade we haven't seen for many fashion seasons, is the stunning burnt orange. To some it may be just pumpkin gold; to others a dark tangerine; but it's the strong, glorious color found in Rembrandt's masterpieces when the golden sunshine falls in long slants of light. It could easily be called the deep orange which Hollanders claim as their royal color, but what the American designers have contrived with this rich and tawny gold-orange is something to make the coming fall scene look bright and promising.

You'll find it combined with black or, smarter yet, with winter navy. You'll find it in the fabric collections and in the newest clothes collections direct from designers' fall showings. You'll see it in three-quarter length straight coats and hip length fitted jackets. There also are dresses with front panels of orange and clever models with sleeves only of the orange. Most luxurious of all are the orange colored coats lined with brown furs, such as mink or silky black caracul, or Persian lamb.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 diamond	Pass
1 no trump	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
Pass	Pass

There is a strange tendency towards exhibitionism in some players who happen to have a five card suit. They've just got to tell the world. The bidding of today's hand is given as it actually occurred, and, of course, bordered on the absurd. South's hands were tied. He had assumed his share of the burden when he opened this hand and replied to the one round force. There was no further action he could take in the absence of another force from partner.

Some players look askance at such opening bids as this. I am in favor of it. On the surface the hand lacks the prescribed three honor tricks on which four card suit openings should be based, but it has values that do not appear in the tables. In the first place something should be added for the possession of eight honor cards. Something else should be added for the possession of an honor card in each suit, and still another abstract value should be assigned for the ability to support a response in either major suit. When all these plus values are added the hand will easily count to three honor tricks. There is the further advantage that no response by partner can prove embarrassing, because a convenient rebid is readily available. If hands like this are passed there is too grave a danger of being shut out of the auction if the opponents open, when it would be too risky to compete. My own policy is to open all doubtful club bids because of the ease with which the rebid can be made.

When South's rebid of one no trump is made showing a mediocre opening, North should waste no further time. He himself has an opening bid and then some, and partner has opened. Therefore a game should be reached at once, inasmuch as there is nothing wrong with no trump on this hand. The fear of the spade suit is fanciful. The important consideration is that this is a balanced hand of the no trump family and the opener can be relied upon to take care of that suit. The proper bid by North is three no trump.

True enough a jump rebid of three diamonds would oblige the opener to bid again, but there is nothing to be gained by such action, inasmuch as a minor suit game is not desired, and the bid can have no other effect than helping the enemy in the selection of the opening lead. An opening bid facing an opening bid ought to produce a game and that's that.

TOMORROW'S PROBLEM.

Wedding News.

The news that Miss Janet Elizabeth Musselman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George H. Musselman of Highland Park, now is Mrs. Robert J. Ley will be a surprise to many of their friends, altho the wedding took place more than a year ago. The former Miss Musselman and Lt. [j. g.] Ley were married July 20, 1943, in Old St. Mary's church, Upper Marlboro, Md., while Lt. Ley was stationed in Norfolk, Va. Just a month later he left for active sea duty and has seen action in a number of South Pacific campaigns.

Young Mrs. Ley, a member of the Chicago Junior league, attended the North Shore Country Day school and Pine Manor and made her debut in 1937. She now is living in New York. Lt. Ley is the son of James J. Ley, assistant state's attorney, and Mrs. Ley of Joliet. He was graduated from the University of Illinois and De Paul university's law school and at the time he entered the naval reserve was practicing law in Chicago.

Sept. 23 is the date set for the marriage of Miss Jean Armstrong, daughter of the Horace White Armstrongs of Winnetka, and Edwin Corle of the army, who is stationed in Florida. The wedding will take place at 4:30 p. m. in the chapel of the Winnetka Congregational church and will be followed by a small reception in the Armstrong home. Miss Armstrong and her mother will return Sept. 12 from Estes Park, Colo.

Birth News.

In her nursery in Glencoe young Barbara Butz soon will be joined by a baby sister, Katherine Barnard. The second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert K. Butz [Jean Pettibone] was born Aug. 26 in the Evanston hospital. Mrs. Butz's brother, Ensign Richard Pettibone, left last night to report for duty after a week's visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Holman D. Pettibone, in Winnetka. Mrs. Robert O. Butz is the little girls' paternal grandmother.

National Head of D. A. R. to Be Guest Here Dec. 14

Mrs. Herbert J. Maass, regent of Chicago chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, has received word that Mrs. Julius Young Talmadge, president general of the national society, will visit the group Dec. 14 to speak. It will be Mrs. Talmadge's first visit to Illinois since her election in New York last spring, and a reception will be held for her. Plans are being completed by a committee of which Mrs. William J. Hoppe is chairman for a card party for the national D. A. R. war fund, to be held Saturday, Oct. 28, in the Drake hotel.

Over-Indulging Not Good for Your Children

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Mary, who lives next door, had a birthday and among the gifts she received was a toy dog covered with long, black, silken hair. Well, our small Janie couldn't keep her eyes off it. She begged and begged to have one exactly like it and, I must admit, we practically turned handsprings to get one for her, but to no avail," recounted Janie's mother.

"We even asked our neighbor to get in touch with the aunt in a distant city who had sent the toy to Mary, but there wasn't another such dog to be had. Then, finally, in self protection and because we thought we were being a little foolish we tried to evolve some sort of philosophy about it."

You've been thru it, too—I know you have. It's hard to deny your children. You'd like to give them the handsomest of teddy bears, and the most beautiful of doll carriages, and a sturdy doll's trunk filled with all sorts of clothes, and handsome derricks and trucks and airplanes, and let them have every new kitten and puppy they have offered to them. You'd like to give them everything they ask for. But perhaps it's just as well you don't—altho momentarily you may be able to do so.

Their young life ought to be in a measure a slice of their adult life, so that their adjustment to the wide world when they grow up will not be a sudden thing, which will certainly be the case if they get everything they want.

But quite aside from the effect it may have on them in later life, I don't believe it is good for children, as children, to be over-indulged in material things. They're apt to become satiated with the very number of their possessions. They can't get the keen enjoyment out of them that a child does who has a moderate supply of toys and learns to play with those intensively.

All this may seem like stern philosophy, but it isn't. There is a certain wholesomeness for any one, child or grownup, in learning to make his desires conform to his condition, in learning to cut his garment to suit his cloth, at least up to a point where the limitations set for him for circumstances have not the power to make him miserable.

Lace Edgings

Women in War Work

By Dorothy Johnson

A convocation of 22 young women who have reached the half-way point in their four month occupational therapy course at the University of Illinois college of medicine will be held at 1 p. m. today at the school, 1853 W. Polk st.

Mrs. Winifred C. Kahmann, chief of the occupational therapy branch of the reconditioning division of the office of the surgeon general in Washington, D. C., will be the speaker.

The University of Illinois is one of five institutions in the United States authorized by the surgeon general to train occupational therapists for work in army hospitals. The program will continue until 600 have been trained.

The graduate therapist is eligible upon examination to be included in the national registry of the American Occupational Therapy association. During her study she receives $100 a month, plus free tuition and laboratory fees. Post-graduate clinical training in an army hospital pays $1,440 a year.

Subjects in the curriculum include anatomy, physiology, wood-working, crafts, kinesiology, theory of application, neurology, orthopedics, general medicine, pathology, tuberculosis, bacteriology, rehabilitation, and psychiatry.

Miss Beatrice D. Wade is director of the program at the University of Illinois. Her office has data available for prospective students.

The nurse recruitment committee of the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross must obtain 108 of the quota of 4,000 nurses to be sworn into the army nurse corps in September, Mrs. Erma L. Brannon, chairman, said yesterday.

Headquarters of Red Cross recruitment in Washington, D. C., recently announced that unless procurement is stepped up immediately, it will not be possible to maintain the necessary ratio of one nurse to 15 beds in military institutions.

Graduate, registered nurses meeting army requirements are urged to sign up either at Mrs. Brannon's office, room 400, 529 S. Wabash av., or at headquarters of the army nurse corps in the 6th service command, 20 N. Wacker dr.

Seven more Chicago nurses have enlisted in the army nurse corps. They are Thelma Daslewicz, 1124 N. California av.; Beatrice Schroeder, 165 N. Central av.; Lorene B. Tunis, 421 Blackhawk st.; Ruth S. Boesen, 1538 N. 17th av., Melrose Park; Marion Etten, 7921 Ingleside av.; Margaret Doerr, 1381 E. 47th st., and Joyce Jarrow, 6956 Paxton av. They have been assigned to Camp McCoy, Sparta, Wis., for military training, after which they will go on duty in army hospitals either in the United States or overseas.

Lt. Daslewicz practiced nursing at St. Anne's hospital, Lt. Schroeder at the Garfield Park Community hospital, Lts. Tunis and Boesen at County hospital, Lt. Etten at St. Luke's, and Lt. Doerr at St. Mary's Mercy hospital in Gary. Lt. Jarrow has been on private duty.

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

Ten fillies and mares, headed by the Calumet farm's topweighted Mar-Kell, queen of her division in 1943, will go to the post today in the first running of the $15,000 added Modesty handicap at Washington Park.

The Modesty, semi-final feature of the 70 day combined Arlington-Washington Park meeting at the Homewood track, is a mile event named for the filly winner of the first American Derby in 1884, and will be worth $11,250 to the first horse under the wire.

Mar-Kell was runner-up to Traffic Court in the $25,000 Beverly and probably will open as the favorite at 2 or 3 to 1 over a field which includes some of the best performers seen in the middle west this season.

Record for Purse Distribution.

Chief contention is expected to come from Mrs. Robert McGarvey's Night Shadow, winner of four races this year, and the Happy stable's Happy Issue, a fast one on the coast this spring which has raced right up with the best Washington Park has had to offer.

The Modesty's $15,000 added purse will make a total gross value of $786,000 for the 25 stakes presented during the meeting which closes tomorrow. The overall distribution in stakes and purses for the long summer session will approximate $1,889,395 when the final tabulations are made, an all time high in American racing.

Notable at the meeting was the winning form displayed by Calumet farm's Twilight Tear, the best of the 3 year old fillies. Allen Drumheller's Georgie Drum and Howard Wells' Equifox were best among the handicap horses; J. E. Rouse's Three Dots became king of the sprinters; Miller and Burger's Traffic Court led the racing mares; John Marsch's Valdina Foe, Mrs. Clyde Troutt's Take Wing, and Happy Hour farm's Starcress were the turf course leaders.

Free for All Best of Juveniles.

Six stakes worth $219,350, were offered 3 year olds exclusively. Twilight Tear dominated the field, winning the Arlington Classic, the Skokie, and the Princess Doreen and taking 11 straight races before losing to Vienna in Saratoga's Alabama stakes at Belmont.

John Marsch's Free for All won three stakes in addition to an overnight purse in the 2 year old division. He won both of the meeting's rich Futurities, the Arlington and the Washington Park in addition to the Hyde Park stakes, while his stable mate, Errard, annexed the Prairie State for which Free For All was not entered.

Daily Double Pays $497.80.

One of the better daily double prices, $497.80, popped up yesterday when P. J. Sopic's Nellie Weed took the first race at $30.80 for $2, and Mrs. F. E. McDonald's Leo's Brandy won the second at $26.20.

T. D. Grimes' consistent sprinter, High Resolve, scored his sixth victory in nine starts this year in the $4,000 Hyperion handicap, featured sixth race. F. A. Smith booted him across the line a length in front of Mrs. V. E. Smith's Sirius in a field of seven 3 year olds. Henry Tikulski's Holdall was third. High Resolve's time for the six furlongs was 1:10 3-5, three-fifths of a second off the track record. The winner paid $7.40, $4.80, and $3.60 across the board.

The Gift.

I asked my love for a ring of diamonds and of gold,
But he offered me the shelter of his arms against the cold;
I asked my love for a snug house with a fire burning bright,
But he offered me his kisses in the darkness of the night;
I asked my love for something which I might in my pride display,
As a woman always likes to do, but he turned his face away.
What a fool I was not to realize that he offered me his best,
And if I had his love today, I would not need the rest.

An Evening at Home.

An evening at home will really be fun,
There's dozens of things I'd like to get done;
And after a hectic, hurrying day
It's nice to relax this calm, quiet way.

This book that I bought—I'll start to read that,
O, hum! This first chapter falls awfully flat.
I'll alter that dress I purchased last night;
It's simple, but somehow it just won't look right.

The radio's silent — that's what is wrong!
I've dialed every station, not one favorite song.
I'll play the piano, or maybe I'll knit.
O, dear, I'm so bored! I might as well quit.

An evening at home, I don't understand!
For back in the past it seemed really grand.
But maybe the reason I thought this was true
Was that always before, dear, I spent it with you.

WILDCATS SEEK SUCCESSOR TO OTTO GRAHAM

2 New Ends Bolster N. U. Line.

Northwestern's football squad was strengthened yesterday by the addition of two new ends, Max Morris of Detroit and James Powers, a freshman from St. Mel High school, Chicago. Morris, a 6 foot 2 inch, 190 pounder, played at Illinois last year but has been transferred to Northwestern's V-12 unit. The new men will add considerable strength to the end contingent.

The Wildcats devoted a major portion of yesterday's workout to rehearsing plays. Kicking, passing and other back field fundamentals were also stressed. Developing a successor to Otto Graham, who set a new Big Nine passing record last year, looms as one of the major problems this fall.

Among the players who have displayed skill as passers are Jack Harker, who won a letter at end last year but has been shifted to half back; Johnny Yungwirth, a freshman from Fond du Lac, Wis., and Hap Murphy and Bill Roper of the V-12 unit. All three are stationed at Graham's old position at left half.

NAVY MEN JOIN BADGERS.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 5 [Special].—The University of Wisconsin football squad went over the 100 mark here today with the addition of more than 30 candidates from the naval training school on the campus. Most of the group reporting today were out for the summer drills and are in good shape. Among the newcomers were a couple of experienced backs who should help the Badgers, J. F. Fee, who played two years at left half for Wabash college, and Bob Hecker, a letter winner two years ago at Ohio State.

IOWA SQUAD GROWS.

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 5 [Special].—Nine players were added to the Iowa football squad today, bringing the roster to 71 candidates. The newcomers included two big linemen, Bruce Brammer, 215, from Dubuque, and Fred Herzog, 210, from Melbourne. Keith Wallace, 1943 reserve guard, also was among the new candidates.

Coach Edward [Slip] Madigan said he may shift Don Camery, all-state end, to half back in an effort to inject more speed into the back field. Development of more accurate forward passing is another problem. John Stewart, Herb Byers, Bill Kersten and Nelson Smith are among the players receiving intensive work.

On the present No. 1 team are Jack Kelso and Kenneth Rose, ends; Don Winslow and Bill Benskin, tackles; Stan Mohrbacher and Bob Liddy, guards; Bob Snyder, center; John Stewart, quarter back; Dick Woodard and Pat Callaghan, half backs; and Jim Hansen, full back. All are freshmen except Liddy, Mohrbacher and Stewart.

TWO REJOIN ILLINOIS.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 5 [Special].—Chuck Smith, 205 pound freshman tackle from Elgin, and Rich Depigian, 180 pound full back from Granite City, rejoined the Illinois football squad today. Depigian had been out temporarily while being treated for a boil. Smith had rested a charley horse.

Bill Barry of Taylorville, a guard, was called home today to help his father in the latter's business. Taylorville still had the biggest representation on the varsity squad of any city in the state, with John Orr out for end, Chuck Riester for half back, Frank Hurte for guard, and Don Janssen for tackle.

WEISS SAYS BAN ON ARMY-NAVY CROWD IS HOKUM

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5 (AP).—Rep. Weiss [D., Pa.] labeled as plain hokum today the navy's reasons for prohibiting public attendance at the Army-Navy football game. He said the order, which he attributed to arm chair strategists, "just doesn't make sense."

Weiss said the service teams are permitted to travel thousands of miles to play other opposition in populous centers.

He added it is perplexing for the public to understand why such a policy was required here in the United States when England has continued her sports schedule for the benefit of public crowds of 125,000 at single events.

NOTRE DAME BACK WARMS UP

McKeever to Build Irish Varsity Around 5 Veterans

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 5 [Special].—With only five monogram men available from last year's national intercollegiate champions, Coach Ed McKeever and his staff today began the difficult task of rebuilding another representative Notre Dame team.

The squad was divided into groups today as the fall workouts began, with every one of the 150 men in uniform getting some attention from the coaches, no matter what his previous experience or high school reputation. Aside from the monogram men, and two or three reserves who were on the squad last fall, there is not a candidate who has ever played a game of college football.

Guthrie Looks Good.

There is not one candidate for an end position, for instance, who is even 18 years of age, with the exception of Bob Skoglund of Chicago, now in the naval R. O. T. C. at Notre Dame. He is a brother of Len Skoglund, star Notre Dame end, who was graduated in 1938.

One of the other promising candidates for a wing position is Tom Guthrie, a 17 year old from Newark, N. J.

Bob Kelly, who played for Leo High school when that team captured Chicago prep titles in 1941 and 1942, is a returning monogram man and the squad's outstanding back field candidate. He shared the right half back duties with Julius Rykovich, now in marine corps officers' training, during the last half of the 1943 campaign. Kelly will do the punting and plenty of ball carrying until he is transferred from the V-12 unit here on Nov. 1.

The only other monogram back returning is Frank Dancewicz of Lynn, Mass., who understudied both Angelo Bertelli and Johnny Lujack at quarter back last year.

Rudy Krall, from Lew Wallace High school in Gary, is the No. 1 full back at this time, while a leading candidate for the left half back job is George Terlep, V-12 trainee from Elkhart, Ind., who was switched from quarter back during the summer practice.

Joe Gasparella, 6 foot 2 inch quarter back, who weighs 210 pounds, won't be 18 until next February. Coach McKeever is counting on him to direct the team and throw forward passes. The offense will be built around this big Vandergriff, Pa., signal caller and passer.

PURDUE STRESSES PASSING.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 5 [Special].—Punting and passing scrimmage featured Purdue's football practice this afternoon as Coach Cecil Isbell pushed the conditioning program in preparation for the opening game with Great Lakes two weeks from Saturday. Speedy back field combinations began to take form during the afternoon. One likely looking foursome had the veterans Boris Dimancheff and Chalmers Elliott at half backs, Ed Cody, transfer from Boston college, at full back, and Raymond Schultz, minor letter man from last season, at quarter back.

Another fast moving quartet had James Walley at quarter back, Stan Dubicki and Bill Canfield at half backs, and George Mihal at full back.

LT. JOHN DUNN NAMED COACH AT FORT SHERIDAN

A former University of Wisconsin end, Lt. John L. Dunn, 28, of Madison, Wis., will coach the 1944 Fort Sheridan football team. Lt. John Phipps, post athletics officer, announced today.

Lt. Dunn played at Wisconsin during the 1936-'37-'38 seasons and coached the undefeated Camp Roberts, Cal. army team, in 1941. Lt. Phipps, of Galax, Va., and former player at Virginia Polytechnic institute, will play as well as coach the ends. Other assistant coaches named by Lt. Phipps were Tony Pacotti of Kincaid, Ill., a former Illinois college performer, and Bill Scanlan of La Crosse, Wis., ex-Notre Dame reserve squad player.

Fort Sheridan will meet Western Michigan college in Kalamazoo Saturday in its first game.

Former Major Leaguer May Be Granted Parole

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 5 (AP).—Gov. Edward Martin commuted today the 18 to 36 year prison sentence of Samuel B. [Red] Crane, 50, former major league baseball player, who had served 15 years on a charge of second degree murder.

The governor's action, taken on recommendation of the Pennsylvania pardon board, made the former shortstop eligible for parole.

Crane, who played for the Philadelphia Athletics, New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers, was convicted in 1929 in the killing of Della Lyter, and John Oren in a Harrisburg tavern.

Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, has supported repeated appeals by Crane for a parole. Mack has told the board he would give him a job and take care of him.

Cards Defeat Reds, 4 to 0; Lose 2d, 4 to 0

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 5 (AP).—Two pitchers threw shutout victories tonight to become 20 game winners as the St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds divided a twi-night double header. Mort Cooper, aided by two home runs, took the first game, 4 to 0, and Bucky Walters, Cincinnati's dependable right hander, hurled the second game to give the Reds a 4 to 0 victory.

Hits in both games were almost even as both clubs got six each in the opener while Cincinnati got seven to St. Louis' six in the second.

Tonight's victory in the second game marked the sixth time Walters has defeated the league champions this year—four of these are shutouts. The Reds got two runs off starting Pitcher Max Lanier in the first inning. They added another in the third and the final one in the eighth off Al Jurisich.

Cubs Work Up Nerve—Those Cards Again!

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 5.—Because of the comical fashion in which the schedule makers did their work last winter the Cubs will engage in nothing more thrilling than thumb twiddling until Thursday evening when they are due to show up in Sportsman's park, St. Louis, home of the Cardinals.

And the Cards, no doubt, will endeavor to use the Cubs as a means to hurry along the official clinching of the pennant. They've used the Chicagoans for that purpose all season, the exact count of battles between the pair being 13 to 0. There are nine more meetings coming up, five in Wrigley field next week. So there still is a possibility that the Cubs can win at least one game.

Pafko Ready to Play.

Charley Grimm is hopeful that by Thursday night he'll be able to provide a lineup from which the current patch quilt effect will be removed. It all depends on Andy Pafko, the center fielder who has been out since Aug. 19 when his knee was sliced by an enemy spike. He has been working out for the last several days and the knee has given him no trouble.

Pafko's return will send Phil Cavarretta back to first base and Stan Hack to third. The shifting will put Roy Hughes on the bench unless Grimm revives his plan to give Second Baseman Don Johnson a few days of rest.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Hal Newhouser, slim lefty ace of the Detroit Tigers, didn't fool around last night with the White Sox in Comiskey park as he went about the business of chalking up his 23d victory of the year and enabling his outfit to gain a half game on the first place New York Yankees, the second place St. Louis Browns and the fourth place Boston Red Sox. The Tigers won, 6 to 0, on a 13 hit attack against Joe Haynes and advanced to within two games of the Yanks and a game and a half of the Browns.

Doc Cramer, first batsman in the game, doubled and scored the winning run on a single by Rudy York. After this brisk start those among the surprisingly skimpy crowd of 5,819 who know the Newhouser style, seemed to settle back, prepared for the eventual verdict.

Sox Attack Nets 6 Hits.

Newhouser has lost only eight, and three of those have been to the Sox, but there was something about the young man's determined manner which gave little hope to Sox partisans last night, once the Tigers had scored a run.

The Sox attack added up to six hits but no two came in the same inning until the ninth, when Guy Curtright and Hal Trosky knocked successive singles. Curtright was the only gent to get to third, Trosky got him there once, and helped him along another time. In the seventh inning Curtright drew Newhouser's only pass, stole second and went to third on Trosky's long fly to Jimmy Outlaw. Then John Dickshot became Newhouser's 141st strikeout victim of the year and Mike Tresh flied to Dick Wakefield.

Third Victory Over Sox.

Curtright singled with one out in the ninth, stopped at second on Trosky's single and went to third while Newhouser was tossing out Dickshot. Then Pinky Higgins threw out Tresh to end the game.

Newhouser now has beaten every team in the American league three times except the Red Sox, and he'll have a crack at them in a few days. He has beaten the Bostons twice.

The Sox, who have lost 22 of their 29 night games, this afternoon will seek a kinder fate in daylight. They will play their last of the season with the Tigers. Johnny Humphries, who has won 6 and lost 9, will pitch for the Sox. Johnny won on Aug. 18, the last pitcher other than Haynes and Eddie Lopat to score a success. The Tigers will save their other 23 game winner, Dizzy Trout, for Cleveland. Manager Steve O'Neill will gamble against our seventh placers with Rufus Gentry, who has won 7 and lost 13, and hasn't pitched a complete game since June.

TRIBUNE TURF EXPERT PICKS $628.50 DOUBLE

The Tribune race selections yesterday carried one of the longest daily double pay-offs of the season when Insolate and Noview won at Aqueduct. The combination paid $628.50. Insolate, which won the first race, paid $25.90 and Noview returned $50.10 in the straight mutuels.

Insolate, 2 year old gelding, which had won at 2 to 1 in his last start, paid $6.90 to place and $4.20 to show. The 24 to 1 shot, Noview, had been in the money in three of his last starts. The place and show prices were $26.80 and $8.90.

LUCKMAN MAY JOIN BEARS FOR GAME SUNDAY

Chicagoans to Oppose Redskins in Baltimore.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Ensign Sid Luckman may take a trip to Baltimore Sunday morning from his native Brooklyn to help the Chicago Bears in their exhibition football assignment with the Washington Redskins.

Officials of the Bears said last night the matter strictly was up to Sid, who was more than a little helpful last Wednesday evening when the Bears defeated the All-Stars, 24 to 21. "If he shows up, that will be fine," said Co-Coach Luke Johnsos. Sid is thought to have Sundays off and the quarter back knows of no better way to spend a Sabbath afternoon.

Test New Quarter Backs.

Luckman will be welcomed, of course, because the Bears want to whip the Redskins, who this season are fortified with Clark Shaughnessy, who is serving in an advisory capacity after several unofficial seasons with the Chicago organization.

The Bears, tho, realize they probably won't have Luckman in the league games, and that they must soon find out the ability of the new quarter backs, especially Johnny Long, who apparently is the No. 1 man, Sid excepted. Long played only briefly against the All-Stars. Al Grygo, another signal calling rookie, and Bill Glenn, who had a trial with the Bears three seasons ago, saw no action at all. Neither did Gene Ronzani, the veteran, who was signed after the Bears had started 1944 drills.

Navy Calls Sprinkle.

The Bears will leave this afternoon for Baltimore, but Ed Sprinkle, recruit guard, may be left behind. Sprinkle was in the naval academy last year and when he left the school reënlisted in V-5. He was summoned yesterday to report for V-5 training in Chicago. It is not known when this will become effective. Sprinkle, 200 pound protege of Bulldog Turner, played impressively against the All-Stars.

From Baltimore the Bears will move on to Buffalo, where a week from Sunday night they will meet the New York Giants in an exhibition. Then they will go back to Collegeville, Ind., to get ready for the first National league game on Sept. 24 against the Packers in Green Bay.

W. T. BLACKWELL, TAKES BUILDERS' TEE GOLF EVENT

W. T. Blackwell turned in a one over par 36—37—73 for top honors in the Builders' Tee club's weekly golf tournament yesterday at the Cog-Hill No. 2 course. Les Wise, Builders' Tee president, announced the fall invitational tournament will be held Sept. 19 at Glen Eagles. Leading scorers among the 75 who played yesterday:

W. T. Blackwell, 36—37—73; L. J. Senechalle, 39—41—80; Dick Townsend, 40—40—80; Mel Muckleston, 42—40—82; E. G. Nielsen, 41—42—83; Joe McCafferty, 42—42—84; E. F. Wiegel, 44—41—85; C. P. Hansen, 43—43—86; Ed Anderson, 48—38—86; A. W. Anderson, 48—38—86; E. J. Ducett, 45—41—86; Denis McDonald, 45—43—88; C. B. Anderson, 42—47—89; G. F. Killinger, 47—42—89.

REV. FITZGERALD HEADS CATHOLIC PREP LEAGUE

The Rev. Terence Fitzgerald, O. Carm., athletic director of Mount Carmel High school, was elected president of the Chicago Catholic High School Athletic league last night at the first meeting of the current school year in the Atlantic hotel.

Brother Austin, F. S. C., of De La Salle High school, was elected vice president, and the Rev. Edward Bak, C. R., of Weber High school, secretary-treasurer.

Aurora Beats Matches, 1-0, to Tie Play-Off Series

Aurora tied their series with Match Corporation of America by winning 1 to 0 tonight in the Chicago Metropolitan Major league play-offs. The two clubs meet Wednesday night at Lake st. and Scoville av. in Oak Park for the right to meet the Oak Park Elks in the title series starting Friday. The Elks defeated Baby Velet tonight 5 to 4 and meet again in a 7:45 p. m. exhibition Wednesday.

Nahma Wins 34½ Mile Tri-State Yachting Event

Nahma, Harry Gardner's 58 foot racing sloop from the Michigan City, Ind., Yacht club, yesterday was declared winner of the Commodore Fred Noble trophy for finishing first in the 34½ mile race from Michigan City to Jackson park harbor.

The race, the final leg of the annual Tri-State race which began last Friday night from Chicago, was resumed Monday morning from the Indiana port. The fleet of 30 yachts ran into head winds and many dropped out, finishing under power or sailing to home harbors. The 19 finishers crossed the line off Jackson park harbor late Monday night and early yesterday morning.

10 Classic Pin Teams to Start Race Tonight

The Classic Bowling league will open its 1944-'45 season tonight at Pla-Mor Lanes, 1935 East 79th st., with 10 teams competing.

At 9 p. m. the defending champion, Meister Braus, will meet Chapin and Gore. Other matches are: Washington Shirts vs. Du Bouchett, Thompson's Restaurants vs. Sunkist Pies, Monarch Beers vs. Congress Arcade, and Keeley Half and Half vs. Prima Beer.

The league has expanded from six to 10 teams. Holdovers from last year include the Meister Braus, Monarch Beers, Washington Shirts, and Thompson's Restaurants. Brought back to the Classic league by the expansion are Ad Carlson, Les Fuller, Joe Gratz, Jack Bishop, and other stars.

The 36 week schedule again will be split with the winners of the two halves shooting for the league championship at the conclusion of the regular season.

PENSIVE, INJURED ON LABOR DAY, IS THRU FOR YEAR

Pensive, the Calumet farm's winner of the Kentucky Derby and the winner of the 1944 Kentucky Derby and the Preakness at Pimlico, bowed a tendon in the Washington Park handicap Labor day and has been retired for the year.

Ben A. Jones, trainer of the Warren Wright racing establishment, made the announcement yesterday that the 3 year old son of Hyperion-Penicalk II. will be shipped to the Calumet farm near Lexington, Ky., Friday.

Shapiro and Busette Top Rainbo Card Tonight

Morris Shapiro, New York heavyweight wrestler, and George Dusette, Boston, will be principals in the main event of tonight's mat show in Rainbo Fronton, 4836 N. Clark st.

PUBLIC SCHOOL ATHLETES START FOOTBALL DRILL

Thirty-five members of the City High School league started formal football practice yesterday on the earliest date allowed under the rules of the Illinois State High School association. These workouts were the first acts of the prep season, which will reach its climax in the annual Mayor Kelly bowl game for the high school championship of Chicago in Soldiers' field Dec. 2.

They Face Long Road.

Before that goal is reached, the 35 squads must go thru their sectional games, the division victors then playing for the city league title. To the championship squad will go the honor of representing the league on Dec. 2.

Elsewhere in the city and at a few out of town camps, 14 Catholic league teams continued their daily sessions, which in some cases began three weeks ago, the parochial squads not being under the jurisdiction of the state association. The Catholic representative will defend the city championship won last year by St. George of Evanston from Phillips High school.

Catholic Openers Sunday.

Ten Catholic schools will play the first games of the season this weekend. The game between Loyola and De Paul, originally scheduled for Friday night in Loyola stadium, has been postponed to Sunday afternoon on the same field. Other parochial school games Sunday are St. George, defending league and city co-champions, at Leo; St. Mel at Mount Carmel, the other co-champion; St. Ignatius at St. Rita, and St. Philip at Weber.

18 NAMED FOR OPENING STAKE AT HAWTHORNE

Eighteen thorobreds have been nominated for the $7,500 added Speed handicap, inaugural feature of the 34 day race meeting which opens Friday at Hawthorne.

Heading the list is Coward and Du Puy's Appleknocker, the fleet 3 year old colt which won the $10,000 added Dick Welles handicap at Washington Park.

Champion Vikings Will Play Soccer All-Stars

The Vikings, winners of three soccer titles this year, will play an all-star team picked from other clubs in the major division of the International league tomorrow night in Sparta stadium, 21st st. and Koster av. There also will be two softball games on the program, which will start at 7:30 p. m.

BROAD CHANGES IN FEDERAL TAX POLICIES URGED

C.E.D. Demands End of Double Levy.

BY CHARLES GOTTHART.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 5.—Far reaching changes in the federal tax structure were proposed today by the committee for economic development as a means to stimulate post-war employment and business expansion and reduce the national debt.

The national organization of business men included as one of its principal goals the ending of double taxation on business under the present system of taxing corporation profits as much as 80 per cent, and then taxing the stock holder on his dividend income.

"If the deliberate aim were to hold down the peace time volume of employment, our present tax system would go far to accomplish it," the committee said in a 47 page report by economists who studied the problem for a year and a half.

Urges Withheld Dividend Tax.

The committee would reduce corporate taxes to the level of individual income tax rates and apply the pay as you go principle to dividend checks—withholding the tax from shareholders just as it is now withheld from wage earners. Dividends would be exempt from what it proposed as standard taxes but not from surtaxes.

Paul G. Hoffman, committee chairman and president of the Studebaker corporation, South Bend, Ind., said the group recognized the political implications of such a plan for the virtual elimination of corporation taxes, but expressed the conviction that in time labor would support the program.

"A number of labor leaders, recognizing that labor's welfare depends on the welfare of business, already have expressed approval of this plan," Hoffman said. "There is no answer to post-war economic problems except record breaking expansion."

Needs 140 Billion Income.

A national income of 140 billions would be required to support the proposed tax program, and the committee said this could be achieved with 55 million persons employed. To end 15 years of federal deficits, the group urged meeting government budgets of 16 to 18 billions annually entirely thru taxation.

Altho government tax revenues of this size would be two and one-half to three times the amount raised in any pre-war year, the committee said they could be paid if business expansion were not hampered.

"The committee is convinced that a national income of 140 billions is not only attainable, but will be surpassed within the first decade after the war," the report said.

Specific recommendations of the commitee were:

Personal exemptions from individual income taxes should be raised by eliminating the present 3 per cent normal tax, which allows no credit for dependents. Present $500 exemptions for each taxpayer and dependent should be retained.

The present combined tax of 23 per cent for the lowest bracket of taxable income should be replaced by a single standard tax of 16 to 20 per cent, depending on revenue need.

Lower Surtaxes Sought.

Tax rates on incomes above the lowest taxable bracket also should be substantially reduced.

Discrimination against persons with irregular incomes should be removed thru some income averaging device.

Income from all future security issues by state and local governments should be made fully taxable.

Present differential treatment of capital gains and losses should be retained until substantial reductions in corporate and personal income taxes have been effected, and adequate provision for averaging income over a period is permitted.

All federal excise taxes should be repealed except those on liquor, tobacco, and perhaps gasoline.

Present corporate income taxes should be replaced by a single tax at the same rates as individuals.

The excess profits tax and the declared value capital stock excess profits tax should be repealed.

Urges Wider Loss Carryover.

Both corporate and noncorporate businesses should be allowed to carry forward losses from business operations to apply against subsequent earnings for six years.

Businesses should be permitted greater latitude in making annual allowances for depreciation.

A careful overhauling of present taxes on estates and gifts should be undertaken after the war.

The committee advised raising at least half of federal tax revenues thru individual income taxes. It said the least possible tax burden on corporations would add to reinvestment in business and offer incentives to increase dividends, pay higher wages, and reduce prices.

Army Takes Over Plants in Bearing Strike

Cleveland, O., Sept. 5 (AP). — The army took possession tonight of two plants of Cleveland Graphite Bronze company, where a six day strike of the Mechanics Educational Society of America, independent, has held up production of bearings for army and navy planes and army heavy trucks.

Lt. Col. George D. Lynn, chief of the Cleveland ordnance district, accompanied by a score of other officers, took over the company's principal plant on St. Clair av., ran up an American flag beside the main entrance and posted a notice that the war department had taken possession by executive order of President Roosevelt.

Cause of Walkout.

The strike was called by MESA as an outgrowth of the dismissal of an employe accused of breaking a lock on a company locker. Only this afternoon the war labor board had referred the case to the White House and the unusually swift action, both by the WLB and the President, was attributed to the vital nature of the company's product. Government seizure automatically places in operation the criminal clause of the war labor disputes act which provides for prosecution of any person accused of encouraging an interruption of war production, with penalties as great as a year's imprisonment.

Leader Asks Return to Work.

Matthew L. Smith, MESA secretary, climbed to the shoulders of two unionists on the picket line after the army took possession and shouted:

"We had the dispute with the management of the Cleveland Graphite Bronze company. That management no longer exists. We recommend that you go back to work immediately. You have won a great victory, but don't celebrate it here."

At Washington, D. C., it was said that the army was also prepared to take over the Hughes Tool company, Houston, Texas, tomorrow because of an unsettled labor dispute which the war labor board termed "a potential source of interference with the war effort."

FOOD SUPPLIES MEDDLING HELD PATH TO CHAOS

Continued government meddling with the nation's food supply by fixing prices may easily become a short cut to catastrophe, Karl Brandt, economist of the Food Research institute of Stanford university, warned yesterday in Mandel hall at the University of Chicago, where he spoke during the 20th Harris Foundation institute.

The belief that the United States can unload farm products on Europe as a gift thru a continuation of lend-lease Brandt termed a "political fiction." Urging an expanding economy, rather than a contracting one of perpetual shortages, he said such a condition is prerequisite to the maintenance of international peace and the functioning of constitutional government.

"Governmental intervention in the market and farm can be reduced to a minimum and American agriculture enabled to maintain its share in the foreign market if farmers are guaranteed an income based on freely created market levels rather than on market price fixing in advance," he said.

New Budd Mfg. Shares Offered to Redeem Old

A banking group headed by Ladenberg, Thalmann & Co. and White, Weld & Co. today will offer 60,000 shares of Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company $5 cumulative prior preferred stock at $67.375 a share. Proceeds will be used to redeem all 7 per cent preferred stock outstanding Oct. 15.

N. AMERICAN AVIATION SALES DOUBLED FOR YEAR, EARNINGS DIP

Consolidated sales of North American Aviation for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1943, were $509,139,649, compared with $253,226,119 in the preceding year, the company said yesterday in its annual report.

The report, delayed until completion of renegotiation of 1943 business, said an informal settlement made with the price adjustment board in July will be accepted. In the proposal the board indicated the corporation's 1943 sales under fixed price contracts resulted in excessive income of $46,200,000, which after application of tax credits would result in a net cash refund to the goverment of $7,748,664 and a reduction of $3,580,000 in the amount of post-war refunds.

Consolidated net income remaining after the renegotiation payment was $6,790,323, equal to $1.98 a share, compared with $7,370,626, or $2.15 a share, in the preceding fiscal year.

EXPECT REVOLT IN C. & E. I. OVER ELECTION MOVE

Plan for Replacing O'Neal Assailed.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

A revolt by stockholders of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad was indicated yesterday over reported plans of the road's directors to elect Holly Stover, Washington, D. C., coal man, president to succeed Charles T. O'Neal, who would be made chairman.

John L. Markham, Chicago coal and oil operator, in a letter to the road's directors said that he and other stockholders object to the election of Stover because he lacks experience in railroad operation. Markham holds 3,300 shares of C. & E. I. preferred and common stock and $95,000 of income bonds.

Predicts Attack on Action.

Markham said the directors have the power to elect Stover at the Friday meeting and said that if Stover's election is accomplished he [Markham] and other stockholders would attack the action at the annual meeting next May.

Markham said election of Stover, said to be a close friend of Chairman Jesse Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, would justify charges made by V. V. Boatner at the last stockholders' meeting that Jones was exercising "improper influence" on the C. & E. I. management. Boatner at that time lost a proxy battle to gain control of the road. Markham supported the management in the fight and brought in 27,000 shares for its ticket.

"I am not acquainted with Mr. Stover, but understand that he is a fine gentleman and a good coal man," Markham wrote the directors, "but as he has had no practical railroad experience, nor has he ever developed railroad properties, I definitely feel that he is not qualified to handle the future of a railroad in such precarious times as these, and with the post-war conditions that are imminent.

Would Obtain 'Competent Man.'

"My only interest in this matter is for the common welfare of the property and for the protection of my investment and that of my friends by using every effort that a competent man may be procured for the management and development of our property, and that means a man whose actual experience has been in the management, development, and operation of such properties."

Stover has been acting as federal manager of the Toledo, Peoria, and Western railroad, control of which was seized by the government from George P. McNear Jr. as a result of labor difficulties. He was appointed to the post in January, 1943.

Markham urged the directors to retain O'Neal as president until at least the next annual meeting in May. The proposed changes are being made, it was said, to relieve O'Neal of some of his duties because of his age, 71.

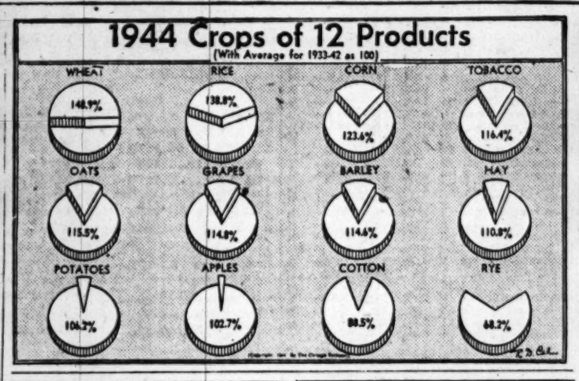
Three Directors for RFC.

Three of the C. & E. I.'s board of 13 members represent the RFC's 10 million dollar investment in the road. They are: James R. Leavell, president of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, Chicago; Will H. Hays, motion picture czar; and Frank O. Watts, St. Louis banker.

Of the road's 10 directors not representing the RFC six are from New York or other eastern cities, altho the road operates between Chicago and Evansville, Ind., and Chicago and St. Louis.

Allied Mills Proxy Fight to Reach Decision Today

The proxy fight of William H. Shane II., Philadelphia stockholder, for the election of two new directors to the board of Allied Mills will be decided today at the annual stockholders' meeting in the company's offices in the Board of Trade building. Shane's candidates, also Philadelphians, are pledged to work for his proposal for the company to buy up half the outstanding stock.



Deny Low Pay Makes Forge Labor Scarce

Housing shortages, inconvenient transportation, uncertainties of the draft, and unfavorable locations of plants have caused whatever man power shortage exists in midwest foundries, spokesmen for the industry told the war labor board yesterday. They denied union allegations, made two weeks ago, that low wages and unfavorable working conditions have brought about an acute bottleneck in foundry production.

Nearly 200 representatives of several hundred forge works and foundries in six states attended a hearing in the Morrison hotel by the regional WLB wage rate committee headed by Dale Yoder, RWLB vice chairman. A dozen spokesmen for management denied the need of wage increases advocated by AFL, CIO, and independent union chiefs.

Says Shortage Is General.

R. B. Young of the Continental Foundry and Machine company of East Chicago, Ind., said wage increases would not attract new workers because "the man power shortage is not peculiar to foundries, but confronts all industries, at least in the Calumet area."

"Labor is not dissatisfied with wage rates in our plants," he said. "In our own, for instance we pay common laborers 78½ cents an hour, which is ½ cent above Inland and other steel companies. At no time has the turnover due to wage dissatisfaction in our plant exceeded 8 per cent, which is not high for heavy industry."

Only 27 on Critical List.

M. A. Fladoes, chairman of the steel casting industry committee, said there are "only 27 steel casting plants in the entire nation on the critical list, and only six of these in this region."

"Emergency requirements sometimes throw a production burden on isolated plants," Fladoes said, "but these problems can best be solved at the individual shops where they arise. A wage increase for the entire industry would in no way help the situation."

GROUP SELECTED TO SET UP WAR PLANT PROGRAM

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5 (AP).—War Mobilization Director Byrnes today announced the personnel of his new war plants ultilization group which is charged with formulating a coordinated program to use government owned war plants when they are not needed for war work. The chairman of the new committee, which held its first meeting with Byrnes today, is Mason Britton, assistant surplus war property administrator.

Other members are J. A. Krug, chairman of the war production board; Sam H. Husbands, president of Defense Plant corporation, and Charles M. Hay, deputy director of the war man power commission.

HEAVY BOMBER OUTPUT REACHES 1,500 PER MONTH

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5 (AP).—Heavy bombers have been rolling out of American factories at the rate of 1,500 a month since June, the WPB announced today.

It was the first official word on heavy bomber production since the WPB announced in January that more than 1,000 were turned out. Actually, WPB disclosed today, more than 1,300 heavy bombers were produced in January and the 1,000 mark had been reached several months earlier, nine months ahead of schedule.

LARGE REFUNDING PROGRAM IS VOTED BY WESTERN UNION

New York, Sept. 5 (AP).—Stockholders of Western Union Telegraph company today approved a proposal to issue $24,600,000 of new convertible 20 year debentures to provide funds to retire the outstanding 25 million dollars of 5 per cent bonds due in 1951. Approval was by a large majority of the outstanding stock altho a minority group opposed the action.

Under terms of the proposed refunding, the new debentures would be convertible into class A stock at not more than 20 shares per $1,000 debenture in the first 10 years of the life of the debentures. It was this conversion feature that drew opposition from the minority group, whose spokesman, Gerhard M. Dahl, former chairman of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit corporation, contended the equity of stockholders would be diluted.

Albert N. Williams, president, said the company would effect substantial savings and be able to concentrate its efforts on $15,773,000 of noncallable bonds due in 1950 once 5 per cent bonds had been refunded.

FEDERAL LIFE CO. FOUNDER, BOARD CHIEF, 80 TODAY

Isaac Miller Hamilton, founder of the Federal Life Insurance company in 1900 and now chairman of the board, will observe his 80th birthday today.

I. M. Hamilton.

Hamilton is the sole survivor of the original organizers of the American Life convention, of which he is a former president. With Winslow Russell, he organized the Association of Life Agency Officers, and participated in the organization meeting of the Life Presidents association, now the Life Insurance association. He, also, was one of the originators of the Health and Accident Underwriters conference, Insurance Economics society, and the American Service bureau of which he is treasurer.

For many years Hamilton has been chairman of the board of the Lake Shore National Bank of Chicago and of the Illinois Canning company. He also has served in the Illinois state senate.

CUT MAGNESIUM OUTPUT 40 PCT.; CLOSE 2 PLANTS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5 (AP).—A 40 per cent reduction in primary magnesium ingot production, which will result in the eventual shutdown of the plants operated by Basic Magnesium, Inc., in Nevada and by International Minerals at Austin, Tex., was announced today by the WPB. The order will curtail output from the present monthly rate of 23 million pounds to about 14 million and release about 4,300 workers.

WPB said changes in military requirements and a rapidly growing stockpile prompted the cutback.

Four government owned facilities are affected, at Las Vegas and Gabbs, Nev., and Austin and Velasco, Tex.

ASKS BROADER EXPORT-IMPORT BANK ACTIVITY

Rep. Dewey Offers World Trade Plan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—Legislation to foster post-war trade with other nations without committing the United States to the administration's proposed 8 billion dollar international monetary plan was proposed in the house today by Rep. Dewey [R., Ill.].

Rep. C. S. Dewey.

A resolution offered by Dewey would authorize the Export-Import bank, a federal agency now functioning, to expand its operations and extend substantial credits to foreign countries to stimulate their purchases of American goods.

Asks Larger Bank Capital.

Dewey told the house this plan would develop sounder foreign trade relations with other nations than the New Deal monetary plan drafted at the recent international conference at Bretton Woods, N. H. Under the latter program, the United States would contribute 2¾ billion to an international fund whose managers would seek to stabilize currencies of various nations and promote international trade.

The Dewey bill would increase the authorized capital of the Export-Import bank to 1 billion dollars, compared with 700 million at present, and would authorize the bank to borrow an additional 3 billion from the treasury. These funds would be used "to aid in financing and facilitating exports and imports between the United States and any foreign country."

Could Aid Surplus Disposal.

The proposal would change the bank's charter to include a 16 man advisory board, including two members each from the house and senate, secretaries of the treasury, state, and commerce departments, and nine other members representing industry, labor, and finance.

Dewey said the bank could assist in the disposal of war surpluses abroad by extending credits to potential buyers, thus keeping excess goods from hanging over and disrupting domestic markets.

The congressman, who has previously warned the New Deal plan might result in the outright loss of 2¾ billion dollars to American taxpayers, said the Export-Import bank would be a sounder instrument for financing foreign trade than an international fund in which the United States would have only a minority vote.

Stocks Lower as War Drives Boost Selling

New York, Sept. 5 (AP).—The stock market closed lower today as the sweep of the allies toward Berlin brought further adjustment of accounts in preparation for possible reconversion unsettlement when Germany collapses.

Selling was never urgent, but dealings picked up in the final hour after earlier sluggish periods. Most closing losses were of fractions to about a point. A few peace rated issues attracted sufficient bidding to emerge with modest gains.

After the extended holiday customers were inclined to protect themselves against what most hoped would be only a temporary relapse in prices when the German surrender eventually is announced.

The Associated Press 60 stock average was off 0.4 at 54.6. Of 895 issues traded, 519 were down, 176 up, and 200 unchanged. Transfers of 872,850 shares compared with 637,510 Friday and 345,640 in the 1943 post-Labor day session.

MANY RAIL BONDS DIP.

New York, Sept. 5 (AP).—Speculative railroad bonds and those in the medium priced range lost fractions to about 2 points today, but other departments either held their ground or made some progress.

Brokers attributed the decline in rails to the progress of the allied armies in Europe, which developed apprehension traffic will decline when the war is ended. The same news produced wide advances in some of the bonds of European captive countries, notably Belgium and Denmark.

Antwerp 5s moved up 5¼ points to 89½, Denmark 5½s advanced 4 to 85, and smaller gains were made by Copenhagen 5s and Norway 4½s.

CHICAGO LIST IRREGULAR.

Prices were mixed on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in turnover of 34,000 shares. Most heavily traded issues were Chicago corporation, unchanged; Libby, McNeill & Libby, down ⅛, and Domestic Industries A common, unchanged. Six issues set new 1944 highs, including Aro Equipment at 18¼, Bendix Aviation at 46⅝, Indianapolis Power and Light at 18⅞, Leath & Co. preferred at 38, Northwest Bancorporation, 22¼, and Trane, 16⅝.

PRICES OF GRAIN SLUMP AGAIN ON NEW LIQUIDATION

Liquidation continued in grain markets on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday. New seasonal low prices were established for the third consecutive session. Only September wheat failed to slide to new ground. Continued favorable war news from Europe inspired the selling.

Closing sales on wheat were at net losses of ⅞ to 1⅛ cents. Oats were off ⅞ to 1⅛ cents, rye 1⅞ to 2½ cents, and barley 1⅝ to 2¼ cents.

NEW PRODUCTS FOR POST-WAR OUTPUT LISTED

War Directs Firms Into New Fields.

Established peace time producers of many items will have increased competition after the war from companies heretofore strangers to these fields. This was presaged by announcements of Chicago area manufacturers that they intend to produce articles in the post-war period that are entirely foreign to their present type of output.

In at least one case the decision to produce new items is the direct result of experience gained thru output of war items of a type which the company had not made before.

Radical Designs Planned.

Besides products entirely foreign to the companies' usual output, some have announced plans for the production of radical new designs of present items.

Among larger companies announcing plans for new products is International Harvester company, producer of farm machinery and equipment, which will enter the household refrigeration field on a large scale after the war. It has formed a refrigerator division to carry out plans for the production of both deep freeze units and ordinary family size refrigerators.

Another company intending to enter the refrigeration field is Admiral corporation, headed by Ross D. Siragusa. The company, which in peace time manufactured radiophonograph combinations with automatic record changers as Continental Radio and Television corporation, also plans to manufacture electric ranges.

Will Make Household Devices.

A far cry from the manufacture of flour, feeds, and packaged foods is the production of household devices and precision equipment, but that is the plan of General Mills, Inc., announced recently by James F. Bell, chairman. The company is prepared to make the additional items as a result of producing intricate ordnance items for the war

NEW PRODUCTS FOR POST-WAR OUTPUT LISTED

War Directs Companies Into New Fields.

thru the expansion of its mechanical departments, he said.

Fairbanks, Morse & Co. has embarked on a new type of production, that of diesel-electric locomotives, and recently delivered the first produced to the Milwaukee railroad in a ceremony at the Fairbanks plant in Beloit, Wis. The company's regular peace time products included diesel and other types of internal combustion engines, generators, scales, pumps, and pumping equipment.

Electric Household Utilities corporation has included in its post-war plans the manufacture of a new low priced dish washer, E. N. Hurley, chairman, said in announcing the new product: "We had no intention of making electric dish washers until our engineers chanced on a new principle."

Will Produce Home Freezer.

Edison General Electric Appliance company announced it will produce a home freezer after the war, a new product. The freezer will be usable both for freezing and for storage, the company said.

A. R. Kelso, executive vice president of Rock-Ola Manufacturing corporation, said the company plans one entirely new product, the nature of which he did not disclose, and two new developments of existing products. The company in peace time produced automatic phonographs and parking meters.

Among new devices for peace time output announced by Thomas McDonald, manager of the aero division of Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator company in Chicago, are plane cabin temperature controls, new plane superchargers, temperature controls for street cars and buses, safety controls for diesel locomotives, automatic pilots for passenger and cargo planes, and separate heat control systems for apartments.

Coach Output Planned.

Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company has announced plans for the post-war production of three deck streamlined passenger coaches for suburban train service. The coaches will seat 112 passengers and include card tables and lounge seats. The company also recently announced plans for a new railroad dining car which will seat diners at diagonal tables instead of the conventional tables which are placed at right angles to the sides of the car.

Among other companies planning new post-war products are Bendix Aviation corporation, which proposes to make home radios in its Baltimore plant; Reynolds Metals company, which has plans for utensil and packaging operations, and Consolidated Vultee Aircraft corporation, which will make buses of new design with air cooled engines for the Greyhound corporation.

338,110 ENROLL IN CITY SCHOOLS, DROP FROM 1943

More Registrations Expected Later.

Nearly 430,000 pupils returned to school in the Chicago area yesterday, with ample teaching staffs on hand to care for them. Enrollment proceeded about the same as last year in schools outside Chicago, but in Chicago figures for the first day indicated a decrease that had been anticipated.

City school enrollment at the end of the first day totaled 338,110, several thousand under preliminary estimates, but the rolls are expected to grow during the next two weeks.

High Schools Show Drop.

George F. Cassell, assistant superintendent in charge of high schools, said the high school count of 101,357 was 1,600 under that for the first day last fall, but that he expected 8,000 more registrations in the next two weeks, with a net decrease of around 3,000 from last fall's 113,000 total enrolment anticipated.

Don C. Rogers, in charge of elementary schools, reported 236,753 in elementary schools the first day, about the same number as for the first day last fall. The figure was far short of the 258,000 final figure of 1943.

County Schools Also Open.

Most of the 21 high schools in the county outside Chicago also opened and all the 304 elementary schools resumed classes. High school attendance is expected to shrink slightly and elementary school rolls to gain slightly compared with last fall's totals of 31,737 and 66,336, respectively.

Catholic schools will open today, and increased rolls will bring a total of 195,000 in the eight colleges, 90 high schools, and 403 elementary schools of the archdiocese.

Continued decrease is expected in the Chicago Teachers' college and the three branches of the Chicago Junior college, which open later in the month.

MEAT ANIMALS SELL FAR ABOVE PRE-WAR LEVELS

The markets for the various classes of meat animals entered the sixth year of the war at price levels 45 to 105 per cent higher than when the war in Europe started early in September, 1939. Cattle similar to those that sold at a top of $12 a hundred pounds five years ago, brought $18.35 yesterday.

Chicago buyers paid an average of $15.85 for steers, compared with a September, 1939, average of $10.30. Hogs under 241 pounds continued to bring the $14.75 ceiling, against a top of $8 in the first war market session. Hogs averaged $14.35 against $7 in September, 1939. The lamb average was $14.25 against $9.50 at the war's start; the top $14.65 against $10 in 1939.

Prospects of a heavier movement of cattle and sheep out of the range country soon brought a price break in some of these in Chicago. Top beef steers were scarce and held steady at $18.35, but other steers were weak to 25 cents lower. Cows sold steady to 25 cents lower. Lambs slumped 25 to 50 cents.

Authorizes 15,700 More Electric Stoves Produced

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5 (AP).—Three manufacturers today were authorized by the WPB to produce 15,700 domestic electric ranges in the fourth quarter of the year. This brought total authorizations for the quarter to 21,338 ranges. Today's authorizations were A. B. Stoves, Battle Creek, Mich., 9,000; Malleable Iron Range company, Beaver Dam, Wis., 3,750; Newark Stove company, Newark, O., 2,950 stoves.

ARMSTRONG CORK.

Please provide a report on Armstrong Cork company's recent earnings and post-war outlook. L. B.

For the first six months of 1944, sales of the company and its domestic subsidiaries increased to $60,756,067 from $53,383,346 a year earlier, and profit rose to $1.37 a common share from $1.14 a share. Increased billings of munitions accounted for a large part of the gain in sales. There are 1,410,866 common shares outstanding.

For the entire year 1943 Armstrong Cork earned $2.45 a share, which is close to the average earnings of $2.50 for the last seven years. Three 25 cent common dividends have been paid so far this year. Payments totaled $1.35 a share in 1943 and the same in 1942. Cash dividends have been paid each year since 1934.

H. W. Prentis Jr., president, recently informed stockholders that the company is in a position to resume its regular output on short notice. "It is possible that sales of many of the company's peace time products may reach new high levels," he said in referring to pent-up demand for articles that cannot be made in normal quantities during the war and to low inventories of finished products.

Armstrong Cork is ranked as one of the leading manufacturers of linoleum and is a large producer of felt base floor coverings and insulation materials. Other products include glass containers and closures, and various industrial specialties.

Current assets as of June 30 totaled $36,516,685 and current liabilities $9,276,089, with no funded debt. Outstanding is $5,299,400 of $4 cumulative convertible preferred stock.

People and Events

The Chicago Association of Commerce will hold the last of four special meetings on contract termination tomorrow in the Marquette building auditorium. Henry P. Isham of the Chicago ordnance district will discuss the meeting of termination problems before the actual cancelation takes place.

Dempsey-Detmer & Co. announced that James P. Gallagher had become associated with the company as manager of the trading department. He formerly was with the trading department of Link, Gorman & Co.

The Chicago Insurance Agents association will hold a meeting this noon in the La Salle hotel. Harry K. Schauffler, assistant manager of the National Board of Underwriters, will discuss public relations.

WPB Allots Furniture Industry More Lumber

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5 (AP).—Immediate allotment of an extra 70 million board feet of hardwood lumber to the furniture industry was announced today by the WPB. It is limited to number 2 common, or mill run grades, but carries no restriction on species which may be used. The extra allotment is in addition to the 236 million board feet already allocated for the third quarter and brings the total close to the estimated minimum for the same period of 1943.
